WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

An appeal has been made to President Roosevelt by the Society of Friends of Philadelphia for the establishment of a permanent arbitration congress with the consent and co-operation of the other nations of the world. This plan is not so visionary and emotional as a good many of the peace plans put forward by international arbitration exponents. It recognizes the excellent work that has already been done by the Hague tribunal and does not propose to supplant that institution but rather to supplement its work by creating an international congress from which would emanate a code of international law.

International law as now understood is a somewhat hazy system. It is based entirely upon precedent and is interpreted variously according as suits the convenience of nations dealing with it. The plan submitted to the President provides for an international congress to meet at stated intervals with duly accredited representatives from the various adhering governments and empowers this congress to work out a fixed and definite international code which could be applied in practice before the Hague tribunal whenever occasion arose. President Roosevelt has expressed himself heartily in favor of the plan and has already laid the papers in the case before Secretary Root with a request that he sound the various foreign governments on the subject and if possible formulate a treaty which it would be agreeable for all of them to sign.

Speaking of treaties the extra session discussion has now assumed the phase where it is definitely announced in a good many papers that an extra session will be called after the 4th of March at which the Japanese school question with its resulting Japanese treaty, the Santo Domingo treaty and currency reform may all be calmly and leisurely discussed and disposed of without fuss or hurry. How correct this forecast will prove can be told better after the 4th of March. It is quite certain that there can be no serious attempt to consider the Santo Domingo treaty at the present session. The Japanese situation is in such a shape that the President and the State Department probably would rather have Congress out of the way while the details were being settled. Treaties, of course, are always discussed in executive session and equally, of course, the reports of these discussions are printed in the next issue of the newspapers to the inconvenience of the State Department and the pleasure of such senators as have anything to gain by mud digging the waters of diplomacy. Senator Beveridge says that the action of the Committee was mere subterfuge and aimed to prevent the bill from ever coming to a vote and relieve the members of Congress from the necessity of placing themselves in opposition to the measure.

There's a bill at Bowie, Texas, that's twice as big as this. I wonder if W. L. Hill, who from weight of 60 pounds has grown to over 180. He says "I've got a terrible cough, and doctors gave me up to die of consumption. I was reduced to go home. I began taking Dr. King's New Decoy for consumption, Coughs and Colds, and now, after taking 12 bottles, I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure Cure and safe cure. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50 cts. and $1. Trial bottles free.

Missionary—And do you know nothing whatever of religion? Cannibal—Well, we all did it when the last missionary was here—Cleveland.

down trodden farmer, and that it would enable him to use up all the surplus farm supplies even to the weeds in the fence corners for making denatured alcohol from which he could obtain heat, light and power. But since the free alcohol bill has passed it has been utterly nullified by the judges for its enforcement worked out by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The Bureau has made such regulations governing the production of such alcohol as actually prevents any but the already established distillers taking advantage of the law. The amended act provides for centrally located bonding and denaturing warehouses where the farmer can deliver his hot and get the benefit of government of supervision free of cost. It was stated when this amended bill was passed that there were but three interest against it. The whisky trust, the wood alcohol manufacturers and the Standard Oil Company. Whether the new law will prove any more benefit to the farmer than the old one can only be proved by experience.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has been working on a new scheme in connection with the dead letter office that is greatly expediting the work of that division of the Post Office Department and ought to result in giving a more prompt and effective service than has ever been given to the public by the Department before. Instead of holding letters in the dead letter office months at a time as has heretofore been the practice, a large force of clerks has been put to work opening and inspecting misdirected mail as soon as it reaches the office. All of the letters which can be returned to the senders are immediately forwarded and the aggregate value of this mail is shown from time to time that from $6000 to $10,000 a month is thus restored to mail transmitters in the inspected letters. Last month $8 per cent. of the mail which was received was sent back under the new system and in a little will be possible for all of them having the address of the sender inside to be returned as soon as it reaches the dead letter office.

