Lesson for February 9

In verses 20-26 Jesus sets forth the inner spiritual condition of these who are members of his kingdom. In the lesson text for today he sets forth the principles governing the life of his followers

I, Love Your Enemies (v. 29). Love here is not mere catural affec tion. Love is not sentiment but is the sincere desire for the welfare of another, and the willingness to do all in one's power to accomplish that which gage security—are now measuring up is good for the individual. To lova to their obligations and making ev-friends is easy, but to love enemies is only possible to those who have been precord for payment of their install-port again.

born again. ments." 11. Do Good to Them Which Hate You (v. 27).

Love is positive in its nature. The disciple of Christ will not merely refrain from doing injury to one who hates him, but will be concerned with and engaged in doing good to bim. Bless Them That Curse You 111. (v. 28)

To bless means to speak well of, involte a blessing upon.

they do" (Luke 23:34). When Christ was reviled he reviled not again; "When he suffered, he threatened not; stand the d but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously" (I Pet. 2:23). V. Patiently Endure Wrong and In-Jury (v. 20).

The Christian is not to bristle in defense of his rights, but rather to suffer losult, injury, and even loss. This expresses the law which governs the individual's action and should not be pressed so far that evidences go an-checked. Rightly constituted govern-ment has been ordained of God for the protection of the innocent and punishment of evildoers (from, 13:1-8).

VI. Give to Every Man That Asketh of Thee (v. 30.) This text does not authorize promiscuous giving, neither does it mean that any request made by the idle, greedy, and selfish should be granted. There is a giving which injures the one to whom the gift is made. It would not be proper to give a man money to buy whisky. The principle enjoined is to give the thing needed to the one asking. The supreme need of every able-bodied person is to be given a way to earn his living. VII. Do to Others as You Wish

Others to Do to You (vv. 31-33). This is called the Golden Rule. It is the sum total of Christian duty as It pertains to human inter-relations. If this rule were lived up to, the problem of capital and labor would be solved, war would cease, interna-tional relations would be peaceably adjusted, and all profiteering in business would end

VIII. Be Merciful (v. 36). This means to be filled with pity and Farmers' interest payments on land bank commissioner's loan registered another substantial gain during the last quarter of 1935 and at the end of the year total interest collections were more than 86 per cent, of all maturites, a new high point, accord-ing to the report issued by the Farm Credit Administration February 1st.

Taily Use You (v. 28). It is obligatory upon the Christian to pray for those who heap abuses upon him. The best commentary on this is Christ's own example. Concern is Felt For Crop Program

Since January 6 when the Supreme Court decided that the Agricultural Adjustment Program was unconstitutional, groups of farmers meeting in the various counties of the state have gone on record as de-siring some new program and deploring the passing of the AAA. County farm agents report that county meetings at which from 300 to 500 leading farmers have been present, have passed resolutions urging their representatives in Congress to pass some substitute measure or new law giving adequate aid to agri-culture. In nearly every one of these meetings over 90 pcr cent. of those present have been in favor of a new compassion; to enter into sympathy with every need of others. Our su-preme example is the Heavenly Father. IX. Censorious Judgments Con-about the inconveniences and injus-tices of the control acts have now
