

Milk for Health Drive Is Launched Locally

during the week of March 14-20 every effort will be put forth by this local group to show the people of Boone and the county at large the completeness, cheapness and accessibility of milk as a food, especially for growing children.

Smith Hagaman will act as executive chairman of the local campaign, while Gordon Battle, of the State Health Department will be actively in charge of the work, which will be carried on through churches, schools and other agencies. Arrangements are being made for speakers to address the student bodies of all Watauga schools during the week, and various contests and other features are expected to attract an unusual interest. In addition to numerous local prizes, Governor O. Max Gardner is offering two silver loving cups, one for the best essay on milk by a high school student, and the other for the best essay on the same subject prepared by a graded school student. Dr. J. M. Parrott also offers a cup for the most significant poster, and Drs. Brooks and Allen will award two cups for the best milk rhymes by graded and high school students.

The following committees were appointed at the Friday night meeting, all of which are now bending every effort to make the Milk-for-Health campaign in Watauga a success:

School Activities—Mrs. Bynum Taylor, Chappell Wilson and Sam F. Horton.

Finance—Trey Council and Dr. G. K. Moose.

School Speakers—Dr. J. M. Gaither and Mayor J. M. Moretz.

Publicity—R. C. Rivers and L. G. Greer.

Publication—Mrs. John Horton and Gordon Battle.

At the meeting of Boone Civitan Club Thursday various details of the work will be discussed and more definite plans formulated.

Graybeal Youth Dies In Tennessee Hospital to high school. On the Sunday night of the shooting, Penington gave a glove belonging to a young lady to a friend, asking her to return it, as he "was leaving." The idea occurred to those who witnessed the conversation that the young man meant he was leaving the state, when, in truth, he was only returning to school here. At the hearing given him Saturday, he won a perfect alibi.

Graybeal, before his death, is alleged to have told friends that he knew who did the shooting, but so far as can be learned, he never divulged the name of the guilty one.

Has Six Children in State College Here

The Skyland Post of West Jefferson last week carried the following story which should be of interest to friends of Appalachian State College here:

"If Professor C. M. Dickson were to see fit to withdraw his support from the Appalachian Teachers College at Boone, the said school would begin to feel that the depression is on."

"It was learned here Monday that Professor Dickson has six children in school at Boone and that by the end of the summer term he will have eight children enrolled in the college. One of this number is a daughter-in-law."

As a promoter of common sense education, Professor Dickson is practicing what he so ably preaches, and is preparing his sons and daughters to carry on in the future."

REVIVAL MEETING IN PROGRESS AT BLOWING ROCK BAPTIST

The revival meeting which began at Blowing Rock Baptist Church on Sunday are drawing exceedingly large crowds and the interest being manifested is described as phenomenal by the pastor, Rev. P. A. Hicks, who is being assisted in the pulpit by the Reverends W. C. Payne and W. D. Ashley. Peoples of all denominations are flocking to the evening services in increasing numbers, and a deep spiritual interest is said to be apparent in the audiences. Only one service is being conducted each day, the hour being 7:30 p. m. The meetings are expected to continue throughout next week.

OBITUARY

Maria Edith Henson, daughter of Charles Ely and Hattie Mae Henson, was born May 22, 1910 and died February 8, 1932, aged 21 years eight and one-half months. She is survived by her father and mother, seven brothers, Russell, Clyde, Ford, Ralph, Vance, Harold, Allen, and three sisters, Mabel, Lucy and Myrtle, all of whom reside in Watauga County. Five of the brothers and sisters are serving as teachers in the county.

The story of the life of the deceased is one of orderly development and beauty throughout its duration. In early childhood she became conscious and aware of God's super-vision of the life of this world. She fell in love with God's Book, with His love and with His people. Readily she became a faithful pupil in Sabbath School. In her thirteenth year she made a public profession of faith in Jesus Christ as her Saviour and joined Henson's Chapel Methodist Church. She remained a devoted member and servant of her church until death. While yet a youth she accepted the office of teachers of the children's class which she held until her health failed. During her tenure of office she attended two training schools for Sunday School workers and won certificates of credit, in order that she might more efficiently give the religious instruction.