Senator Beveridge has expressed himself very forcibly in the report of the Judiciary Committee of the House which returned his anti-child labor bill to the House Appropriation Committee desiring that it was impossible for the federal government to interfere with the internal affairs of the various states by prohibiting the products of child labor from entering Interstate Commerce. Senator Beveridge says that the action of the Committee was mere subterfuge and aimed to prevent the bill from ever coming to a vote and relieve the members of Congress from the necessity of placing themselves in opposition to the measure.

Gossip.

I certainly hate gossip.
I can't see why folks do it;
Just tell a silly story.
With not a true thing in it.

These summer hotel women
Don't hesitate a bit
To ruin a reputation,
And never enter a whit.

I simply will not gossip.
Oh, have you seen, my dear,
How Mrs. Smith is flirting
With every fellow here?

And Julia Jenkins told Ada
She saw her plain as day,
Kiss that young man from Boston
The night he went away.

I never would repeat it
To any one but you;
I never peddle gossip—
That's one thing I don't do.

But did you hear the Joneses
Have got a motor now?
Well, if they've got it paid for,
I'm sure I don't know how.

For my masseuse told me
She hadn't paid her bill.
But when I know or such things
I don't talk; I keep still.

Why, I could tell you something
About the Brown divorce,
I guess would make that woman
Come off of her high horse.

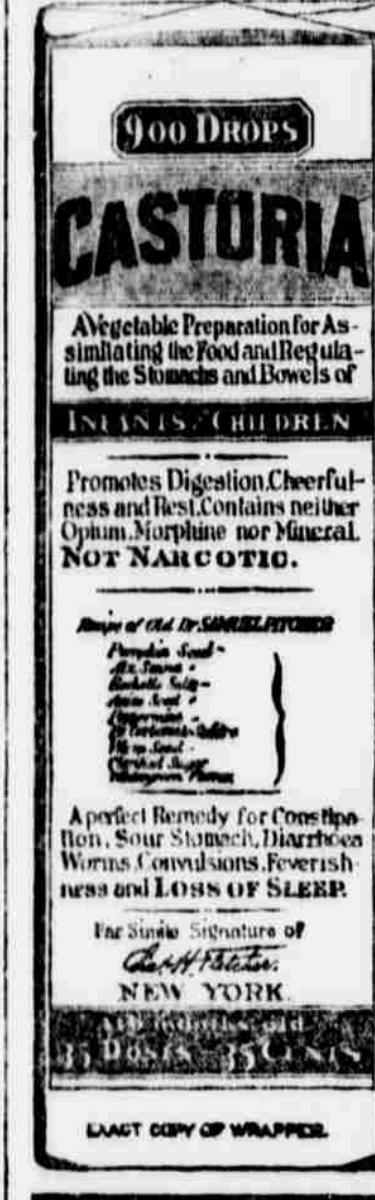

And that blonde, Mrs. Sniffen—
You think it real? Not me!
The roots are dark Peroxide,
My dear, it's plain to see.

Just hear that woman talking!
Her husband's coming down.
You ought to hear my husband
Tell how he acts in town.

Miss Jenkins Did she tell you
I paint? The spiteful cat!
Because her own skin's yellow,
To say a thing like that!

There's such a talky set here;
That's why I know so few,
I can't stand folk who gossip.
I never, never do!

Weak Women

frequently suffer great pain and misery during the change of life. It is at this time that the beneficial effect of taking Cardui is most appreciated, by those who find that it relieves their distress.

TAKE CARDUI!

It Will Help You

Mrs. Lucinda C. Hill, of Freeland, O., writes: "Before I began to take Cardui, I suffered so badly I was afraid to lie down at night. After I began to take it I felt better in a week. Now my pains have gone. I can sleep like a girl of 16 and the change of life has nearly left me." Try Cardui.

AT ALL DRUG STORES

There never was a thin woman who would admit that she was that way all over.
