

Bennett Freshmen, New Students Are Challenged "To Be Different"

GREENSBORO — Freshmen and new students at Bennett College, attending their first worship service Sunday, were urged against conformity and challenged to be different.

Speaker was the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, of the local advent society, who stated that while many rights are being mentioned today—state's rights, human rights, civil rights, the right to work, etc.—there are three rights which are rarely mentioned.

"These rights" he said, "are the right to be different, the right to dream and the right to suffer. I urge you to exercise these rights here at Bennett."

Declaring that "uniformity is one of the greatest diseases of our time," the Rev. Mr. Stanley urged the students to have open minds, to dream big dreams and to choose worthwhile goals for which they are willing to suffer.

Sunday night the students attended a reception at the home of instruction in the use of library services. Upperclassmen registered President Wills B. Fayer. Monday on Tuesday and classes began on Wednesday morning.

E. T. Turner Heads Alumni Of Va. State

FERNSBORO — E. T. Turner has been appointed executive secretary of the Virginia State College Alumni Association, President Robert P. Daniel announced last week.

A former real estate salesman and broker in Richmond, Turner succeeds the late Mrs. Christine Dillard who held the position for many years. He also serves as instructor of guidance.

Turner holds the B.A. degree from Virginia Union University, and the M.A. degree from Virginia State College.

He is past President of Iota Sigma Chapter, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, and is assistant school, lay reader, vestryman and junior warden at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Richmond.

The new executive secretary is married to the former Estelle Howells, guidance counselor at Baker School in Richmond. They are parents of a two-year old daughter.
