Time-Saving Tips For Holiday Cooks by LOUISE ALLEN... Do all those holiday dinners, starting with Thanksgiving, turn you into a Cinderella-working overtime in the kitchen while the rest of the family has a ball? You can cook your feast and enjoy it, too, with just a little before-inner planning. You're off to a head start when all the right tools (utensils) are at hand.

Colorful holiday vegetables become tasty morsels if cooked in Club Aluminum's "waterless" pans, thus preserving all their natural flavor. The slow, even heat provided by heavy aluminum cookware eliminates "pot-watching," and keeps you and the room temperature cool!

Don't hesitate to reserve a place on the "active board" for the favorite candied yams or squash—when cooked to new perfection in a pan coated with "Black Magic" Teflon. Truly magical is the way the specially coated bottom refuses to stick to even the most slippery foods—and cooks them without fat.

The non-stick nature of this cookware cuts clean-up time in half—so you can escape from the kitchen early enough to enjoy after-the-feast relaxing.

Miss King, 30, suffered bruises on her face and legs. Both signed warrants, charging Tuesdays with assault with a deadly weapon.

TWO YOUNG BOYS FACE SHOPLIFTING RAPS... Tom E. Higgins, who works at Hudson-Bell Company, reported to Officer J. L. Denton at 4:30 p. m. Monday, that he saw a 13-year-old boy pick up a flashlight from a counter in the store and hand it to his 15-year-old brother. Both boys reside at 6 W. Lee Street in Walnut Terrace.

Higgins added as they were about to leave the store, he asked if they wanted to pay for the $1.99 flashlight. The older boy then took the flashlight from his pocket. Petitions against both were signed by Higgins and the boys were arrested for shoplifting.

TWO CHARGED IN FORGERIES... Jerry Thomas King, an official of North Carolina National Bank, told Officer J. R. Munns at 10:30 a. m. Monday, that on October 3 and October 6, respectively that two Negro men, Arthur Cox, 319 Heck Street, and Wallace Jones, 325 Maple Street, had both cashed forged checks in this bank for $40 each.

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOWLER... If an organization's business gets so involved as to make it necessary to use a substitute motion, then the chairman should suggest to the club that it should vote against all the motions pending before the house, and then make a new main motion. In this way, time can be saved.
