Some three years ago a group of men got it into their heads that they were "standing at Armageddon" and kept on thinking they were right there till they came to and slipped away.—Wilmington Star.

Traveling Man's Experience

"In the summer of 1888 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me from four a. m. to 6 p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter 50 cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and take no substitute. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. Ireland, Louisville, Ky. Obtainable everywhere.

One of our prominent and usually wide awake citizens was recently caught "napping" by a range peddler, who showed him some scraps of iron and "soft-soaped" him into subscribing for sixty-nine dollars' worth. When he awoke and realized how completely the hide had been taken off him, he paid said peddler ten dollars to get out of it. Then he went to Burgie's to see some sure enough ranges and bought a "King," paying only a little more than half as much and getting a better one. "It is to laugh," but not at this "prominent citizen," but at the hundred or more others who, after finding they were skinned alive, did not have the judgment to draw heed.—Avery Herald.