Edith had all worthy ambition for her life. She aspired to be a teacher and pursued diligently a course of training for the work. She finished high school at the age of sixteen, then attended Appalachian State Teachers College for three sessions. Thus duly certified for school teaching she entered the profession and taught one full year. She began a second school, but at the end of five weeks suffered a health collapse that necessitated her resignation from the position. She went to her home to recuperate and there reacted favorably to rest and treatment. However, an attack of influenza in the spring of 1931 brought about a serious relapse. In July she underwent an operation at Grace Hospital, Banner Elk, for tonsil removal. During this illness she suffered an attack of pneumonia, which developed a complication that induced a tubercular condition. This malady was duly diagnosed by attending physicians and proper treatment began. For several weeks her condition appeared to show satisfactory progress with good prospect of recovery. However, her wasted strength and the insidiousness of the attack proved too great, and the long battle was lost.

Despite her unshaken faith in God and the devout trust she had in the reality of immortal life, Edith nevertheless greatly desired to live. In this desire and the fight she made to achieve it, she had the full measure of sympathy and devoted attention of her family. Their patience and constancy throughout her long illness were examples of a beautiful family affection. Her room became no less than a shrine, and hundreds of friends came and left flowers and tokens of loving sympathy. Many ministers came also to pay her visits, and at her request always engaged in worship and prayer. Her Bible, which she kept close at hand, became a diary of these visits—name, date and chapter being recorded.

At the hour of eleven o'clock Monday morning she slipped away peacefully. Out across the west, over the purple hills of her beloved Watauga, on beyond the softly glowing rim of life's day, her gentle spirit took its flight. Out of the morning, through the flood of noontide, down to the sunset; behind her the pressure and pains of life; before her the voyage along star paths up above the night; there to find the shoreless sea and the fadeless light. Here her last pillow had been a Gethsemane; there she would mount up with wings as eagles, run and not be weary, walk and not faint, forasmuch as she had in this life been one of those "who wait unto the Lord."

Mr. Donald Greene, her fiancée, stayed by the bedside of his loved one from the beginning of her illness, and the marked attention shown her until death came made a favorable impression upon the community.

Funeral services were conducted from Henson Chapel Methodist Church, where all its large auditorium and adjoining Sunday School rooms were filled. The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. G. C. Graham, assisted by three former pastors of the deceased, Rev. R. A. Taylor, Rev. A. Burgess and Rev. H. M. Wallman, and the pastor of the local Baptist Church, Rev. H. A. McKeaghn. Interment was in the church cemetery. The undertaking firm of J. M. Moretz, Boone, was in charge of the body.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

On the morning of February 11, 1932, God, in His divine love, took from our midst our much loved friend and sister, Mary Edith Henson.

Her passing has left a vacancy in our Sunday School which no one can fill. Edith lived a pure and noble life, always doing her duty in all church activities. She was made a teacher while still very young and did her work faithfully until she became so ill that she could no longer attend church.

The members of the Sunday school of Henson's Chapel Methodist Church feel a deep sense of loss. Therefore, the Sunday school teachers of Henson's Chapel wish to express their appreciation and love of Edith's beautiful life of service. Be it therefore resolved:

First, that we express our appreciation of the influential and sterling character of our beloved sister. Her life was above reproach. It can be said of Edith that she never strayed from the narrow path of right living. Her life has been an inspiration to every one who knew her.

Second that the services she rendered to Henson's Chapel Church, to the Sunday school as a teacher, and to the Epworth League as a faithful worker, will forever stand out clearly in the history of our church. Third, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy and love to her parents, her brothers and sisters, with our prayers that God may give them the solace that only He can give.

Fourth, that these resolutions be written upon the minutes of the Sunday school, that a copy be sent to her mother and father, and that copies be sent to the North Carolina Christian Advocate and to the Watauga Democrat for publication.

A Billion Dollars Barred from the Channels of Trade

The President says there is today $1,300,000,000 in money hoarded away in tin cans, chimney corners, under rocks and in other places of hiding. A few days ago a prominent farmer of this county lost his home and its entire contents by fire. In the ruins of the demolished building were the useless ashes of over two hundred dollars in greenback. This is a fair example of what can happen right at our own door to money that is being withheld from circulation. We suggest that you place your money in some strong financial institution that has spent thousands of dollars in burglar-proof and fire-proof equipment. Our association has had twelve years of successful operation without the loss of a single dollar to an investor. We pay not less than five per cent. on all money and your Building and Loan Shares are exempt from all taxation.
