NO 13.

Our Lost Province.

North Carolina's Alsace and Loraine were not torn from her by any foreign invader, but merely allowed to drift away through neglect; but they are none the less effectually gone. The territory west of the Blue Ridge belongs, in large part, to Tennessee and Virginia simply because the mighty barrier, that bars them from North Carolina has not been pierced by North Carolina, and it is not duplicated on the other side. It has been comparatively easy for Virginia and Tennessee to get into these counties; so gradually they have been lost, socially and commercially to North Carolina.

But they can be recovered. They will be recovered, if the program of the North Carolina Good Roads association is adopted by the legislature now in session. The program is based on the State as a unit, but at the same time it provides for the equal and simultaneous development of all sections. It is not proposed to build a complete system of highways in one month or in one year; but it is proposed to do each year the same proportion of the entire job in every section. For instance, if it is decided to build, the first year, say 20 per cent of the mileage in the piedmont, then it will be necessary to build that same 20 per cent of mileage in the mountains, and likewise 20 per cent of the mileage down by the sea. Thus the entire system will be brought to completion at approximately the same time, and no charges of favoritism can be brought. To be sure, under that system it may be necessary to wait until Ashe, and Bladen counties are both developed before we have roads from anywhere to anywhere. Two and a quarter million people may be compelled to wait on the convenience of a quarter million. But if such a compromise is necessary to keep down sectional jealousy that would threaten the whole program, why we, for one, are willing to accept it.

The point is, this program will inevitably reclaim the lost provinces, although that is only one incidental benefit among greater ones. It will make North Carolina a real social and commercial unit. It will open up to every section the markets of every other section. It will make the farm produce of the entire State available to city residents; and will open the city markets to every farmer. It will do more than any one other thing to break the dependence of North Carolina on the middle west for feed and foodstuffs. It will do more than any one other thing to make food and feedstuffs money crops for the North Carolina farmer. It will at once enable the farmer to sell cheaper and the townsman to buy cheaper, for it will take the mud tax off farm produce and allow producer and consumer to split it, to their mutual profit.

But most important of all, it will tend toward the development of better schools, better homes, better churches all over N. C. Since the State is still rural by a heavy majority, this is of utmost importance to its future development.

The adoption of a first-class road program will reclaim the lost province beyond the Blue Ridge; but it will do a great deal more than that—it will do much to reclaim for North Carolina the ground she has lost since 1776, when she was the third State in the Union.—Greensboro News.

Letter From Missionary T. L. Blalock.

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS: We have been on the field about two months and all hands are down to their work. Our eight new missionaries are giving their time to the study of the language and are doing well in it. Brother Laraway and myself are doing our part in looking after the work here and in the country. Notwithstanding I have been away two years, and he is new in the work here, we seem to be getting our hands pretty well on the situation, but we will be able to more fully do so at the end of this year.

As some of you remember, before I left China over two years ago, we had asked the North China Baptist Mission, of the F. M. B., to send a family to help us, because we were short of workers. They sent Mr. and Mrs. Dawes, and when they were getting off on furlough last summer, Mr. and Mrs. Connelly came and took their places for the time being; but it was recently decided by the executive committee of the North China Baptist Mission to withdraw all their workers at the end of this year. This leaves us of the China Direct Mission alone with our own work in our own field. We appreciate the spirit and kindness of the executive committee in their decision, and we are truly grateful for all their mission has helped in this time of need and sore lack of missionaries.

Some changes will need to be made in our work and we shall have some serious problems to meet. Notwithstanding this, our prospects for getting down to a more spiritual basis here, were never better. We are earnestly praying for a genuine revival and more God-called laborers from among the Chinese. To this end pray with us and for us.

We have had but few letters from home since our arrival, and today I ran up our expense accounts for the past month and was astonished to see the increased cost of living here now. But we feel confident that God, through you, will supply our needs. We have proven His faithfulness over and over, until we count it a joy to trust and wait upon Him, walking by faith and not by sight.

To friends who enquire as to know how to send money to China. I wish to say, buy from your nearest bank a check on a New York, Chicago or St. Louis City Bank, and make the check payable to the person to whom the money is being forwarded. Put the same in a letter and direct it to our address in China—postage 5c. This can be done by your association treasurer, treasurer of your church or any individual.

T. L. BLALOCK,
Fai An Fin, Shantung China.

Governor Morrison's Program.

We must enforce the law against crime in our state with God-like impartiality and justice.

We must take humane humane care of all our defective and unfortunate people, whose defects and misfortunes are of a character that they cannot care for themselves.

We must throw around the home and life of our people an enlightened world's knowledge of preventive medicine and make ceaseless war upon sickness.

We must make the common schools for the training and education of our children as good as any in the world.

We must make the State University . . . Every one of its institutions for higher learning, adequate to discharge the glorious opportunities which our progress places upon them.

We must have good surfaced roads in the state. The main highways must be of hard surface, and dependable every day in the year.

We are ready to meet the reactionary and do battle with him in our determination to build this great system of state highways.

We must adopt a new system of taxation in which state taxation and county and other local taxation will be completely separated.

I most earnestly desire that we may unite for these larger and more pressing purposes.

Is It Good Business

Some Banks pay their Depositors no interest. Some Banks pay interest. Banks which have enjoyed the rich harvest of using the money of their depositors without paying interest therefore claim it can't be done.

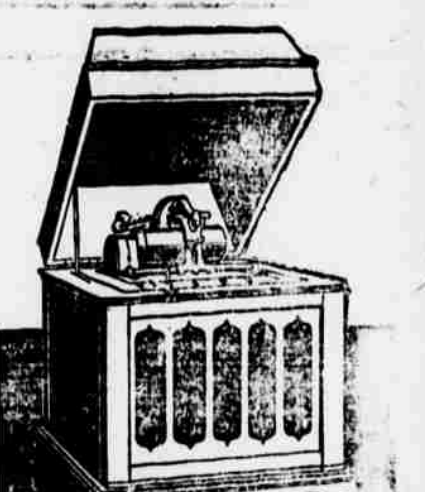

Well, IT IS DONE
The Bank of Boone pays 2 per cent per annum on Monthly Balances on all Checking accounts.

It pays 4 per cent per annum on Certificates of Deposit, 3 months or over. It pays 5 per cent per annum on Savings Accounts compounded semi-annually.
