Judge Harding in one note in his charge on Monday to the grand jury which has perhaps never before been sounded so forcibly in a court here. That is he is of the opinion that the law must be no respecter of persons, positions or rank. That it is right for a banker to collect eight per cent interest when the law stipulates six, it perhaps is not wrong for the hiltite to make machines; that if it is right for the prospher to drive a six-cylinder scouner at 50 feet, as opposed to the legal 35, then why is it wrong for a poor layman to be a violator of law? The judge is a firm believer in weighing all in the same balances and his message struck a religious chord in the hearts of his hearers. So long as men in the latter stations of life violate the laws of the state with impunity, so long will it be hard to educate the wage-earner to right living. According to the direction in which the leaders go, shall be determined the course of the herd.

One man who has the distinction of having heard every charge made by a judge in a Watauga court for fifty years, says two, says Judge Harding gave the jury the most able instructions of them all.

Seeing as how we are now blessed with a hot dog establishment and "Coney City" amid in the crowd, an institution made possible by a closing of the doors over the public with, we are just wondering if the authorities who grant these licenses and requests might not offer to sell a few lots in the street. It is likely others would like to dispense new beer and hamburgers could they get suitable locations. Numerous requests have been made upon us to denounce this action of somebody in allowing a house to be built in the street for private purposes, and we will attempt to do so, by saying it is a little the "outraged" thing we have seen or heard of. It has been freely suggested that if the eyes cannot be officially moved, it will be necessary for conscientious objectors to make away with it. Let's plant them in a garden of roses. If our town ever amounts to more, it must be not only serviceable, but beautiful.

SEARCHING FOR BEAR TRAPS

Our professional patriotic readers for peace are now bursting with delight because they learn Great Britain warmly welcomes in official circles the suggestion of President Coolidge that a conference be held aimed at limiting land armament as well as naval armament. The world wants peace of course—that is the people do, but why follow the ostrich back home. Of course President Coolidge's suggestion that land armaments be reduced is welcomed by the British. Why not? Britain's safety depends upon the sea and in the air, not on the land. Having judged the Allies lean navy to a point where it is all but unopposed and stolon such a lead in the air that we may never catch up, the further suggestion that we consider a reduction in land strength comes as a voluntary boon to the dem of international manipulators. Seemingly whenever we wander into the land of diplomacy we invariably get our foot caught in a bear trap. If we are unable to get caught any other way we are likely to go out and look for it.

Mrs. Mary Schalte of Long Island celebrates her hundredth birthday but awakens the following morning with a headache. Without boasting we have done that much ourselves and we are no century plant.

The wearing of pajamas on the Atlantic City beach is to be forbidden. The girls promise to obey without protest.

Now we are told that the Prince of Wales may go on a cruise. Wonder if he'll fall off the boat.

Stop Night Coughing This Simple Way

People who have persistent, annoying coughing spells at night, and who through loss of vitality, sleep are weakening their systems and lying themselves open to dangerous diseases, stop their distressing trouble promptly by a very simple treatment. Hundreds who have hardly been able to rest at all for coughing, have gotten their full night's sleep the very first time they tried it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds, before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic croup—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. It is on sale at all good druggists. Ask for
