

Along The Campaign Trail

By Negro Press International
As the hottest Presidential race in history thundered down to the wire, there were these developments:

The Democratic Presidential ticket was reported in "excellent shape" following a 48-state tour by Lawrence F. O'Brien, former Special Assistant to the President. Two Howard University scientists, writing in the October issue of the Howard University magazine, predicted the most significant test of the power of the Negro vote would come during next month's election. Professors Harold F. Gonnell and Robert E. Martin said that with the heavy migration of Negroes from the South to urban areas of the North and West, the Negro vote now represents the balance of power in eight major industrial states. These states were identified as California, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Approximately six million Negroes are eligible to vote in the November election, according to the NAACP. The overwhelming majority of these who actually go to the polls are expected to cast their ballots for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket because of the interest in civil rights. The Republican Presidential candidate, Sen. Barry F. Goldwater, voted against the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Dr. Martin Luther King, speaking in Brooklyn, N. Y., declared that "Goldwaterism must be totally defeated." King added: "If all the Negroes vote the same way, Goldwater would lose every Southern state, but Mississippi and Alabama. Even the Good Lord could not win there."

FREEDOM DEMOCRATIC PARTY FIGHTS ON JACKSON, Miss.—The Freedom Democratic party, which sought to unseat the regular Mississippi Democrats at the Atlantic City convention, is fighting to have the state's Senators and Representatives removed on the grounds that they were chosen through a discriminatory voting procedure.

The party, organized last spring by the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO), plans to collect the support of poor whites to form a coalition against other pressure groups in the state.

At the Atlantic City convention, the Credentials Committee proposed a compromise that would seat the regular Democrats, provided they signed loyalty oaths, and would admit two Freedom Democratic leaders as delegates-at-large.

All but three of the regular delegates and the entire Freedom delegation turned down the compromise.

ASSISTANT QUITS
WASHINGTON—Sen. Barry F. Goldwater's legislative assistant on Capitol Hill, William R. Seward, resigned last week, describing the Republican Presidential candidate as a "virtual captive." Seward said the Senator's declaration on extremism in his convention acceptance speech was an example of poor advice.

Wake County 4-H Achievement Day Ends At Jeffrey's

The twenty-two organized Community 4-H Clubs of Wake County held their Annual Achievement Day Program at the Jeffrey's Grove School recently.

The program was presided over by Barbara Fowler, president of the 4-H County Council. The main address was delivered by Gwendolyn Matthews, assistant secretary of the 4-H Council. She was introduced by James Leach, secretary of the 4-H Council. Mrs. Pattie Smith, teacher of the Jeffrey's School, gave the welcome.

The main address, given by Miss Gwendolyn Matthews, was centered around a three-day National Conference that she attended and participated in from April 26 to May 2 of this year. This conference was held around "Youth and Smoking" and was sponsored by the National Children's Bureau and was held at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C.

A team demonstration and an individual demonstration were also features of the program. Clifton Jann and James Robert Jones of Botwell Community Club made up the team and Cora Ray of Jeffrey's Club was the individual demonstrator. The titles of their demonstrations were "Soybean Production" and "Milk for Health Sake," respectively.

Certificates and awards were presented to 4-H members who had done outstanding club work during the past year.

Four-H Club record books were also on display to be observed by leaders, parents and other friends of 4-H.

Approximately 150 people were in attendance.
