Hospital Orderly Charged With Abortion Death Of Mom Of Two

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, and Sylvester Marion Griffin, 35-year-old orderly at Hadley hospital, wishes now that he had not used his meager medical knowledge to perform an abortion on a 32-year-old assistant cafeteria clerk in a drugstore chain. His victim was Mrs. Ruth M. Wooten, mother of two daughters, who died in Freedmen's hospital of septicemia (blood poisoning) caused by "incomplete abortion."

Before she died, Mrs. Wooten identified Griffin as the one who performed the illegal operation. She told police that she submitted to the operation in her home on August 30. She entered Freedmen's on September 3, and died three days later. Griffin was held under $10,000 bond.

Mrs. Harris Woman's Day Speaker

BY MRS. ANNIE H. THORPE
Woman's Day was observed at Rush Metropolitan A.M.E. Zion Church last Sunday. The speaker was Mrs. N. W. Harris, wife of the pastor, Mrs. Helen Mack Mitchell was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Annie H. Thorpe introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Harris spoke from the subject, "The Role of Women in this Growing Civilization." She began by saying that women have a distinction and indispensable role in the Christian Church and this growing civilization has lifted women to a new place in the world.

The role of women in this growing civilization is one worth telling because it is a valid part of the history of the Church and the history of women like Mrs. Mary McCloud Bethune, Mrs. Daisy Bates, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Martha Todd Lincoln, Miss Mahalia Jackson, Mrs. Patricia Robinson and Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown. They were deeply committed to their faith, and loyal service to the capacities. Mrs. Harris climaxed by saying, God can mightily use us in these days of peril, decision and transition if we will dedicate ourselves to the task. God grant the women of the growing civilization will rise to their opportunities and the wisdom and power for the living of these days.

Mrs. Harris really captivated her audience and we say thanks to you.

At 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Peolia Tyson was the speaker. Mrs. Tyson, too was her best as she spoke on the subject: "Faith, Hope, and Charity." Mrs. Tyson gave us much information; as she spoke of Naomi and Ruth and the faith and courage they had—admonishing us as Christians to love one another. She was introduced by Mrs. Marie Moore. Total raised for the day — $2,064.13.

At 8 p. m., the VCB young people's meeting was held. The speaker was Miss Cynthia Jean Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Adams of the Church, who spoke on "Christ's Honor Roll." She did a fine job with the subject.

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE
NORMAL VOICE
QUESTION: How can I describe the normal speaking voice?—H. L. ANSWER: The eminent speech pathologist, Robert West of Brooklyn, New York, states the characteristics of the ideal voice are:
1. It must be adequately loud.
2. It must have clearness of tone.
3. It must have a pitch suitable to the speaker's age and sex.
4. It should have a slight vibration.

5. There must be a graceful inflection of pitch and force which follows the meaning of what is spoken.
Yet other authorities, when speaking of a normal voice, call attention to the elusive character of the term "normal voice." We do know that the so-called normal voice is:
1. Based upon the listener's judgment.
2. Influenced by one's age and sex.
3. Influenced by the efficiency with which the speech mechanism performs.

NAACP Labor Secretary Herbert Hill, who has helped NAACP make outstanding inroads into the area of better job opportunities for minority citizens, will be present for an address and consultation of labor problems during the convention at O'Henry Hotel.

In view of the presidential and congressional elections just ahead, an analysis of the political situation will be studied as it pertains to Negroes' best interests. Kelly M. The NAACP has learned that only four Negroes in Phoenix, Arizona support Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy for President of the USA, according to Phoenix NAACP leader G. Benj. Brooks, who stated that "Negroes supported Mr. Goldwater's bid for the Senate . . . against an incumbent hostile to civil rights in 1952, only to have him get in office, and 'go Mississippi' as Brooks put it. Brooks denied the claim that Goldwater held membership in the Phoenix NAACP, but admitted he gave, along with others, $460 contribution in the name of Goldwater Dept. Store to help segregate Phoenix Union High School district.

must include a helping hand that is filled with compassion for those of us who, through circumstances not altogether of our own making, are victims of ignorance, poverty and much of the above. Too much cannot be said for the need of Negroes aiding Negroes. While we have many white friends, there certainly exists a woods full of white people who are determined to use all of their wit, prestige, wealth, etc., to keep the Negro a picture of despair and unwanted trash.

To combat such circumstances in the future demands the limitations of any addictions comparable to white supremacy addiction. We can ill-afford bad feelings, anger or bitterness. They only promote frustration, wasted emotional energy and material resources. What seems to be needed in the foreseeable future are tools, and vehicles of constructive, positive nature, geared to the times embodying techniques with sound judgment in the areas of politics, economics and our civic and social life.

We know the score. The real question is do we have what it takes to measure up? . . . not through courts alone, but by our own imagination and techniques. We must commence our next hundred years with honesty, reliability, cleanliness, cooperative efforts, regards for each other, our community, State and nation in a way far beyond anything displayed in the past. Our lot will depend, in a large measure, on good management of our dollars, our minds and spiritual adeptness to the changing times as well as opportunities.

Enough has been done and attempted in the past to justify a belief that no question remains in any Negro's mind that he is incapable of measuring up to the challenges ahead here in Raleigh, the State and elsewhere. We sincerely solicit a new attitude for our people . . . a new mental conditioning geared to tailor an image comparable to any group's image or accomplishments anywhere. This can be done. This must be done to continue forward a progress that, in itself, will make America proud of its tag brother instead of as in the past . . . ashamed to have us around.

In neither instance were there any injuries. In the case of the mayor's home, damages consisted of shattered windows and a cracked front wall. The mayor and his wife were watching television in a den at the time of the explosion.
Though the mayor could offer no explanation for the bombing, it was recalled that earlier last month "stink bombs" were hurled through the windows of supermarkets operated by the mayor's son and son-in-law.

Shortly after the explosion, police picked up an unidentified Negro who had a pistol in his car. The man was said to have been seen near the mayor's house before the explosion. The other bombing hit the home of Willie Washington, in the Negro section of town. No information on the damage sustained was immediately available.

If you lived in New York . . . your electricity would cost more

In New York the typical monthly residential bill for 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity is $14.24. It's only $9.00 for CP&L customers. On the average, our customers use a little more than 500 kilowatt-hours per month.

In most other places across the country, folks pay more for electricity. The average price which our residential customers pay per kilowatt-hour is 22 per cent less than the national average.

How has CP&L been able to make electricity such a bargain? We have installed large more efficient generating plants. We have improved our methods of transmitting and distributing electricity. We have worked hard to introduce every reasonable economy.

While there are a few places where your electric bill would be less, CP&L is proud to supply dependable electric service at prices so much lower than most people pay.
