

PHILANTHROPY.

Here is the difference between religious and secular philanthropy. Secular philanthropy loves and helps men directly, for themselves. Religious philanthropy loves and helps men in God. Secular philanthropy has often a tendency to despise the people the people whom it helps. Its pity is streaked with scorn or disgust. Religious philanthropy is always growing, as it becomes more religious, more reverent toward the beggar whom it feeds, or the sick man whose bed it smooths. Secular philanthropy is always dwelling on the duty of charity. Religious philanthropy is the overflow of brotherly kindness, the communion of the Holy Ghost. There is much of the so-called religious philanthropy that never gets above the secular spirit, and much of the so-called secular philanthropy that is loftier and finer and more religious than it knows; but there are the distinctions that lie between the help which men give to one another for themselves and the help which they give to one another for the love of God, whose love enwraps them both. As we come to God the Holy Ghost we come to one another. He is the constructive principle and power in human life. By him every society of good is bound together. By Him the Christian church rises into the sky of God's grace like a majestic tree full of all precious fruit. By Him the family wins a new sacredness, and every friendship of men who are trying to serve God is bound into indissoluble union with an unseen but strong compulsion. If you are afraid of yourself as you find how you are drawing away from your fellow men and growing into a more and more selfish life, you must come to God; you must enter into the communion of the Holy Ghost. If you have a quarrel which you hate and know is miserable, but which holds you fast, your only recourse is to the communion of the Holy Ghost. Come there and your quarrel will break and scatter like the ice melts when coming into the sun. If you are in a state of narrowness, to sympathize with a brother in form of life or faith are other than your own, still it is in the communion of the Holy Ghost that you must find the broader spirit. It is the communion of a common forgiveness and a common inspiration. As in an oblation men and women gather from their several mountains to one common fountain and meet one another there, so they who need the help and pardon and comfort of God, coming to get them from the everlasting Comforter, meet one another in Him.—Philip Brooks.

A Tribute to His Mother.

Following is an extract from a speech made by Secretary Daniels on the occasion of his birthday at Washington N. C. this week. This tribute to his mother is truly a gem, and characteristic of the great heart that inspired it:

"All that I am, if there is any worth in me, I owe to my mother. All that any man ever has been or ever will be he is due to his mother. It is she that made him; she fixed his character, fixed his soul, shaped his career. No good man, no great man, was ever reared by a weak or vicious mother. Whenever a big task looms up before me, whenever a mountain of adversity towers ahead of me, whenever the sky seems darkest and stormiest, I recall the placid face of my courageous widowed mother. I go back again to the days of childhood. I feel the glow of her radiant countenance, the courage of her calm, steady eyes, the fire of her dauntless soul. She still lives, thank God, and is here with us today, as when I was a bare-foot boy, and guides my life now as then. It will ever be so; it is so with all men. All that I have done in life, except my mistakes, should be credited to my mother. My weekly newspaper in Wilson, my daily newspaper in Raleigh, my work in state and national politics, my present official promotion, offering opportunities for large service, all is hers and I only the instrument. All my power has come from her and everything I have tried to do of value that has met with your approval are tributes to the brave, noble, unselfish, heroic woman who took Christ for her master and in poverty and travail taught her boys to follow the flag of duty and never to strike their colors."

MUST MAKE GOOD.

The Lenoir News. This paragraph clipped from a recent talk with President Woodrow Wilson made to a group of California public school boys, is a good message which ought to be prominently impressed on all boys everywhere: I dare say you think that school masters are often a bit hard on you in requiring you to do things in order that you may pass the tests of the school, but I want to warn you that after you get out of school you are going to have harder school masters than you ever had before. For the world requires that you make good; no matter what happens, and the man who does things amounts to a great deal more than the man who wishes he might have done things and who promises that he will do things.

The good roads work will soon begin in Morganton township, and we predict that they will spread rapidly. Already news reaches us that many who were opposed a few months ago in some of the adjoining townships now are in favor of securing them. This is good news, and shows that our people as a whole are awakening to the importance of such.—Morganton Messenger.

A GOOD STORY.

Many stories are in circulation connecting Mark Twain with his old home, Hartford, not all of which can be vouched for. This is one of the good ones. Dr. Doane, now bishop of Albany, preached an unusually good sermon here one morning and Mark heard it. Stepping up to the clergyman after the service, Mark said:

"I have enjoyed your sermon this morning. I welcomed it as I would an old friend. I have a book at home that contains every word in it."

"Why that can't be, Mr. Clemmens," replied the doctor.

"All the same, it is so," said Mr. Clemmens.

"Well, I certainly would like to see that book," rejoined the doctor with dignity.

"All right," replied Mark; "you shall have it." And the next morning Dr. Doane received with Mark Twain's compliments a dictionary.

Pains in the Stomach.

If you continually complain of pains in the stomach, your liver or your kidneys are out of order. Neglect may lead to dropsy, kidney trouble, diabetes or Bright's disease. Thousands recommend Electric Bitters as the very best stomach and kidney medicine made. H. T. Alston, of Raleigh, N. C., who has suffered with pain in the stomach and back, writes: "My kidneys were deranged and my liver did not work right, I suffered very much, but Electric Bitters was recommended and I improved from the first dose. I now feel like a new man." It will improve you, too. Only 50c and $1. Recommended by all dealers.

"The backbone of the good old Republican party is as good as ever," says a northern exchange. May be so, but there's mighty little meat left on it.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from it, or your money will be refunded. O. H. Brown, of Muscatine, Iowa, writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstructed cough, and I honestly believed her to be near her end for Dr. King's New Discovery she would not be gone today. Known for forty years, it is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1. Recommended by all dealers."

There is only one thing that can be said in favor of the climate in the world below and that is that people can get up picnics without fearing a rain.

Heed the Cough that Hangs On.

The seeds of consumption may be the cause, and a cough that hangs on weakens the system. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound checks the cough, heals the inflamed membranes and strengthens the lungs. E. D. Rowntree, Stillmore Ga., says: "Lagrippe left me a deep seated, hacking, painful cough which Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured." For sale by all dealers.

There are 56,627,000 cattle on farms in the United States, says a Government report.

Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed of all trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney pills. They cured me. There is no work so hard as trying to keep up the impression that you are a good fellow.

Cough Medicine for Children.

Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all dealers.
