

Children's Corner

PRESSED FLOWER PICTURES

Linda dries and presses flowers from her summer garden to make pictures which help her keep her garden all winter.

Linda likes summertime and finds that a good way to stretch summer into winter is to dry and press the flowers from her garden and make them into pictures. With these on the walls of her bedroom, she can dream of last summer's garden and next summer's garden with no trouble at all.

Linda waits until the middle of the day, when the sun has dried the dew, to pick the flowers she intends to dry. She removes the leaves from the stems, because they do not dry well at all, and places the flowers between layers of paper toweling, coaxing them to lay flat as she does so.

On top of the flattened flowers she places one or two big, thick books. These weigh enough so that they press the flowers flat, if they are left on top of the blooms for a day or two.

By that time the flowers are also partly dry. After removing the books, Linda moves the paper towels with the pressed flowers on them to a safe place and lets them dry for a week more. Then she's ready to make pictures.

A frame, perhaps from the dime store, perhaps from an old picture that no one wants, a piece of cardboard that fits into the frame, some glue, a piece of cloth or paper for a background, and the flowers are all that Linda needs to make pictures.

She arranges the flowers on the background cloth or paper to form a bouquet, using spike flowers or grasses at the top and rounded flowers nearer the bottom.

When she has them arranged as she likes, she lifts them, one by one, and puts tiny dabs of glue underneath where the stems were, then replaces them one by one, pressing each onto the glue.

After the glue has dried, she slides the cardboard backing under the picture, places the frame with its glass over the picture and little nails called brads to hold the picture in place.

Linda loves to look at her pressed flower pictures and her friends ask her to make some for them. Wouldn't you like to try making them too?

Davis, wife of the late Dr. Murray B. Davis of High Point, was elected as president-elect of the Auxiliary to the National Association.

Dr. Armstrong stated that this year's convention was by far the largest in the history of the 69-year-old medical group. Approximately 3,500 Negro physicians and many physicians belonging to the American Medical Association, but who also have membership in this group, were present for the four-day meeting.

The 1965 convention is scheduled for the Netherland-Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 8-12th, 1965. In addition, Dr. Hubert A. Eaton of Wilmington, president of the Old North State Medical Society, was honored by the N.M.A. with a scroll for the excellent work that he is doing in the field of civil rights in his hometown.

FREEDOM FIGHTER IS VICTIM

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) damaged by explosions Saturday.

One of the blasts occurred at McComb, shattering windows and causing other damage to a small market located across the street from a church used by civil rights workers as a "freedom school."

Witnesses said the explosive was hurled from a car.

In the other blast, at Natchez, some 65 miles north of McComb, a combination grocery-tavern, owned by a white man in a predominantly Negro section, was severely damaged. The store is next door to an office of the Council of Federated Organizations.

OMEGAS HEAR A&T GRAD AT 49TH CONCLAVE

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) new pledge of allegiance to economics, education, politics, ambition, concern, racial dignity, character, respect and awareness.

Mr. Jackson is a 1964 graduate of A&T College, Greensboro, N. C., where he made an enviable record in scholarship, athletics, student activities and manhood. He is said to have led one of the first civil rights demonstrations in 1960, when he guided three other students into a segregated restaurant and demanded service.

The demonstrations spread over the United States. He is now a liaison man in the office of Governor Terry Sanford, Raleigh, N. C. He was admitted to the School of Religion of both Duke University and the University of Chicago, under a Rockefeller grant. He chose the Chicago school, and will enter at the fall session.

He admits that by being out of school all day, he soon became lonely, but instead of joining his friends in the classrooms, he decided to persuade them to join him, and thus formed his little gang.

