

Our Legislative Representatives.

Last Sunday's News and Observer contained pictures and brief sketches of the various members of both houses of the Legislature and has the following to say of Senator Lovill:

"E. F. Lovill was born in Surry county February 10th, 1842. He was educated in the common schools of his county and at East Bend High School. Full of energy and ambition he began the study of law and today is one of the leading practitioners of his sections. He was a Confederate soldier and served with distinction as Captain of Company A. Twenty-Eighth North Carolina Regiment. He was wounded three times at Gettysburg, Reams Station and at Jones' Farm. He was married to Miss Josephine Marion, of Surry county, February 15th, 1866. He is one of the most influential and leading citizens of the State, and has represented his county and district in the House of Representatives and Senate a number of times. In 1893 to 1897 he was Commissioner to the Chippewa Indians, and chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Appalachian Training School at Boone. He was chairman of the Committee on Manufacturing and served as a member of the following committees: Appropriations, Pensions, Education Internal Improvements, Finance, Insane, Public Buildings and Grounds.

"Senator Lovill was especially interested in the cause of education. He is an eloquent speaker, devoted to the upbuilding of the State, and was particularly interested in the passage of the bill that will insure the building of a railroad through two counties in his district—Ashe and Alleghany. His campaign for election was one of the most notable of 1906. The district had become what most people regarded as hopelessly Republican. When nominated, Capt. Lovill, who, though a Confederate veteran, has more vim than many young men, entered the campaign resolved to win. He was one of the men who believed the Democrats could succeed and the victory was largely due to his magnificent campaign and his personal popularity."

Of Representative W. D. Farthing it says: "W. D. Farthing, of Matney, Watauga county, was born June 7th, 1875, in that county, and was educated at Holly Springs College in Tenn., and at the University of Oklahoma. He went west at 20 years, but returned to North Carolina in 1906, when he was married, and was elected to the House of Representatives. On April 21st, 1906, he was married to Miss Beulah Edmisten of Watauga county. His profession is farming, and he is a highly esteemed citizen of his county, his people sending him to the House with a majority of 107 votes. He is a member of the Baptist church. Mr. Farthing devoted his efforts in the Legislature principally to the securing of local acts, and he served on the following committees: Constitutional Amendments, Education and Oyster Industry.

The office of the Collector of Internal Revenue is very soon to be removed from Asheville to Statesville, where it was back in the 70's when Dr. J. J. Mott was Collector. It was still there when he was succeeded by the late T. N. Cooper until 1885. It afterwards went to Newton, then to Salisbury then back to Statesville and then to Asheville.

No Court This Week.

At the usual court hour on Monday morning a large concourse of people assembled in the village but the news was soon heralded among the crowd that Judge Peebles was confined at his home with a severe attack of Grippe, but hoped to be on hand by Tuesday morning. A letter from the Judge to Solicitor Linney followed, asking that if he did not arrive by Wednesday to have court adjourned until Next Mouday morning, and as he had not yet come yesterday his orders were carried out.

All jurors summoned for both the first and second weeks; all plaintiffs, defendants, witnesses, etc., are expect to be present on Monday morning next, at which time, the Judge writes Sheriff Hodges, he will be on hand and court will be convened.

Of course this delay will entail quite an expense on the county, but it seems to be one of the unavoidable. We take it that the Judge was entirely unable to attend or he would have been here.

A Greensboro special of the 22nd says: "In the Federal Court this morning sentence against the following Wilkes county men, who had pleaded guilty of illicit distilling, was deferred until the regular term of court beginning in April: Carl Eller, Jas. Ellis, W. R. Combes, Adney Foster, Garfield Foster, Jas. Eller, and W. S. Smithy.

"Judge Boyd said he would give the defendants until then to get the cash ready, it being understood that fines ranging from $100 to $500."

Ex Deputy Collector R. H. Hardin, of Wilkes, was convicted of false returns of destruction of still, and fined $500.

Distiller Poley Halfer, of Alexander, plead guilty of removing and concealing, fined $500.

Distiller James Combs, Wilkes, plead guilty of removing and concealing, fined $1,000.

