WILMINGTON'S DR. H. EATON IS INDICTED

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) SBI officers stated that the body was disinterred last December 9th and that an autopsy was performed at James Walker Memorial Hospital here. The findings will be disclosed at Dr. Eaton's trial. Speaking for the Wilmington Negro community, T. C. Jervay, editor of the Wilmington Journal and long-time friend and community worker with the doctor, said it is the general feeling that Dr. Eaton is the intended victim of a diabolical plot to discredit him for his vigorous fight in the field of Civil Rights. Jervay said he was certain, from the telephone calls and visits to his office, that white and Negro citizens of Wilmington would rally to Dr. Eaton's defense and that the civic leader would come out of court a free man and that his status would be greater than ever.

Attorneys of Dr. Eaton issued the following statement to news media Tuesday afternoon: "We ask that the many friends of Dr. Hubert A. Eaton and the citizens of New Hanover County and North Carolina will withhold their judgment on the serious charges that have implicated Dr. Eaton until Dr. Eaton has his day in court and the opportunity of presenting true facts regarding this indictment. Upon a full and impartial hearing, we feel confident that the facts will point unerringly to his innocence and show that the charges are wholly unfounded."

NC TEACHERS STAGE MEET AT HAMMOCKS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) at Columbia University, Indiana University and North Carolina College at Durham. Active in the field of education on the local, state and national level, Mrs. Koontz served as vice-president of the DCT in 1963-64, and was secretary of the national organization for two terms in 1961-63. She will assume the presidency in June, 1965.

Among the other offices held by Mrs. Koontz include two terms as president of the Salisbury City Unit of the North Carolina Teachers Association; two terms as president of the North Carolina Association of Classroom Teachers, and vice-president of the Western District of the North Carolina Teachers Association.

Dr. N. H. Shope, Superintendent of Goldsboro City Schools, will join forces with Mrs. Koontz, Miss Edinger, and Dr. Starke in helping to make the conference a success. He will speak to the subject of "The teacher as a citizen" on Friday morning.

NCTA officials will preside throughout the five general sessions. Matters of state and local concern will include the question of merger of professional associations, professional development, and NCTA services.

NAB 7 IN CRACKDOWN ON BOOZE

State Street; and Lucille and James Plummer's place at 821 S. Bloodworth St. Attorneys representing the Evans, Plummers, Gatlings, and Bagwells appeared later in Wake Superior Court before Judge Henry A. McKinnon Jr. seeking relief from the padlock order.

The Gatlings and the Bagwells were given no relief. Judge McKinnon was told by Carl Churchill, who was representing Bruce Evans, that the house at 721 E. Davis Street was the residence of Evans, his four children and his wife.

Churchill further stated that three of the children, ages nine to 12, had been abandoned by their mother, and their father, Omer Evans, who is now serving a prison term. The children have no place to live other than at the Bruce Evans' home, he said.

The eight-year-old son of a blind woman, Lizzie Gillis, has made his home at this house.

DuBois Allen and Othello Keck signed affidavits against James and Lucille Plummer, 821 S. Bloodworth Street. Keck, Allen and Linver E. Pridgen signed an affidavit against East Side Civic Club. Keck also signed an affidavit against Bruce Evans of 721 E. Davis Street, and Allen signed one against Club 54 and John Stewart, operator of the club. The bars were in operation at the establishments of Club 54, Evans, East Side Civic Center, and Plummers, stated the affidavits.

W. E. Stone, who said that he purchased liquor at 112 N. West Street, signed the affidavit against Lawrence and Ethel Gatling.

MISS STROUD HONORED—Miss Dora D. Stroud, of Method, was the guest of honor at the annual homecoming and tribute day, a surprise affair at St. James A.M.E. Church, Sunday, August 2. A former resident of Carr, Miss Stroud taught school there and in Method for a number of years. Many of her former students spoke moving remarks about their former instructor. Miss Stroud, known widely in this community and over the State for her religious and civic contributions to others, said modestly, "I greatly appreciate the surprise given me by my home church. The pretty flowers and gifts of money touched me to my heart. God bless you for your loving kindness."

Under his leadership, the Association has experienced one of the greatest periods of growth in its history. Membership is at an all-time high, and three new staff positions have been added since 1962. The NCTA also said the Association is more unified, and its program, contact and influence at both the state and national levels have been greatly enhanced in the past two years. Carlton J. Barber, a past State President of NCTA, principal of Garner Consolidated School, informed The CAROLINIAN Monday that he will probably serve until a new person is chosen.

DR. CHARLES A. LYONS, JR. Born in Edgecombe County, Dr. Lyons attended public schools in Bethel, Oak City, and Parmele in 1944. He later attended Shaw University where he majored in history and minored in English. He received both the M.A. and Ph. D. degrees in Political Science from Ohio State University in 1951 and 1957, respectively. During the years of his formal schooling he received several honors and awards. In the summer of 1948, while still a student at Shaw University, he received a scholarship to attend the Student Christian Association Presidents School at Union Theological Seminary, New York City. He has had wide experience in the field of education, both as a teacher and as an administrator.

