

MEN'S DORMITORY IS BEING BUILT

Building Is WPA Project; Will Be Erected at Cost of $80,000

Mr. E. G. Terens, superintendent of construction for Appalachian College, made public early this week that work is being pushed on the men's dormitory now under construction on the former site of Newland Hall, at a cost of $80,000. This is a WPA project. The state sponsors the project and furnishes 50% of the funds; the remaining financial needs will be taken care of under the Works Progress Administration.

Newland was moved away from its former site last week and WPA employees, under the supervision of "Doc" Benfield, immediately began excavation.

Blueprints show that the structure will be 40 feet wide and 192 feet long with three stories and a small basement, the latter being intended for heating facilities. Upon completion, the dormitory will house more students than any other dwelling for men on the campus. It will contain 77 rooms, with the dimensions of 12x16 feet.

Insofar as conveniences are concerned, the dormitory will be arranged on a plan similar to Justice Annex. Every two rooms will have connecting bath rooms containing showers, lavatories and other health facilities.

The building will be of brick construction. Several shipments of building materials have already been received, and brick laying is expected to be under way in the next few weeks.

Water and electric lights will be furnished by the college water system and the New River Light and Power Company.

Newland, now temporarily situated only a few feet from its former site, will be placed on a permanent foundation, and will serve as an apartment house for college students.

Fancy lettuce is being marketed in gold and silver colored foil veneered with wax.

PRESIDENT SIGNS WAGES-AND-HOURS BILL

Washington, June 27.—President Roosevelt has signed the wage-hour bill, thereby giving the "go ahead" signal for a vast experiment in putting a "floor" under pay rates and "ceiling" over hours.

The signing was done without fanfare Saturday, but was not announced by White House officials until today.

The act will go into operation October 24. On that date, officials said, some 200,000 persons receiving less than 25 cents an hour are to have their pay increased to 25 cents. Whether any court fight over the act will delay its operation has yet to be determined, however.

The act provides for the appointment of a wage-hour administrator, and well-informed officials said they expected the President to fill this post before he starts on his trip to the west July 7.

The act applies to industries in interstate commerce, with some exceptions. They will be required to pay a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour during the first year after October 24.

During the second year and five subsequent years the wage rate minimum will be 30 cents, and at the end of seven years after the act goes into effect the flat minimum will be 40 cents.

REMNANTS OF LEE'S ARMY MOVES ON GETTYSBURG

Atlanta, June 27.—Seventy-five years ago today a Confederate army closed in on Gettysburg for the battle that was to turn the tide of the War Between the States—today the remnants of that gray host moved again toward the Pennsylvania hamlet.

But what contrasts three-quarters of a century has wrought!

Then the southerners were more than 70,000 strong, young and flushed with many victories as they moved strongly into enemy territory to test a blue barrier that held.

Today only 300 to 400 mustered strength to climb aboard Pullmans and ride again to meet the "boys in blue," this time in a friendly joint reunion that long has been the dream of many on both sides.

Hands that held muskets and sabres so firmly in 1863 clung to canes today, and, instead of marching beside fellow fighters, they rode under the watchful eye of young companions—in offering free transportation to the old soldiers, the Federal government stipulated each should be accompanied by an aide.

When the forces under General Lee and General Meade collided on four days from July 1-4 in 1863 the fighting was as fierce as any the world had seen, and about 50,000 of the 150,000 engaged were killed, wounded or captured.

There probably will be casualties at Gettysburg this time, too, but they will be exacted by illness and age, not bullets.

Officers of the Southeastern Passenger association announced today reservations for 314 veterans and a like number of attendants were listed in its territory, south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi. Last minute changes in plans may alter these figures.

In this sector Georgia was expected to send the largest delegation of veterans, 63. Reservations listed for other states included: Florida, 48; Mississippi, 42; Alabama, 32; North Carolina, 35; South Carolina, 19; Tennessee, 31; Kentucky, 16; Virginia, 14. Arkansas is expected to send nine and Louisiana 15.

Many of the Pullmans started north today, others go tomorrow. The veterans will reach Gettysburg June 29. The ceremonies will not start until July 1, giving the veterans time to rest. The reunion officially will be over July 4. But departure date has been set for July 6, again allowing time for rest before the home journey.

At Gettysburg each veteran and his attendant will be assigned to an individual tent, with a board floor and electric lights.

Sprinkled among the southern veterans—not all of whom served in Lee's army which fought at Gettysburg—will be several Union soldiers who live in the south. Florida, in particular, will send several who wear the badge of the G.A.R.

SPORT COMMENT

(By Russell Atkins and Shelton Dugger)

The Cleveland Indians continue to defeat everything in the American League. Last week they took a series from the champion New York Yankees, who at the present are having a difficult job hanging onto second place. Johnny Allen, known for his temperamental as well as pitching ability, and Earl Averill, slugging centerfielder, are largely responsible for Cleveland's successful pennant drive. However, the entire team has played splendid baseball. Johnny Humpries, ex-ace of the University of North Carolina pitching staff, has turned in several good relief jobs on the mound; Oscar Vitt, tribe manager, has apparently applied the spark which was needed to bring a pennant to Cleveland. Since a great deal can happen between now and the end of the race, it is much too soon to predict a pennant for the Indians.

Some of the local fans have recently expressed the opinion that "Dizzy" Dean, Chicago's $180,000 addition to their pitching staff, will not hurl again this season. It is very improbable that smart Branch Riekey would have parted with Dean if he had been up to par physically.

The Cincinnati Reds have just climaxed a great drive by landing in second place. The Reds have a fine team of youngsters, but they will probably not be able to muster enough power to win the National flag.

BOXING

After the defeat and massacre of Schmeling Wednesday night, Max Baer has a very slight chance to beat Joe Louis in their September bout. At the present Detroit's chocolate bar is the undisputed champion of the fistic world, and Baer has at times been anything but a great fighter. However, judging from his recent performances against Farr and others, the September scrap will probably last longer than the four rounds that Baer fought against Louis in 1935. After Baer had floored Schmeling and Primo Canera, he was styled as the successor to Dempsey, the all-time king of maulers. However, after being defeated by Braddock and Louis, his prestige sank to a low level. He has regained much of this prestige in his recent fights and may become again the rugged scrapper that he once was.

TENNIS

Helen Wills Moody, American tennis ace, staged a grand comeback to gain another round in the Wimbledon tournament Saturday over South Africa's tennis star, Mrs. Bobbie Heine Miller, with a score of 8-6, 6-4. Mrs. Moody and Dor. Budge, another American tennis champ, are the favorites to win titles at the Wimbledon tournament.
