

Kinston Man Killed As Fatal Blast Rips Into Jugular Vein

Cops Find "Joint" Deserted

GOLDSBORO — The New Hope section of Wayne County was the scene of a roadhouse shooting killing Sunday night.

Lennie Clifton Hicks, 30, of Route 3, La Grange, has been charged with murder in the death of 35-year-old Woodrow Kirkland, of Kinston.

The shooting took place at a "juke joint," and according to Sheriff Bill Adams, the place was deserted when he and two deputies arrived.

The sheriff stated that Kirkland's body was lying in the yard and said he had been killed instantly when a shotgun blast ripped into his jugular vein.

Hicks fled immediately into Lenoir County, where he surrendered to authorities. He is being held in the Wayne County Jail here under a $2,500 bond and will receive a preliminary hearing Thursday before Goldsboro Justice of the Peace Troy Pate.

"Kirkland was knocking some women around" in the roadhouse, Adams is quoted as saying when asked his motive for gunning the dead man. "I told him to leave them alone," stated the killer.

He said Kirkland then came at him with a knife and he ran to his car and loaded his gun.

When Kirkland followed him out, Hicks is alleged to have shot him dead.

ANOTHER FIRST — Mrs. Pauline H. Woods, of Durham, was recently appointed a community consultant with the State Department of Mental Health and became the first Negro ever to serve in this capacity. With headquarters at 2100 Hillsboro Street, Mrs. Woods' duties will take her throughout North Carolina. A graduate of North Carolina College, Durham, where she earned the B. S. degree, Mrs. Woods also received the M.S. P.H. degree at NCC with a major in public health education. Mrs. Woods was a visitor in the offices of THE CAROLINIAN last Wednesday.

America's Poor Mostly White: Look

NEW YORK—Contrary to popular belief the vast majority of America's poor are neither black nor living in depressed areas like Harlem or Appalachia. These "forgotten" poor are the five million invisible white families who live hidden in city slums.

Writing in the current issue of Look Magazine, Michael Harrington, author of the best-selling book, "The Other America," says that of the 9.3 million families cited by President Johnson as poor, 78 per cent are white.

A family with an annual income below $3,000 is categorized by the President as poor. Also debunked were other popular myths concerning the nation's poor.

Harrington finds that: (1) The poor generally are not poor because they are lazy; they

FOR STUDENTS

On Page 14 in this week's CAROLINIAN, the names of all juniors and seniors at the John W. Ligon Junior-Senior High School and their homeroom teachers are listed. THE CAROLINIAN is cooperating with officials of the school in expediting the time it would normally take for a student to find his class. Next week, we will publish names of freshmen and sophomores.

D. C. COPS SEEK LOCAL MAN IN RAPE

The Raleigh Police Department received the following message from the State Highway Patrol, via teletype from Washington, D. C. cops at 4:13 p. m. Monday:

"Warrant on file charging rape against Everett Junior Richardson, 25, believed to be going to home of friends or relatives in Raleigh, N. C. This subject made a long distance call from D. C. to Raleigh exchange TE 3-9339 after the rape occurred."

The local police were asked to check and advise the person to whom the telephone is listed. Washington's message concluded, "If Richardson is apprehended, we will extradite him."

DIDN'T STEAL PUBSE. WOMAN SAYS

Mrs. Margie Davis, 33, of 501 1-2 E. Hargett Street, stated she "didn't even have to take the witness stand" in last Thursday afternoon's hearing of a larceny charge against her.

She had been charged with larceny by Mrs. Nancy Scott McLeod, of Route 5, Raleigh, in an incident which allegedly took place in the 200 block of W. South Street last Saturday night.

Mrs. Davis said that the complainant found her pocketbook a few moments after she reported it missing.

Jury Frees Man In Death On Highway

It took a six-man all-Negro Coroner's Jury, impaneled by Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett, less than 30 minutes last Friday afternoon to find no probable cause against 21-year-old George Rufus Hinton, of 316 S. Boundary Street, whose automobile struck an 80-year-old man and killed him at 12:55 a. m. Sunday, August 2.

Three witnesses to the accident testified that Hinton could not have possibly avoided hitting Oscar Evans, who lived at 684 W. South Street, and was walking in the highway after being treated at Wake Memorial Hospital for a head wound. He had been warned only moments before by two policemen against walking in the street.

One of the officers, testifying stated Mr. Evans' blood showed a content of 1.8 per cent alcohol, when only 1.5 per cent is used to adjudge a person under the influence of an intoxicant.

