LIFE.

Born of love and hope, of ecstasy and pain, of agony and fear, of tears and joy—dowered with the wealth of two united hearts—held in happy arms, with lips upon life's drifted front, blue veined and fair, where perfect peace finds perfect peace finds perfect form—rocked by wailing feet and wooed to shadowy shores of sleep by maiden mother singing soft and low looking with wonder's wide and staring eyes at common things of life and day—taught by want and wish and contact with the things that touch the dimpled flesh of babes—lured by light and flame and charmed by color's wondrous robes—learning the use of hand and feet, and by the love of mimicry beguiled to utter speech—releasing prisoned thoughts from crabbled and curious marks on sailed and tattered leaves—puzzling the brain with crude numbers and their changing, tangled worth—and so through years of alternating day and night, until the captive grows familiar with the chains and limitations of a life.

And time runs on in sun and shade until the one of all the world is wooed and won and all the lore of love is taught and learned again. Again a home is built with a fair chamber wherein faint dreams, like cool and shadowy vales divide the billowed hours of love. Again the miracle of birth—the pain and joy, the kiss of welcome and the cradle song drowning the drowsy prattle of the babe. And then the sense of blighting and of wrong, pity for those who toil and weep—tears for the imprisoned and despised—love for the generous dead, and in the heart the rapture of high resolve. And then ambition with its lust of pelf and place and power, longing to put upon its breast destination's worthless badge. Then keener thoughts of men and eyes that see behind the smiling mask of craft—flattered no more by the obsequious cringe of gain or greed—knowing the uselessness of hoarded gold—of honor bought from those who charge the usury of self respect—of power that only bends a coward's knees, and forces from the lips of fear the lies of praise, knowing at last the unstudied gesture of esteem, the reverent eyes made rich with honest thought, and holding above all other things—high as hope's great throbbing star above the darkness of the dead—the love of wife and children and friend.

Then locks of gray and growing love of other days and a half remembered things—holding of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago kindly troubles caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists.

ding the withered hands of those who first held his, while over dim and loving eyes death softly presses down the lips of rest. And, so locking in marriage vows his children's hands and crossing others on the breast of peace with daughter's babes upon his knees, the white hair mingling with the gold, he journeys on from day to day to that horizon where the dusk is waiting for the night. At last—sitting by the holy hearth of home as evening's embers change from red to gray, he falls to sleep within the arms of her who worshiped and adored, feeling upon his pallid lips love's last and holiest kiss.—Ingersol.

'Make Hay While the Sun Shines'
There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand as immediate treatment is necessary and delay may prove fatal. For sale by all Dealers Boone and by Blowing Rock Drug Co.

The net used by Japanese fishermen for yellowtail, bonito and tunny is sometimes several thousand feet in length. The seine nets are sometimes three miles long.

Unnecessary Expenses.
Acute attacks of colic and diarrhoea come on without warning and prompt relief must be obtained. There is no necessity of incurring the expense of a physician's service in such cases if Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is at hand. A use of this remedy will relieve the patient before a doctor could arrive. It has never been known to fail, even in the most severe and dangerous case and no family should be without it. For sale by all dealers at Boone and by Blowing Rock Drug Co.

Charles Francis Brush, the noted Cleveland electrician, has on his office door: "Office hours 11-30 to 12." He is there promptly and never works over time.

Stomach troubles, Constipation.
No one can reasonably hope for good digestion when the bowels are constipated. Mrs. Charles Baldwin, of Edwardsville, Ill., says: "I suffered from chronic constipation and stomach troubles for several years, but thanks to Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets am almost cured." Why not get a package of these tablets and get well and stay well? Price 25c. For sale by all dealers in Boone and Blowing Rock Drug Co.

Mme Patti possesses an old doll called "Henrietta," which was given to her when she was eight years old for singing nicely.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.
During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy following by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the first M. E. Church Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by all dealers, at Boone and by Blowing Rock Drug Co.

McEwen Makes it Hot for Blackburn.

