A Fierce Night Alarm
is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Caambin of Manchester, O. [R. R. No. 2] for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved that a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery, is, we have fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you, Asthma, Hay Fever, Grippe, Whooping Cough, Hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free. Sold by all druggists.

The Extra Session.
Charlotte Chronicle.

Some interesting things are expected to occur in the extra session of Congress, when, for perhaps the first time, we will find the Democrats lined up with a Republican President against his party. The Canadian reciprocity bill will be passed and taking advantage of their opportunities, the Democrats will be able to fulfill some of their party pledges in the matter of tariff reform. In giving an outline of the probable proceedings, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says that one question that is dividing the Democrats is whether it shall be put through at once or be made to wait the passage of general tariff bills to be framed by the new ways and means committee. The weight of opinion today is that the Democratic House will pass a bill revising the wool schedule and another putting certain food stuffs on the free list before it takes up reciprocity. Standing upon the mandate of the mandate of the constitution which requires that all bills affecting revenues shall originate in the lower house of Congress, the Senate expects to wait for the coming of the reciprocity from the House. This means that it must mark time for a considerable period. Knowing that the Democratic House will take up some general legislation, the Senate will not attempt to limit its work to reciprocity and the tariff. It will seek to avoid a general opening of the legislative gates. This correspondent further says it is no secret that the Democrats feel inclined to do anything they can to help President Taft, so long as it does not clash with party policy. This is chiefly due to the fact that the President postponed the calling of the extra session from March 15 to April 4, in deference to the wishes of Democrats who wanted time to organize. The purpose in passing several general tariff bills first would not be primarily to delay the reciprocity agreement, if, indeed, that reason would figure in the question at all. What the Democrats want is to inebriate the people their intention of reducing the tariff along the line as soon as possible and they believe it would be good policy to start in on the program "right off the bat." They regard reciprocity as but a part of their program and desire that the country thoroughly understand that fact. Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, chairman of the ways and means committee, believes that it will be forty days before the House passes the reciprocity bill. It is understood that the measure will be introduced by Representative Andrew J. Peters, of Massachusetts, a member of the committee, and will be known as the Peters bill. Of course it will be identical with the McCall bill of the session just closed. The Democratic leaders have given their word to President Taft that they will do everything in their power to put through the agreement at the extra session without any amendment that would affect its ratification by Canada.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments.

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know it." M. B. Blackburn.

Young Man, What Are You Doing for Yourself?

We saw the other day in some paper an advertisement which read something like this: "Young man, what are you doing for yourself?" We may say this was a business college advertisement, and while we do not believe in a great many claims that business colleges make, still we were struck with the thought. Would that every young man and every young lady would ask himself or herself, "What am I doing for myself?"

We do not mean that young people should ask themselves how much money they are "laying up," how fast they are getting rich, or how many great and swell social functions they can get into. All these are very nice in their places, but they have very little to do with making the man or woman, but they often have much to do with unmaking men and women.

We mean first, what are you doing to prepare that mind of yours to serve you in all the various vicissitudes of life? Are you taking advantage of the opportunities that are being presented to you? There was a time when men could hide behind the excuse "I never had a chance?" That time, along with many other things for which we have no use, has been relegated to the past. No boys, and especially no girl, can afford in this age of educational advantages to be found wanting in those cultured accomplishments which distinguish the educated from the uneducated. How often do we see boys and girls who know a great deal more about how to play cards, finish or whist than they do about Shakespeare, Milton, Burns, Poe or Whittier. Many boys know more about the history of a Chicago baseball pitcher than they do about George Washington, General Grant or General Lee. Many a girl can tell you the exact cut of every dress in church but would be unable to tell you the first division of the preacher's sermon.

Learning, culture and refinement come to those who wait on them and to no other. Most people would be pleased, most would have learning and culture, but they are unwilling to pay the price. They are unwilling to subject themselves so that long course of discipline and self-denial which becomes necessary for every person who would seek these things.

