DEAR SALLY

DEAR SALLY: My wife of four months is an inveterate pouter. Whenever something "doesn't go right" to her way of thinking, or whenever she and I don't agree on something, she shuts herself up in our bedroom and sulks—and no amount of coaxing or humoring brings her out of her mood. She's doing this more and more all the time, and it's wearing me down trying to cope with these spells of pouting. Can you offer any good advice in this? SAM.

DEAR SAM: Instead of trying to humor her during one of these sulking fits, try the "indifference act." People who make a habit of sulking or pouting are usually seeking attention, and when they find out that their moodiness isn't paying off, they sometimes give up. And so my advice to you is just to ignore her the next time she flounces off in a tension of East Edenton Street, 85 feet from the intersection with Ray Street, and runs thence in a southerly direction 100 feet to a ten foot alley; thence East with the Northern line of said Alley 34.2 feet; thence North 10 feet to East Edenton Street; thence West along the Southern line of Edenton Street 53.3 feet to the point BEGINNING and being lot No. 28, of the Subdivision of the McGhee and Rogers property, according to a map made by R. L. Fook, C. E., January 19, 1964, and recorded in Book 384, at page 281, office of the Register of Deeds for Wake County.

This property will be sold subject to all prior encumbrances, including taxes, and the successful bidder will be required to deposit five per cent (5 percent) of the purchase price. This sale will remain open for ten (10) days to receive increase bid as required by law.