SUES CITY TO REPAIR OWN HOME

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) or how to the city in getting poor Negroes out of business or home ownership. Charlotte's Housing officials had deemed Walker's home on Church Street as: "Unfit for human habitation; the use or occupation of this building for human habitation is prohibited and unlawful." Apparently infuriated by the city inspectors calling his home "unfit," Walker promptly requested that the city "place the same kind of notice on the city jail that you caused to be placed on my dwelling."

The Rev. Walker attempted to repair his six-room duplex in June, but was jailed for not having a city building permit. Walker stated he wants to repair the house because "I am planning to enter the ministry at Johnson C. Smith University in September." His suit to restrain the enforcement of the city code adopted on January 8, 1962, is the first of its kind ever to face Charlotte. It will be given a preliminary hearing on Monday, August 17, in Charlotte City Court.

CHALLENGE NEGROES DURING RIOTS— Jersey City, N. J.: Pistol-pointing policemen challenge Negro occupants of a car during racial riots here early August 3rd. Starting August 2nd, the night-long rioting has left 32 persons injured, including 17 policemen, 14 persons arrested and several stores damaged. The city's 900-man police force was placed on standby alert in the event of further rioting in the predominantly Negro section of this strife torn city. (UPI PHOTO).

been given a preliminary hearing on Monday, August 17, in Charlotte City Court.

A graduate of N. C. College, Durham, Walker received the L.L.B. Degree from the University of North Carolina in 1952.

Charlotte law prescribes that if it takes more than the 50 per cent of the assessed value of a house to repair it, then the house, shall be removed or demolished. If the amount of repairs is less than 50 per cent, the City of Charlotte orders the necessary repairs done through the bid, inspector.

"They issued a demolish or remove order against my home on February 10 and March 24, giving me 30 days to do one of the above-named two things." His arrest grew out of the fact that the owner, Attorney Walker, chose to fix his home up and was so doing for his own use and benefit and above the city requirements as far as their standards are concerned, Walker stated, "I own my place, but Negroes living in the same community rent from white owners." Walker is well-known as a civil rights fighter, having won the right to vote for Mrs. Louise Lassiter, who owns a small farm near Seaboard in the Spring of 1955. The case went all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Hint Demos May Decide On Aug. 23

CHICAGO (UPI)—Whatever decision is made on seating the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party delegation or the white, so-called "regular" state's delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, N. J., August 24, chances are it will have been made before the political combat actually begins.

That much was hinted by Mayor Richard J. Daley in a terse statement at his news conference Friday morning. Unless what he said was misinterpreted, the Democrats will decide the potentially dangerous seating issue Sunday, August 23.

Daley, a power in local and national Democratic politics, will head the Illinois delegation to the convention.

Asked about a statement by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee that it would vigorously seek to have the Freedom delegation seated, and that it wanted Daley's help, the mayor commented without a hitch:

"We'll discuss that when we meet in caucus the day before the convention."

Daley did not clarify the "we" nor say whether the issue will be definitely resolved before the grand summons to the national delegations to the convention. In fact, he refused to statement of his statement. But the consensus of observers covering the conference was that Daley was saying in effect that the Democrats would try to elect the air of the dynamite-laden issue before it explodes with tremendous political repercussions on the convention floor.

The newsmen felt Daley would not have made the statement with such firmness without some advance knowledge, perhaps gained during his visit to Washington last Thursday, of some sort of plan by Democratic chieftains to deal in advance with the situation.

The crux of the problem is this: The civil rights organizations are pressing for the seating of the integrated, Freedom party, stating that it truly represents the voters of Mississippi and is the only means of guaranteeing Negro voting rights in the state. The white Mississippi delegation, on the other hand, is believed to have the support of other Dixie states, such as Alabama and South Carolina.

Zebulon News

BY MRS. MADDIE FLOYD
ZEBULON—Worship service began at 11:30 a.m. with the pastor, Rev. John Mangum reading the scripture. Rev. Mangum also delivered a wonderful sermon. The senior choir rendered music under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Hopkins. STU began at 7 p.m. with Rev. Mangum in charge. A wonderful lesson was discussed.

Revival was held last week, with seven newcomers to the church. Everyone was happy to have them join the church and we pray that they will continue to worship the Lord.

The Senior Choir is scheduled to meet Tuesday night. We are asking all choir members to please be at rehearsal.

The Christmas Savings Club met at the home of Mrs. Lonnie Richardson Saturday night. All present enjoyed the meeting.

Mr. Chanton Jones and Johnnie Jones both of New York were home visiting their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Atlas Jones.

Mrs. Virginia Jones and brother, Cornal Allen, had their sisters, Erma and Janice of Niagra Falls visiting with them on last week.

Mrs. Cora Pitchford of New York was visiting her sisters, Mrs. Willie Queen, Allen and Mrs. Maddie Floyd.

Miss Betty Wright of Baltimore is home visiting her father, Rev. Ocell Wright.
