HARWOOD AGAIN REJECTED
 Again former Superior Court Judge John H. Harwood has been denied the privilege of taking the bar examination by the council of the State Bar, the council holding he "is not eligible to apply for a license to practice law on the occasion of the examination." The examination will be held in August. Judge Harwood entered a plea of guilty to a charge of mutilating State records in an effort to destroy evidence that his daughter, Lola, had embezzled funds while employed by the State as a clerk. Both served prison terms. He lost his law license as the result of conviction of a felony and has made several efforts to regain his status as a lawyer. He is licensed as an insurance agent.

PARALYSIS
 Infantile paralysis continues its wide sweep through the State, and after showing gains for a few days, will show fewer new cases for others. The total for the State reached 462 cases last week for the year so far, but probably less than ninety of the remaining cases are contagious, health officers say. The trend now seems to be downward, fewer new cases being reported over a given period. The previous high record was in 1929, with 133 cases. The epidemic is confined largely to the central section of the State. Meanwhile, Delaware has declared a sort of quarantine against North Carolinians.

MOTOR VEHICLES
 Watauga County had 750 automobiles and 350 trucks as of June 30, as compared with 700 automobiles and 350 trucks a year before, and with 675 automobiles and 325 trucks three months before, Director L. S. Harris of the Motor Vehicle Bureau reports.

These figures are obtained by measuring a given number of registration cards on file in the office, then using that unit to measure all of the cards for the county.

North Carolina licenses issued to June 30 this year showed 123,295 motor vehicles operating in the State.

DEEDS DELIVERED TO ICKES
 Deeds for the first twelve miles of right-of-way in the Park to Park Highway from the Virginia line southward into North Carolina were presented to Secretary Ickes in Washington Monday by Charles Ross, general counsel for the State Highway and Public Works Commission. The legality of the deeds has been questioned and Mr. Ross sought to convince Secretary Ickes that they are legal. As has been done on all right-of-way for State highways that had to be condemned, the area was condemned and taken over, the settlement being done in the court later. Department attorneys question this

OPPORTUNITY . . . today
 Whenever I hear young people complain that there are no opportunities for them I begin to wonder just what they mean. Often I discover that they think of "opportunity" as a chance to jump right out of school into a well-paid, easy job, with short hours, long week-ends and generous vacations.

It is true that that sort of opportunity no longer exists. What is more, it never did exist!

There is always a place, though, for the intelligent, industrious and ambitious boy or girl who really wants to work, is not afraid of long hours and low wages to start with, and has good health and good habits. In these times it often takes more time to find such an opportunity than it did a few years ago, but the seeker who gives up after one or two discouragements demonstrated that he is not the sort of a person employers are looking for.

LUCK . . . also goods
 I have a friend who started his business career at the same time that I did, in the same town and at the same wages—$12 a week. Now he is the head of one of the largest business corporations in the world. I asked him once how he had climbed so far.

"Luck," he replied. "That's how most folk got wherever they are. But don't misunderstand me. When I say 'luck' I don't mean blind chance. Luck is a method, thinking the deeds should be from the owners. Mr. Ross contended that the method used is legal and has been followed in this State for several years."

NEW WAY TO TRAIN DOGS

A new method of training bear dogs is used by hunters in the Mount Mitchell game area. C. N. Mease, refuge warden, reports. Hunters were seen rubbing a stone over the body of a baby bear which is a pet and favorite at the Mount Mitchell refuge. The stone was wrapped in paper and placed in the car, the hunter explaining he was training a pup as a bear dog and was taking the bear scent home. The Mount Mitchell area, almost depleted of big game a few years ago, now has an abundance, hunters killing about fifty bears each year in nearby public hunting grounds. Scores of deer are also found in and around the refuge, due to protection and restocking. The 37 miles of streams in the refuge are also well stocked with fish.

has to be stimulated."
 He stimulated his own luck not only by mastering his own job but by preparing himself all the time to step into the next higher job. He made it a point to keep in perfect physical condition and to indulge no bad habits. He studied ways to make a good impression on his superiors and associates.
 "Window-dressing is as important for the individual as for the store," he said, "but you've got to have the goods on your shelves."

HELP . . . for ambitious

Under my friend's direction, the great corporation which he heads takes pains to help its 60,000 or more workers to "stimulate their luck." Every employee who shows signs of special ability, and of ambition to get ahead, can count on a helping hand.
 "The only way to run a big business successfully," my friend once said to me, "is to show everyone in the organization the door of hope, and encourage them all to find their way through it. That, and to put just as much in their pay envelopes as can possibly be done."

BOY . . . now on job

The son of one of my village neighbors has been doing odd jobs around my country place for three or four years, after school, Saturdays and in vacations. Last month he graduated from our town high school, with high marks.

"What are you going to do now, John?" I asked him. He dropped the handle of the lawnmower and straightened up.

"I'm going to college," he said. "I don't know how, but I'm going. I've got to work my way—dad can't help me, with my seven younger brothers and sisters to bring up—but I'll find a way! I'm going to hitch-hike to New York and look for a job."

I smiled at his enthusiasm, but did not discourage it. Neither did I encourage the idea of a country boy seeking work in New York these hard times.