Marshall's father, Mr. Jack Barnes, died when he was fourteen; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Barnes, now lives in New York City. He has a sister, Mrs. Estella B. Hines, of 110 N. Swain Street, who in his own words, "is the only member of the family I get along with." His brother, John Dudley Barnes, of 216 Heck Street, is, in his opinion, the reason for his confinement at this time. "I was only trying to help him out of trouble, and he put me where I am today."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

ARMS AND THE LAW — Patterson, N. J.: Overwhelming police superiority subdues a Negro youth, late August 13th. Mayor Graves of Paterson supervised some 200 helmeted police who stopped and searched Negroes on the streets as a precautionary measure. A few gasoline bombs were thrown at police with rocks and bottles in the third night of violence. Four persons three of them police, were hurt. Twenty-eight Negroes were arrested. (UPI PHOTO).

me any better," state the woman, who refused to give her name.

School Dropout: Life And Story

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

Barnes was reared in a family where each member went his or her own, separate way. Neither he, nor the other four children, were compelled to obey any rules set by their parents. His quitting school was a challenge to his parents. "Had they encouraged or insisted that I return, I would have done so," he stated. "But they didn't and I refused to do so on my own."

He admits that by being out of school all day, he soon became lonely, but instead of joining his friends in the classrooms, he decided to persuade them to join him, and thus formed his little gang.

Marshall's father, Mr. Jack Barnes, died when he was fourteen; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Barnes, now lives in New York City. He has a sister, Mrs. Estella B. Hines, of 110 N. Swain Street, who in his own words, "is the only member of the family I get along with." His brother, John Dudley Barnes, of 216 Heck Street, is, in his opinion, the reason for his confinement at this time. "I was only trying to help him out of trouble, and he put me where I am today."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

Marshall's father, Mr. Jack Barnes, died when he was fourteen; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Barnes, now lives in New York City. He has a sister, Mrs. Estella B. Hines, of 110 N. Swain Street, who in his own words, "is the only member of the family I get along with." His brother, John Dudley Barnes, of 216 Heck Street, is, in his opinion, the reason for his confinement at this time. "I was only trying to help him out of trouble, and he put me where I am today."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

In closing, Barnes said, "I realize that I've done wrong, and would like to live right again, but somehow I feel that the whole world is against me."

After reading the life story of Marshall Barnes, it brings to mind an old cliché, "Crime does not pay."

ELKS' 65TH MEET OPENS AUGUST 21

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) all information supplied is located at 423 Biscayne Boulevard, Miami, Phone 377-9810.

Climaxing the week-long activities will be a weekend cruise to Nassau on the luxury cruise ship SE Florida. Some cabins are still available because of the large quota of space reserved for the Elks. The cruise will leave Miami, Friday, August 28, at 4:30 p.m. and arrive in Nassau Saturday morning at 8:00 A. M. spending two days in exotic Nassau and return to Miami, Monday morning at 8:00 A. M. The ship will be your hotel while in Nassau and all meals are included and served throughout the trip.

A colorful and massive International Parade, led by a unit of the Air Force Color Guard and many other Elks units will be held at 1:00 P. M. Tuesday, August 25th.

Highlighting the social calendar is the Elks' Grand Ball given at the fabulous and huge Miami Beach Convention Hall, Thursday, August 27th.

Table and ticket reservations should be made in advance and not later than the opening of the Convention.

THE CAROLINIAN
Publishing Company
"Covering the Carolinas"
Published by the Carolinians
115 E. Martin Street
Raleigh, N. C. 27601

(Entered as Second Class Matter April 1, 1950, at the Post Office in Raleigh, North Carolina under the Act of March 1959)

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
Six Months $2.50
Sales Tax75
TOTAL $3.25
One Year $4.50
Sales Tax 1.50
TOTAL $6.00

Payable in Advance. All communications and money orders payable to THE CAROLINIAN, Amalgamated Publishers, Inc. 310 Madison Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. National Advertising Representative and member of the Associated Negro Press and the United Press International Photo Service.

The Publishers are not responsible for the return of unsolicited news, pictures or advertising copy unless necessary postage accompanies the copy. Opinions expressed by columnists in this newspaper do not necessarily reflect the views of the Publishers.