Wilkesboro Chronicle.
My attention has been called to the fact that in Mr. Blackburn's speech at Taylorsville recently he stated that the affidavits made by myself and others in regard to his contract with me, promising me protection if I would vote for him and furnish him campaign funds and liquor for election purposes, are nothing but 'democratic lies'. When Blackburn makes that statement he lies. He knows that every word in the affidavits is the truth, and he won't deny it to my face or in my hearing. He knows I carried out my part of the contract—voted for him and furnished him money and liquor for the campaign and election. He was to protect me; he deserted me when I needed help. When I was indicted I expected him to be true to his promise and protect me. He told me he didn't appear as counsel in the little district Federal courts, but that he would arrange a compromise with the Commissioners of Internal Revenue at Washington. I made an attempt for a compromise, expecting, Mr. Blackburn to do what he promised, but when the matter came up to be heard in Washington, Blackburn was down in Mexico. He never did in anyway look after the compromise so far as I can learn. But I said nothing about Blackburn's promise to me; I left under promise not to speak. My trial came on: I submitted and suffered the penalty of the court. Mr. Blackburn did not appear at court and didn't offer to assist me in any way. I still said nothing. After I had paid the penalty of the court and was released I got job with the Reynolds Tobacco Company, with headquarters in Texas. While attending to my work in Texas, I saw that Blackburn had made charges against Collector Harkins charging him with putting corrupt officials in Wilkes who with Harkins' consent colluded with the blockaders. I then decided it was time to protect myself and the officers from further misrepresentation and treachery on Blackburn's part, and I made the affidavit of my own accord and free will. I made it and mailed it in Texas, and Mr. Blackburn, knows that every word of it is the truth.

In the trial against me I could have shielded myself by swearing falsely, I did not do so, but suffered the penalty without a word. If I would lie for myself, it is unreasonable to say I would lie for others. When Blackburn says my affidavit is a "democratic lie" he simply lies, that's all.

In Self Defence
Major Hamm, editor and manager of the Constitutionalist, Empine, Ky., when he was fiercely attacked four years ago, by Piles, bought a box of Bucklen's Aniciz Salve, of which he says: "It cured me in ten days and no trouble since." Quickest healer of Burns, Sores, Cuts and Wounds. 25c at all Druggists.

The President's English.

Chaotic and Children.
Mr. Roosevelt has fallen at the feet of Carnegie and ordered the adoption of the reformed spelling about the White House. Old Charles B. Rouse was the pioneer in spelling words by sound but no body followed him, though he stuck to his text till the day of his death. The head of the nation occupies a position of vast power, but he is not big enough or strong enough to change the old 'Blue back' method of spelling. He cannot compel the editors (except the toadies who have no influence) to fall in line with his ukase. The present method of spelling is all right. The trouble is that so few of us have mastered the spelling book, though it is not a difficult matter. To begin all over again and adopt a new plan is a little too much to ask sensible people to do. Mr. Roosevelt is sometimes wise and often otherwise. He means well, but his fault is in jumping at a proposition before he has calmly considered it. Andrew Carnegie can give him many a lesson in handling iron, but when it comes to upsetting the world of letters, Mr. Roosevelt would better not listen to the cunny Scotchman, who perhaps never had the chance to learn how to spell.

This is sent out from Raleigh:
"From time to time the state papers have had something to say about the class of lawyers who variously as shysters and buzzards who as soon as a person is killed or seriously injured by a railway rush to the home and get the case, oftentimes taking advances, charging no fee but agreeing to take half the damages which may be received. Old lawyers, reputable men, are often heard to express surprise that these things go on and yet are loath to take the proceedings necessary to disarm people who do these things, but at last there has been a test case brought before the Supreme Court and pushed by an eminent lawyer, who will jar not a few of the shysters in North Carolina. The case is now being prepared and a lawyer who is behind it says something will drop and fall very hard.

Something may be done about this class of lawyers but we doubt it and it might be said in passing that if all the lawyers who solicit damage suit cases and bring them on contingent fees were disbarred there would be an astonishing decrease in the legal fraternity in North Carolina. The class is much larger than the general public suspects.—Landmark.

A Mystery Solved.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and causes pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