"If you get there, look me up, John," I said, and gave him my New York office address. Sure enough, a week later, John showed up.

I thought of my friend of whom I have just been talking. I wrote a note to him and gave it to John. "Try your luck there," I said.

Next day I got a letter from my friend. The head of a great company had personally interviewed a green country boy and—he had given him a job!
 Now it is up to John.

STIMULATION . . . the asset

It is easy to say that John was lucky in knowing a man who knew a man whose company hires a lot of boys. The answer to that is that I wouldn't have sent John to my friend if John had not been "stimulating."

NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE

North Carolina, Watauga County, in the Superior Court: Peoples Industrial Bank vs. D. A. Swift.
 By virtue of an execution directed to the undersigned from the Superior Court of Watauga County in the above-entitled action, I will, on Monday, the 2nd day of September, 1935, at 12 o'clock m., at the Courthouse door of said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash to satisfy said execution, all the right, title and interest which the said D. A. Swift, the defendant, has in the following described real estate, to-wit:

Adjoining the lands of Will Combs, E. F. Bingham and others; BEGINNING on a stake in the branch at a locust and runs south 74 east 5 poles to a stake; then north 78 east 29 poles to a stake in the Henson road at a small maple; then north 18 poles to a stake at a bridge; then north 12 west 12 poles to a stake in the branch; then north 17 east 9 poles to a thorn bush, Combs' line; then north 79 west 35 poles to a stake in the hollow; then down and with said branch to the beginning, containing 10 acres more or less and being the same lands described in a deed from Enoch Swift and wife, Martha Swift, to D. A. Swift, recorded in Book 41, page 408, in the Registry of Watauga County, which deed is given for further description of said property.

SECOND TRACT: Adjoining the lands of Mrs. Rose Fuller, R. L. Henson, John Isaacs, et al. Beginning on a stake in road corner to Rose Fuller's line; thence a southeast course about 3 poles to a stake south side bend of Cove Creek; thence south 57 west with said creek 5 3-4 poles to a stake corner of church lot in Henson's line; thence west with Henson's line 67 poles to a stake, Henson's corner; thence with Henson's line 24 poles to a dogwood; thence south 87 east 28 poles to a sourwood, top of ridge with old Isaacs line; thence north 25 west 20 poles to a chestnut oak; thence north 50 west 9 poles to a stake on top of ridge; thence west 54 east to a stake in road; thence a southeasterly course with road, Rose Fuller's line to the beginning, containing 32 1/2 acres more or less. For further description see Book 38, page 306, in registry for Watauga County. This 31st day of July, 1935.

his luck" so far as I am concerned, for four or five years.
 Unconsciously, John had been demonstrating to me that he has the qualities of intelligence, ambition, resourcefulness, industry and—most important of all—character, which could not fail to open the door of opportunity for him.
 I was glad to hand him the key to that door, for I believe John will make good use of his chance. All I did, though, was to shorten the time it might have taken him to find his opportunity.

COVE CREEK NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Mast of Johnson City were visitors with relatives over the week-end.

Mrs. Dora Pucell and daughter, of Butler, Tenn., are visiting in the community.

Friends of Mr. H. E. Deal are glad that he is home from the Davis Hospital very much improved in health.

Misses Constance Shoun and Winnie Thornburg spent Sunday with Mrs. James B. Mast.

A very successful singing school was conducted last week at the Cove Creek Baptist Church. It was directed by Mr. Gordon Hodges.

S. F. Horton has been employed by the State School Commission to assist in working out the bus routes for next year. He is in Wilkes county this week.

A COUNT AND HIS AMERICAN WIFE IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Pointing out that maybe the battling nobleman was justified in smacking six gendarmes and one doctor, and his wife in hurling bottles at them. One of the many interesting stories in the August 4 issue of The American Weekly, the big magazine which comes every week with the Baltimore Sunday American. On sale by all newsdealers.

LATE SUMMER HINTS FOR THE HOME GARDENER

Because August usually is a dry month, frequent shallow cultivation is needed in the vegetable garden to destroy weeds and to conserve moisture.

"Where a person can install an irrigation system without too much expense, he has an added advantage in the production of late vegetables and usually the installation can be paid for in one season of dry weather," says Prof. M. E. Gardner, head of the horticultural department at State College.

Many vegetables such as beans, peppers and others may be dried for winter use, while good specimens of tomatoes, sweet corn, okra, peppers, cantaloupes, watermelons and other crops may be selected and allowed to thoroughly mature for seed purposes next season. Only seed from healthy, vigorous plants should be saved, says Gardner.

He also advises that the fight against insect pests be continued. Derris dust, containing 75 per cent rotenone, is effective in controlling cabbage insects and has the added advantage of being harmless to humans. Dust as often as necessary to protect the crop, using 15 to 20 lbs. of the material per acre. This dust is effective against the Mexican bean beetle.

Prof. Gardner further suggests keeping the local fair in mind and producing some high quality, perfect specimens for exhibit this fall. For instance, he says, a well planned apple exhibit of high quality, and of clean, well-graded fruit will "steal the show" at most any fair.