Fresh Ground Beef lb. 35c or 3 lbs. 99c
Thick White Fat Back 17c
Sliced Pork Steak lb. 49c
Fresh Spare Ribs lb. 35c or 3 lbs. 99c

PHILLIPS
Pork & Beans 52 oz. can 3 for 99c
Rib Beef Steak lb. 59c
End Cut Pork Chops lb. 49c

Pork Sausage lb. 35c or 3 lbs. 99c
Sirloin or Club Steaks lb. 69c
Rib Beef Stew lb. 29c

Domino Sugar 5 lb. bag 49c
Good Weiners lb. 39c or 3 lbs. 99c

OPEN MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY 9 P. M.
HORTON'S CASH STORE
1411-19 SO. SAUNDERS ST. RALEIGH

DR. ARMSTRONG FETED BY NMA

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) medical care in the United States and to seek support of this organization in getting his legislation passed.

President Johnson also requested that this far-flung group use its influence in discouraging mass demonstrations and violence in the streets. To this end the House of Delegates adopted a resolution urging its members in their localities to exert their influence in stemming violence in any form.

The House of Delegates also adopted a resolution deprecating discrimination in some of the southern states as practiced by state medical societies in refusing membership privileges to its members. Also adopted at this meeting was a resolution requesting that the federal government request that off federal funds from states that continued to evade the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It also requested that federal hospital facilities be made available for the treatment of those individuals injured in the voter registration drives now being conducted in Mississippi. Because of the death of Negro physicians throughout the United States, the NMA will conduct a recruitment program for promising Negro M.D.'s in all states.

At its regular public meeting the guest speaker was Senator Hubert Humphrey who has been prominently mentioned as vice-presidential timber. At this meeting Dr. Hildrus Poindexter of Washington was presented with the distinguished service award of the organization and Dr. Hiram B. Moore of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., was selected as the recipient of the general practitioner award.

Dr. Montague Cobb of Washington, D. C., was inducted into office as president for the incoming year and Dr. Leonidras Berry of Chicago was elected as president-elect.

Other North Carolinians to be honored at this meeting included Dr. C. D. Wastis of Durham who was elected to the nominating committee, and was later named to the Judicial Council of the N.M.A., and Dr. Emory Hann of Charlotte who was elected as speaker of the House of Delegates. Mrs. Gwendolyn

MISS, BOWS TO COURT AFTER DECADE

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) classes this year, said School Superintendent R. D. Brown.

The other school where the students registered was Jefferson Davis elementary school.

Biloxi has nearly 50,000 residents, most of them are airmen and their families. The airmen are stationed at sprawling Keesler Field, the electronics training center for the Air Force.

"We were treated very courteously," one Negro mother told a newsman. "They couldn't have treated

a Dog's Life

CONDITIONING YOUR HUNTING DOG
By Bob Barton, Manager
Friskins Pet Foods Research Center

You can't expect much of your hunting dog the opening day of the season if you haven't bothered to put him into training ahead of time. He'll tire and wind quickly and develop sore feet. A dog, just like any athlete, has to get into shape. He needs long hours of exercise to get his muscles toned up, build up his wind and toughen his feet.

In England, the prescribed method of conditioning a dog for the field is roading. The owner or trainer bicycles along a country road with his dog on a lead trotting beside him. Some five miles a day for a month or so and the dog is hard as steel. If you live in the country where there are some lightly traveled roads, this pre-conditioning method is highly recommended for both you and your dog.

If this isn't feasible, the next best thing is to take your dog out in the woods and fields and let him run as often as possible. Work up gradually from ten minutes or so at a time to an hour. Since much of the land today is posted, try to strike up an acquaintance with a farmer and get his permission to use his land for your conditioning program.

Just how much a dog needs depends largely on the individual. Some need but a few days, others a month. A dog that is normally active and whose weight is normal will need less than an inactive, overweight dog.

Feeding tip: After a training session, order feeding until the dog is cooled and rested. Then feed him a top grade of prepared dog food such as Friskies to be sure that he's getting the nourishment needed to sustain him in A-1 condition.

