A Resume of Winter Activities at Resort Town. Glee Club Organized at High School With Mrs. Gragg as Leader.

Blowing Rock Consolidated School opened again after a vacation during Thanksgiving. Mrs. W. C. Lentz and Miss Mabel Coffey had charge of the Thanksgiving program this year, and the program was very, very good. We are very proud of our little folks, and wish one who took part in this program.

Don Hawkins, of Kings Creek, has enrolled as a junior in our High School department.

The High School Glee Club was organized last week with Mrs. Howard Gragg as leader. Mrs. Gragg reports much splendid material in the boys and girls who joined the club.

Miss Corinne Knight has returned to her home here after spending some time in Hickory where she held a stenographic position.

Mrs. David Milton, of New York, who has been at Hob Nob Inn for some time, will return this week from Asheville where she has been the past two weeks. Mrs. Milton has decided to become a resident of Blowing Rock and is having a cottage built here. Until the cottage is completed, it is understood she will live at Highwood, the cottage owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Winkler.

Miss Marjorie Coffey left last week for Southern Pines where she will take a position with Lakeview Hotel.

Miss Mabel Coffey left for Jacksonville, Fla., on November 7. While in Florida Miss Coffey will be with the Gress family on St. John's Avenue.

After the business meeting, followed a social chat, and the meeting adjourned to meet next time on Christmas eve, again at the home of Mrs. Greene.

Mr. Bynum Crisp of W. N. C. U. Company has been transferred to West Jefferson where he will have charge of the local office there. Mr. Crisp took over his new duties last Monday, November 21. He will be missed in Blowing Rock, as he is one of our most popular boys. His place here in Blowing Rock was taken over by Mr. Cecil Robbison, a brother of Mrs. George Robbins.

On Thursday evening late the home of Marsh Foster was practically destroyed by fire, presumably originating from a defective flue. The local fire department responded gallantly and most all household goods were saved. For the present the Foster family is living in the little cottage owned by a son, Randal Foster. It is not known whether or not Mr. Foster will rebuild.

The architects were Alfred Easton Poor and Robert Perry Rodgers. The memorial was authorized by Congress.

OFFICERS HAVE A CLOSE CALL WHEN MAN USES PISTOL

North Wilkesboro.—Failure of a big German pistol to fire a third shot probably saved the life of Deputy Marshal B. H. Goss and Prohibition Inspector H. C. Kilby at the home of Marvin Reavis in the Nathan's Creek section of Ashe County Sunday morning of last week.

Reavis, wanted for an alleged violation of the national prohibition act, fired one shot at Mr. Goss and one at Mr. Kilby as Mr. Goss sought to take him in custody.

A woman answered the door when the officers went to the home early Sunday morning. Mr. Goss stated the purpose of his visit and the lady denied Reavis' presence in the building. She permitted a search, however, and Reavis, a man of big stature weighing about 200 pounds, was discovered behind a curtain in a closet.

Mr. Goss suggested, in a friendly manner, that Reavis put aside the gun which he carried at his belt. With lightning-like speed he drew his gun and fired at Mr. Goss. Mr. Kilby, standing to the back of the mountaineer, grabbed him just in time to cause the shot to go awry. Reavis is alleged then to have turned his gun on Mr. Kilby, but missed his mark.

Reavis sought to fire another shot but his gun jammed and the officers advanced on him. After a desperate struggle, lasting several minutes, they were able to bring him under their control.

When given a preliminary hearing at Jefferson, bond was fixed at $1,000. Reavis could not make this and was brought to Wilkesboro and was held in jail.

Messrs. Goss and Kilby said it was the closest call they had ever had. Fortunately for Mr. Goss, Mr. Kilby had accompanied him to the Reavis home to identify Reavis and also to search the premises for liquor.

Mrs. La De Dabba—Oh, I see. Well, the gown doesn't suit me. Show me something better.

GERMANS FEAR LOSS OF BREWMASTERS AND EXPERT 24-STEIN BAR WAITERS

Munich.—Whether there will soon open a market for German beer in United States countries, the Bavarian brewery owners less than the danger of an exodus of experienced brewmasters to that country.

With the export outlook still a mass of froth, the heads of some big local beer plants seriously envisage a raid on their staffs of trained brewmasters, it being realized that twelve years' stoppage of production has left the United States short of trained hop and barley manipulators.

In addition to such a menace, one brewer head said, there are also inquiries from New York for waitresses of the Hofbrau dynasty capable of negotiating twelve steins in each hand on each trip, as it is foreseen that speedy service will be demanded once the farmers are again legally permitted to raise their own beer.

As for early export prospects, the Munich and Nuremberg beer kings are indulging in no illusions, since they realize that, in addition to the constitutional hurdle, the prohibitive duty on beer would make the capture of American markets impossible. Pre-war exports of beer from Bavaria to the United States did not reach any appreciable volume, and it is not expected here that future business, once the barriers are removed, will attain large proportions.

An American market will be welcomed, of course, but, as one brewer observed, "there seems to be a lot of muddled thought on the other side with reference to an early resumption of Bavarian beer exports, judging from the inquiries which pour in on us from many points in America."

This brewer is prepared to fill orders but warns the rest of the industry will be hard on the young ones to reach their destination.

