

SAYS DOUGHTON TO OPPOSE REYNOLDS FOR SENATE SEAT

Winston-Salem Journal Writer Says Veteran Representative Will Seek to Wrest Senatorial Toga From Bob Reynolds; Says Information Source is "Unquestionable"

Congressman Robert L. Doughton, ninth district representative, is going out after Bob Reynolds' scalp in the primaries next summer, says John A. Parris, Jr., in a special copyrighted story appearing in the Winston-Salem Journal Tuesday. According to Mr. Parris, the news that "Farmer Bob" really wants to go to the senate comes from "unimpeachable" sources. He says:

Representative Robert L. "Farmer Bob" Doughton will be a candidate for the United States senate in 1938, the Journal learned from an unimpeachable source last night.

The veteran congressman has decided, according to the Journal's informant, to oppose Robert R. "Our Bob" Reynolds for the junior senate post.

Doughton will make a formal announcement of his candidacy sometime in November, it is understood.

It is believed Doughton long has harbored the ambition to run for the United States senate as a last fling in politics before retirement.

Always silent about his future plans, the 74-year-old chairman of the house ways and means committee—most important of all congressional chairmanships—consistently has refused to affirm or deny rumors of his candidacy.

It is generally known that Doughton has approval from the White House in practically anything he undertakes.

A little more than a year ago when he seriously considered announcing as a candidate for governor of North Carolina, Doughton was called to the White House for a conference where he was told his services were needed urgently. As a result, he announced he would not be a gubernatorial candidate.

As a spearhead in the Roosevelt administration, Doughton, if he were elected to the United States senate, would doubtless command an important position in the upper legislative body.

Meantime, Reynolds, who has announced his candidacy for re-election, is making speeches and covering all the territory in the state as possible.

As one of the speakers at the State Convention of Young Democrats here this week, Reynolds will rub elbows with Doughton, who has announced his intention of attending the gathering.

Going into the senate on the turn of an era—that of prohibition—Reynolds has had easy sailing through his six years as junior senator from North Carolina.

Last week odds were 5 to 1 that the man who drove an automobile around the world would have no opposition in the next Jun. primary.

But today there was creeping into the picture rumors of opposition from all sides.

Representative Frank Hancock of Oxford, and Representative Walter Lambeth, of Thomasville, also are being talked as possible candidates in the senatorial race.

It is not considered likely either Hancock or Lambeth will choose to run if Doughton announces his candidacy.

Long noted for hard work, Doughton without doubt would enter the senatorial campaign with more fervor than he has ever before shown in his long political career.

It is understood Doughton will go to Washington within the next few weeks to confer with President Roosevelt regarding a special session of congress, expected to be called before the first of the year.

A potent political factor in North Carolina, the tall, lanky, sturdy Doughton went to congress first in 1911.

Just as potent he is in national politics. The chairmanship of the ways and means committee has been a particularly arduous task under President Roosevelt because much of the administration legislation was nurtured there. He has a record of never having had an amendment offered to one of his bills from the floor of the house during his 26 years of legislative service.

TEN DEPARTMENTS ADD NEW CLASSES

Many New Courses Added to College Curriculum; Adjustments in Supervision

A number of important changes in the curriculum of Appalachian State Teachers College are embodied in the 1937-38 bulletins which came from the press recently. The total number of courses offered has been raised to 260. Though the credit courses have been rearranged, and Physical Education 1-9 will be removed from the credit group, there will be no reduction in the total number of hours required for graduation.

Adjustments in the field of supervised teaching will make it possible for each senior who takes practical teaching to observe regularly in the demonstration schools throughout the full quarter. Preparatory to actual student teaching this observation is expected to greatly increase the efficiency of the supervised work.

Under the revised curriculum, greater freedom is provided for individual selection of courses. For instance, in the grammar grade field, students will be privileged to 27 selective, instead of the former 16. Students applying for certification in the high school field, will have a total of 66 quarter hours devoted to free electives and electives in the major fields.

Following is a list of changes made in the curriculum: (1) In Home Economics four new courses have been added with an increase of 13 hours. (2) In the English department, eight new courses have been added with an increase of 27 quarter hours work. (3) In the field of Government two new courses have been added with additional credit amounting to six hours. (4) In Mathematics one additional course will be offered with a credit increase of three hours. (5) To the Department of Public School Music one course will be added with an increase of nine hours credit. (6) In the field of Biology two new courses will be offered with an increase of six hours credit. (7) In Economics, three new courses will be added with nine hours additional credit. (8) In Sociology six new courses will be offered with 18 hours additional credit. (9) Twenty additional courses in Education will be given with an increase of 82 hours credit. (10) In Writing, no new course is to be offered, but the time devoted to the subject will be increased so as to provide two hours additional credit.