MELON HARVEST

It's easy to tell from the expressions on the faces of the two youngsters, that these cantaloupes are really ripe. Do you know how to tell when yours are ready to harvest?

These cantaloupes taste just as good as they look! They're vine ripened to the state of perfection as you can tell by the expressions of the youngsters eating them. How about your cantaloupes? Do you know how to tell when they're ripe?

Some people are experts at doing this. You can be an expert too. All it takes is first an eye for color, and second a light hand.

When cantaloupes reach the stage of ripeness, their skins change color. In some varieties this change is ever so slight, while in others it is a definite, easily seen change. Depending on the variety you're growing, keep watch until you see the phenomenon occur.

Within a few days of this color change the stem which holds the melon to the vine will start to loosen its hold. When you can lift the melon, and take it from the vine without pulling on the stem or twisting it in order to remove the melon, you'll know it's ripe.

Sometimes, while waiting for this stage to be reached, melons are injured by soil insects or soiled by contact with the dirt. A piece of scrap lumber, large enough so a single melon can rest on it, and held underneath each melon, will help prevent these troubles.

START A COMPOST PILE NOW
What are you doing with the inedible parts of the vegetables you and your family eat every day in the week? Or the dead flowers you take from vases in the house for discard? These odds and ends of plants might well be used to start a compost pile to furnish your garden with organic matter or you with the foundation of potting soil guaranteed to grow super plants.

While in the large garden such refuse may be piled on top of the ground in any out-of-the-way place, it is better in a small garden to dig a pit into which to throw these plant remains. A cupful of dry complete fertilizer sprinkled over a bushel basket of waste, six inches of plant remains covered with 1" of soil, an occasional raking of the pile with the hoe, and by next spring you'll have an inch of fine compost at the bottom of the heap.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE AS P. O. CLERK

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) time's College here in 1953.

He and his family came to Holly Springs, Wake County, in 1948 to live, after Grigsby had served two years in the Army, 1944-1946, emerging as a staff sergeant.

A member of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., the ex-policeman is married to the former Miss Verne Moore, a native of Wilmington.

Chief Davis, who expressed satisfaction with Mr. Grigsby's work as an officer, asked a CAROLINIAN newsmen Tuesday of this week to express the dire need for other officers as one.

There are at least ten openings in the department now and the police department requires that all applicants be between the ages of 21 and 32, at least five feet, ten inches tall and weigh at least 160 pounds. High school graduation is another requisite for the job as is having been a resident of this State for at least two years.

A civil service examination will be given on Tuesday, August 25, at the Employment Security Commission, 323 W. Hargett Street. Interested persons should apply at room 103 in the Municipal Building.

FBI TRACES RECORD OF WAYNE HOOD

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) He was arrested July 2 after the father of the girl, swore out a warrant, charging him with having carnal knowledge of his daughter. The family lives at Route 2, Pikeville.

Wayne County Sheriff's office learned through a routine check with the FBI that Nettles had escaped after serving nine months of a seven to ten year sentence in the robbery of a Kinston service station operator.

The convict told officers he had been working in and around Goldsboro, believed to be his home.

GUN, KNIVES MAR WEEKEND AT CHADBURN

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) floor from a severe laceration and loss of blood. More than 12 stitches were required to close Brown's wounds at the hospital.

Oscar Antone, 22, was named by Brown as his assailant, but Antone is still at large.

N. C. DEMOS CHIDED BY D. C. SCRIBES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) An aide to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Yarmolinsky had been accused, as were his parents, of being a left-winger.

It was also brought out in the Lippman statement that Yarmolinsky's work on the anti-poverty bill had enraged some Republicans when he wrote a memorandum about getting some political publicity for the administration once the program went into effect.

When an Ohio Republican representative raised "cain" about this during the House debate on the bill, another House member stated, "I have been told on the highest authority that Yarmolinsky will not be considered if he is recommended for a place in this agency."

It was this announcement that led the North Carolina Democrats in the House to vote for the bill, although they, unlike the Ohio colon, objected to Yarmolinsky's leftishness, not his name.