Many begin and make splendid beginnings too, but lack the courage to finish. Entirely too many of our young men stop school to go to work with the idea that they must be making something, not realizing that the most important work they can do is to make men of themselves. Too many of our girls stop school with the idea that these things have no attraction for them. "O, well," they say "this is all very nice if it didn't take so long." They get married as soon as possible with the idea that the chief thing for which a girl was made is to get married.

Some plead poverty, yet we find that there are none so poor that they may not become cultured if only the will is found.

The state has placed an elementary school in the reach of every child. It has placed a high school in practically every county where each student may receive high school instruction without tuition. Alexander county has two. Then higher institutions are practically given free tuition throughout the college course.

A second thought comes to us on the moral side. What are you

New Yorker King of the canibal Island.

The German trading schooner Triton, which has arrived here from the South Seas, brings a tale of a former New Yorker who now rules as king of Aorai, one of the Ma hal Islands. Two months ago when the Triton arrived off Aorai Island to barter with the natives the discovery was made that the ruler of this beautiful island was none other than Archibald C. Everett, who seven years ago was a resident of New York.

Financial reverses then caused Everett to pack up his summer flannels and silk shirts and seek his fortune in the sea. After various adventures he landed at Aorai and brought forth his beautiful raiment. His conquest was immediate and complete. Dusk maidens were captivated by this fair skinned youth and the natives decided he should be crowned king. He was called "Eramora" (the immaculate one).

His subjects catch sharks and coconuts for barter with the trading steamers. The native girls sing to him and fan him during his siestas. He wears always his royal raiment—white duck trousers, a silk shirt and a scarf of colors.

The Triton also brought news of the death of old Chief Kabua, who ruled over a neighboring island, and of the cruel decree promulgated and carried out by the young Chief Iai, who swings at Kabua's scepter. Iai issued a royal proclamation ordering every native woman on the island to shear her tresses. There was weeping and wailing, of course, but all obeyed the order. The shorn tresses were delivered to the head man of each village and by him burned.

What can be more unkind than to communicate our low spirits to others, to go about the world like demons, poisoning the fountains of joy? Have I more light because I have managed to involve those I love in myself? It is not pleasant to see the sun sinking on the mountain, even though we have none down in our valley? Oh, the littleness and the meanness of that sickly appetite for sympathy, which will not let us keep our sorrow to ourselves! Let us hide our pains and sorrows. But, while we hide them, let also be spurs within us to urge us on to all manner of overflowing kindness and sunny humor to those around us.—F. W. Faber.

doing for yourself along the line of training your conscience to guide you right or rather allowing it to be your guide without dwarfing it. Much may be said on this but space will not permit now.

Young man, young lady, ask yourself what you are doing for yourself. Remember that culture and refinement are in store for all who are willing to do the work to get it.

Miss Holman in Statesville.
Statesville Landmark.

Miss Holman, the professional nurse who spent several years in Mitchell county and then told, according to newspaper reports, wonderful stories in Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Baltimore and other places about the ignorance and destitution in Mitchell, to which reports and to criticism of Miss Holman, much space was given in the newspapers some weeks ago, spent last Thursday night in Statesville, stopping at Hotel Fredell.

Friday morning Miss Holman visited the Sanatorium and other places leaving on the west-bound train, presumably for her old home in Mitchell. Her presence in Statesville was known to but few people until she was leaving. It is understood that Miss Holman made reference to the Mitchell county affair and while she claimed, as was expected, that reports of her statements were exaggerated, she also contended that some of the statements were correct and founded on fact.

Miss Holman will probably tell the Mitchell folks she didn't say it.

Are You Educated?

A professor in the University at Chicago, says that when you can answer each of the following questions in the affirmative that you are educated. Read 'em and then tell us whether you've got it or not:

Has your education given sympathy with all good causes and made you expound them?

Has it made you a brother to the weak?

Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

Can you look an honest man or a pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as comfortable with high thinking as piano-playing or golf?

Are you good for anything to yourself? Can you be happy alone?

Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see anything in the puddle but mud?

Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?

Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidney. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful Remedy cured me completely. Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at all druggist.

Warning to railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder troubles resulting from years of railroad. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroad left my kidneys in a terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." M. B. Blackburn.