The driver of a car Hinton was attempting to pass, a white youth, stated Hinton was not

Charlotte's "Jail Is Unfit," Claims Attorney J. R. Walker

Sues City To Repair Own Home

BY CHARLES R. JONES

"That building is unfit for human habitation" said the Rev. Attorney James R. Walker, Jr., 30, last Thursday of Charlotte's city jail. He also claimed the facility should be integrated. Walker was fresh out of the jail after being held for allegedly defying the city's building codes.

He was in the offices of THE CAROLINIAN Tuesday afternoon and was interviewed by this newspaper.

A native of Ahestia, Walker maintains residences in Walden, Statesville, and, of late, Charlotte.

The oft-jailed preacher-political leader brought suit against the city of Charlotte, its building inspector and housing officials, contesting the Constitutional question of, "The poor property owner being able to keep and improve his property when white real estate dealers want to force the poor Negro owner to sell out to them"

CLUB 54 CLOSED — One of seven places padlocked by police officers Monday morning was Club 54, E. Davis and S. Bloodworth Streets, operated by John Stewart. (See story).

Nab 7 In Crackdown On Booze

Seven home and business places in Raleigh were padlocked Monday morning on affidavits charging illegal whiskey traffic.

However, before the day was over, the order was relaxed in two places where children had been locked out of their homes.

Judge Albert W. Cowper signed the padlock orders Friday in Wake County Superior Court after Robert Hedrick, City Court Solicitor filed complaints asking that the places be closed, accompanied by affidavits from persons having the padlocks purchased liquor at the seven places.

Those named in the padlock order are: John Stewart and Club 54, corner of S. Bloodworth and E. Davis Streets; C. B. (Berry) Bagwell and Safety Taxi Company, 214 W. Morgan Street; Bruce Evans' place at 741 E. Davis Street; Lawrence

NC Teachers Stage Meet At Hammocks

"Education for World Responsibility" is the 1964 theme for the Eleventh Annual NCTA-NEA Joint Leadership Conference being held this week at Hammocks Beach in Swansboro. The four-day conference will open Thursday, August 13, and last through Sunday, August 16. Pre-registration indicates a strong attendance of educational leaders from across the state.

Dr. Lois V. Edinger, newly-installed president of the National Education Association, will address the assembly at the Second General Session on Friday afternoon. Miss Edinger, assistant professor at the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro, is a recognized educator in the state and nation.

She has been vice-president of the NEA's Department of Classroom Teachers; president and vice-president of its Division of Classroom Teachers; and has held numerous posts on local, state, and national education committees.

Having earned her bachelor's degree in history from Meredith College, she began teaching in the Piedmont town of North Carolina and moved on to become a pioneer in television teaching in the state. In 1960 Miss Edinger became president of the North Carolina Education Association, and began work on her doctoral degree, at the same time working as a part-time instructor in the School of Education at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Speaking to the topic of her selected theme for the National Education Association, "Education for World Responsibility," Dr. Lois Edinger is certain to present a wealth of information to her fellow leaders in the field of Education.

NEA Consultants on the Conference program are Mrs. Elizabeth D. Kooztz, president-elect, NEA Department of Classroom Teachers, and Dr. John H. Starke, consultant for local associations, NEA.

Mrs. Koontz, the first Negro to be selected to head the NEA Department of Classroom Teachers, is also a North Carolina teacher and member of the North Carolina Teachers Association. She attended the public schools of Salisbury, where she now teaches special education. She received her master's degree from Atlanta University and took additional graduate work

Will History Repeat Itself?

According to Elton M. Gwaltney of 115 N. Mason Street in Smithfield, N. C., both Presidents Lincoln and Kennedy were concerned with the issue of civil rights. Lincoln was elected President in 1860, and Kennedy in 1960. Both were slain on a Friday and in the presence of their wives. Both were shot from behind and in the head.

Their successors were both named Johnson and both were southern democrats. Both had served in the senate. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808 and Lyndon Johnson in 1908.

John Wilkes Booth, who assassinated Lincoln, was born in 1839 and Lee Harvey Oswald, who shot Kennedy, was born in 1939. Both Booth and Oswald were southerners, favoring unpopular ideas. Both were themselves assassinated before going to trial.

Both assassinated President's wives lost children in the White House. Lincoln's secretary, named Kennedy, advised him not to go to the theatre the night he was shot and Kennedy's secretary, named Lincoln, advised him not to go to Dallas.

John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln in a theatre and ran to a warehouse. Lee Harvey Oswald shot Kennedy from a warehouse and ran to a theatre.

The names Lincoln and Kennedy contain seven letters each. The names Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson contain 13