Lippman stated, "The real root of Yarmolinsky's trouble is not his too-liberal philosophy, but his name. It is perfect for demagogues. It sounds great to tell the home

KEEP 'EM COMING

These little plants of Thumbellina zinnia will form more flower buds if kept weeded, cultivated and fertilized. They also will produce far more blooms if fading flowers are cut.

The reason why most gardeners plant annual flowers is that they want plenty of bright blossoms to give color to their gardens. While there always are many blooms at the beginning of the season, the problem sometimes is how to keep these flowers coming until frost.

It isn't hard to keep annuals blooming. Like other plants, they exist to produce seeds. Once these ripen, the plant's life cycle is ended. To prolong it you need only to thwart the plant's purpose.

The blooms you admire while fully open today will be well along towards becoming seed pods a week from now. If, instead of allowing them to mature, you keep the flowers picked as fast as they fade, the plant will continue to form flower buds right up to killing frost.

Of course it helps flower bud production and flower size if you keep the weeds under control, cultivate the soil close to the plants to admit air and water, and fertilize once a month during the summer.

But picking faded flowers, not just once but as a regular part of your garden maintenance program, will provide the garden with new blooms out of all proportion to what you might expect. And, of course, the flowers will be produced over a much longer period of time.

CAT CHAT

By Dr. F. H. Hines, Director, Friskies Pet Foods Research Center

HELP!
IF YOUR CAT RUNS OUTDOORS, DON'T CLIP HER NAILS. THEY ARE HER ONLY MEANS OF DEFENDING OR PROTECTING HERSELF IN AN EMERGENCY.

FEEDING TIP
FUSSY EATERS MAY BE TEMPTED BY CHANGES IN MENU WHICH YOU CAN SERVE IF YOU KEEP A SUPPLY OF FRISKIES' FIVE DIFFERENT CANNED CAT FOODS ON HAND AT ALL TIMES.

DID YOU KNOW?
PRIZE-WINNING SHOW CATS CAN COMMAND PRICES OF ANYWHERE FROM $35 TO $200.

AT HOME the parents murder the language, and yet expect the school to teach the kids to speak like diplomats.

WHAT YOU CAN'T say to your wife you can say to her best friend, and often get a firm hand-clasp of approval from said wife's friend.

A LITTLE GIRL is likely to smile at a passerby whereas a little boy scowls.

THE NICEST THING about being dull is that you are unaware of the fact, and hence are pleasantly blissful.

IT IS WORTH a thousand pounds a year to have a habit of looking on the bright side of things—Samuel Johnson.

ONE OF LIFE'S jokes is that people who scoff at materialism are often living beyond their incomes.

WHATEVER the daily starting hour may be, it's too early for comfort in my experience and opinion.

SOME OF US expect the impossible and when we get it, grumble about the taxes.

ONE OF THE bitterest things of life lies in the discovery that things never come to us so easily when you have ceased to desire them.

RADICALISM is often just an empty stomach shouting for a place at the food trough.

folks: To hell with Adam Yarmolinsky. If his name was, say, William Arrya, he'd never have any trouble.

The noted writer continued, "The Carolina Democrats are a reactionary bunch. Their vote for anti-poverty, was the first major, post-revolutionary administration message they have supported in the last seven years of the current Democratic administration. Of all the states that voted Democratic in 1960, North Carolina has the poorest record of administration support in Congress.

"If Yarmolinsky goes from program to program, being kicked out of each just before the House votes, he can reverse the Carolina trend and make honest Democrats out of these Tarheel apes."

Miss McGrory states, "In a sense, Mr. Yarmolinsky is a casualty of the Goldwater nomination. All Southerners have been unmoved by the senator's raid on their people. In the North Carolina primary, all moderation was crushingly defeated by a segregationist for the governorship."

IMPORTED RARE SCOTCH

INVER HOUSE
GREEN BLAD
RARE SCOTCH WHISKY

$4.25
4.75 QT