Z. C. Davis, of Haywood, plead guilty of filing false vouchers fined $300.

Ex-Deputy Collector L. E. Davis, of Wilkes, plead guilty of filing false vouchers, one year in the Atlanta penitentiary and fined $1,000. Judge Boyd deems Davis the "king bee" of the entire squad. He said it was surprising how moderate moonshining had been in Wilkes in 1904 and 1905, considering that the revenue officers had practically given up the territory to them.

Laconics.

For near 2,000 years, Caesar's famous dispatch, "Veni vidi vici" has been quoted as one of the most terse communications ever made. But it has been criticised as being too long. His critics say that it was only necessary for Caesar to unite "Vici" as the others would be implied for how could he conquer if he did not come and how could he conquer if he did come, unless he saw how.

I don't know whether Jesse B. Miller, of the South Fork of New river ever thought of contesting the rights with Ceasor or not.

But a young Alex, that had a very high opinion of himself, went to Esq. Miller for some information and said: "Mr. Miller you are an older man than I am, had much more experience than I and possibly smarter than I am." Jesse replied, 'I'd think.'

In Memory.

Jacob Frederick Wagner, father of Rev. Geo. S. Wagner, of the Holston Conference, was born in Johnson County, Tenn., Dec. 29, 1831, and died Feb. 13, 1907, aged 75 years, 3 months and 15 days. He suffered greatly for a week before his death, but prayed fervently to die easy and his end was sweetly peaceful.

He was married to Miss Mary E. Fry of Pearisburg Va, in 1859, and had 12 children, 8 sons and 4 daughters. He leaves a widow and 9 children to mourn their loss.

He was converted and joined the M. E. Church South in 1880, under the preaching of Rev. F. A. Austin, at Henson's Chapel. He was a kind, indulgent father and husband; a strong and substantial citizen; a man with convictions of his own and with moral courage to stand by those convictions. He loved to discuss religious themes and strongly advocated the doctrine of sanctification to the writer. He was a whole-hearted man, given to hospitality. He was a true hearted man, seeking to owe no man anything. He was a happy-hearted being, full of good cheer. He was not a man who seemed to want to accumulate any great fortune and never did, but he always had something to divide with the poor and needy and his house was the preacher's home. He gladly shared what he had with God's ministers, his friends and neighbors, and they loved him. We feel sure that he did not live in vain, but through his afflictions he had that kind, tender, care that a father of such noble character should have—the gain of victorious palms and an immortal crown.

At Valle Crucis, by the side of the beautiful Watauga, we laid his body to rest in the grave till the resurrection morning, then we shall see him again, where sorrow is unknown and where separations never come.

Plans for an historical exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition, are already underway which will show the strength, growth, independence and progress of the American nation as influenced by the Presbyterian and Reform churches.

Three scholarships for Chinese girls have been offered at Wellesley College, and the Empress of China will select the girls who shall come to America to accept them.

Major Seely of the British army says that married soldiers are the bravest. Perhaps they are so accustomed to a row they don't mind it much.

It is now thought that if no railroad takes hold of the Wilkes bore and Jefferson turnpike an independent company may be formed.

The Agricultural Department is shipping the State's exhibit to Samesstown. It is supposed there will be five car loads.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the Kings household, but yours, ours, every body's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attacks, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

It is announced that Mr. J. W. Bailey, editor and manager of the Biblical Recorder for the past 15 or 16 years, is going to retire from the news paper field and enter the legal profession. His successor is Rev. C. W. Blanchard of Clayton, N. C.

Senator Burton, of Kansas, who has just served out a term in prison, returned home and met with a royal reception. He says that five days after he went to jail the President offered him a pardon, but would neither answer nor accept a pardon from him. He is of the opinion that the President is the fellow who needs a pardon.

Spring Medicine

The best is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best because it does the most good. While it makes the blood pure, fresh and lively, it tones the stomach to better digestion, creates an appetite, stimulates the kidneys and liver, gives new brain, nerve and digestive strength. An unequalled list of cures—40,366 testimonials in two years—proves its merit.

Sarsaparilla—For those who prefer medicine in tablet form, Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in equalized tablets called Sarsatabs, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsatabs have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy, there being no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass. Mrs. J. F. Gos, 50 Gould Street, Newham, Mass., says: "I, 23 years experience, have never known Hood's Sarsaparilla to fail, for spring humors and as a general blood purifier; it cures scrofula, eczema, has no equal as a general purifier, giving medicine. It gives me genuine satisfaction to say this."