HOOVER TO ASK DRASTIC SLASH

Snell Tells About President's Budget Plans. No Horizontal Cut in Salaries Looked for. New Appropriations Smaller.

Washington.—Representative Snell, Republican leader, told newspapermen after a conference on Federal appropriations with President Hoover that "the president's recommendations are going to cut right to the bone."

Snell said: "I think we may have to have some other revenue."

"Personally, I favor a sales tax," he said. "A one per cent. sales tax would not hurt anybody and no tax is fairer."

Snell said the government, even after beer is legalized, would not get much revenue from that source this year because in his opinion it would go to the supreme court for a ruling on the alcoholic content.

"I discussed only appropriations with the president," Snell said, on his way from the executive offices. "The president's recommendations are going to cut right to the bone. He is going to insist on these cuts as far as he is able and we are going to back him up to the limit."

"I do not look for any general horizontal cut. The president will make definite recommendations. He is going to insist on not taking on any new appropriations but to hold as closely as possible to his budget recommendations."

BAILEY DENIES REPORT HE WILL VOTE FOR BEER

Raleigh, N. C.—Senator Josiah W. Bailey, of North Carolina, Friday denied authorization of a report that he would vote in the Senate for legalization of 2.75 per cent. beer, but would not vote for four per cent. beer.

He said he had been informed that a news service call of the Congress on the beer question, released Friday for publication, credited him with revealing how he would vote if the matter reaches the Senate.

"It is an imposition," Senator Bailey said. "I haven't authorized any such statement and do not propose to do so."

The Senator declared that it was his policy to do his legislating in Congress and "not in newspapers."

score being 19-20 in our favor.

Miss Lucille Coffey has returned to Blowing Rock after spending some time in Hickory with her sister, Mrs. Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Chapman, of Mayview Manor Hotel, left last week for Alabama, where they will spend part of the winter with relatives of Mrs. Chapman.

SLAYS SIX MEN, WOUNDS 11 MORE

Crazed Filipino Runs Amuck in Seattle. Captured After Terrorizing City for Several Hours. Loss of Money Deranges Mind.

Seattle, Wash.—Armed with two seven-inch knives he furnished from a native Moro boy, Julian Marcelino, crazed Filipino, killed six men and wounded 11 persons in a 2-hour rampage Thanksgiving day.

Marcelino ran wild in and out of the cheap lodging houses and shops on the edge of the Oriental district, striking at the hearts of whoever he met, while police and ambulances followed his trail of dying and wounded victims.

Overpowered late in the day by two policemen, disarmed and jailed, the 30-year-old Filipino lapsed into sullen silence—a silence broken to explain loss of his $300 in savings by two robberies, was responsible for his sanguine orgy. He killed:

W. J. Morris, 60, a grocery store proprietor.

Frank Johnson, 65, a bystander.

Bernardino Bonita, Filipino, 25.

Jimmy Giminez, Filipino, 25.

William Tenador, Filipino, 28.

Eleven others, one a Japanese woman, lay in hospitals with their chests or shoulders gashed by Marcelino's knives. City hospital surgeons held out hope for the life of Antonio Shuler, 73, the most seriously injured of those who lived through the night.

Others of the more seriously injured were Hans Sjogren, 50, stabbed in the shoulder; Tam Takeff, 47, wounded in the upper chest, and Taji a Maca, 36, a Japanese woman, wounded in the shoulder.

In an attempt to explain the crime which took a greater toll than any public catastrophe here in recent years, police said Marcelino told them "I felt funny in the head."

"I was held up Wednesday night by three colored men," officers quoted him as saying, "and I lost $200. Afterwards I went to the Midway Hotel and stayed with Pinto Gualto."

"I got up at 9:30 a. m. and went up to the hospital to visit my cousin and when I returned to the hotel $100 I had hidden in a sack was missing."

He questioned his companion, Gualto, the confession said, but was told that Gualto didn't know where the money was.

"I then felt different to the way I usually feel. I felt funny in the head. I stabbed Pinto. He was lying on the bed. I went over and hit him once."

Continuing his account of the trail of slaughter which that killing began, he related briefly his deeds until he thought he "stabbed a negro."

"But I didn't remember anything else," he added. "I feel better now."

BANNER ELK CELEBRATES THANKSGIVING QUIETLY

Banner Elk, N. C.—An impressive morning service in the Banner Elk Presbyterian Church marked the beginning of the Thanksgiving program here yesterday. There was a strong suggestion of bygone days as the villagers came to the altar with offerings of canned fruits and vegetables or bags of potatoes and apples for the Grandfather Children's Home.

No one went hungry—if they did, it was not through fault of the people. And beyond the fact of mere dinners and giving, Thanksgiving Day was eminently successful.

Dinner in the homes yesterday were great meals and the Lees-McRae dining room at five o'clock last evening resembled an ancient banquet hall. Softly lighted candles with golden pumpkins and turkey place-cards formed the basis for the table decorations of galax and sprays of evergreens. General good cheer predominated as the year's most famous meal got under way. The blessing, a Thanksgiving prayer, was sung by members of the college glee club.

Free plays were presented in the Lees-McRae auditorium Thursday night by the Dramatic Club for the school and any others who cared to attend. Players dressed in Puritan costumes delighted to the audience the customs and ways of people who began Thanksgiving tradition.
