Females' Fury Runs Rampant In 2 Towns

In a roundup of weekend violence over the State, two women are facing felony charges in a pistol death and tire-throwing incident.

In Henderson, a 20-year-old woman, Mrs. Corine Baskerville, is being held without bond in connection with the pistol slaying of Oscar Russell, 33, of Eto. S. Henderson. This shooting took place in a tobacco barn last Saturday.

According to Sheriff Linwood T. Faulkner, Mrs. Baskerville is from the Henderson area. A hearing in Vance County's Recorder's Court was scheduled for this week. Deputy Sheriff S. E. Mims stated Mrs. Baskerville declared the shooting was a mistake, adding she didn't know the gun was loaded and it fired as

Newspaper Plant Entered By Vandals; Still No Leads

The persons or persons who have plagued The CAROLINIAN with at least eight break-ins the past two years outdid themselves last Thursday morning as about $175 in damage was done through vandalism.

Blood was found on a female employee's coat and in several other places, indicating the intruder cut himself on broken glass.

James Otis Rogers, 25, of 1125 S. State St., Apt. 11, called police and informed Officer

WEATHER

Temperature for the five day period, Thursday through Monday, will average two to six degrees below normal, turning cooler West portion Thursday, cooler Friday and Saturday, a little warmer Sunday and cooler Monday. Showers Thursday and about Sunday will average one-half to one inch of rain.

D. E. Wiggs at 1:30 a. m. Thursday, that he was walking with the CAROLINIAN, 515 E. Martin St., when he discovered the front plate glass on the right side of the plant had been broken out. Nothing was stolen, creating a mystery as to the motive of breaking in.

The officer called P. E. Jervay, owner-publisher of the newspaper, and Mr. Jervay was unable to find anything missing.

At least fifteen windows were broken, the time clock was thrown through the plate glass front window, two office machines were thrown to the floor, a camera and copy board used to re-photograph pictures was knocked down from its stand and two private telephones were pulled from the wall and thrown through the window.

Reginald Ligon, who lives at 530 E. Martin Street, informed police officials that he heard two loud noises about
