Following is the introduction of Postmaster General Farley by Con-gressman Doughton:

This is one of the most gratifying and inspiring occasions which I have witnessed and purticipated in dur-ing my long service as your repre-sentative in the national congress. Your attendance here in such vast numbers bears convincing testimony of the importance of the occasion and your interest in matters so vi-tally and directly affecting this community and this section of west-ern North Carolina.
We are here to dedicate your splendid and useful postoffice build-ing to the service of the citizens of boone and surrounding territory. Constructed of local stone, it is not only beautiful but has the perman-ence of old Grandfather mountain itself.

itself. The very presence of this multi-tude of people expresses more elo-quently than any words I could ut-fer your appreciation and gratitude, not only for this special manifesta-tion of the deep interest which the national government is taking in your well being, but also for the constant and successful efforts of the administration to advance the welfare, the peace and the security of the entire citizenship of our na-tion.

WIDE PUBLICITY IS GIVEN AREA

National Magazines Carry Appeal of This Section to Half Million Readers

Million Readers Mr. H. W. Wilcox, manager of the local bus terminal, has distributed a large number of copies of the Trail-way and Highway Traveler maga-zines, which carry illustrated stories concerning Boone and Blowing Rock to more than a half million readers throughout the country. The stories recite in detail the many advant-ages the Blowing Rock region of-fers to tourists and others and are profusely illustrated. In the meantime the Trailways has proposed to assist in further publicizing this region by a hand-some display in their Chicago ter-minal. Good local photographs, says Mr. Wilcox, will be blown up to giant size in colors and will be used for a background Against this background they propose the plant-ing of mountain laurel and rhodo-dendron, which they have asked Mr. Wilcox to ship while the plants are in bud. Upon receipt of the plants a Chicago nurseryman will give them proper treatment pot them and make them ready for the dis-play where they will remain for about a week. The Trailways sys-trin maintains one of the finest ter-minals in the country, located in the heart of Chicago. Mr. Wilcox also says that only re-cently the Queen City Coach Com-pany made a motion picture of this section, containing about 400 feet on pany made a motion picture of this section, containing about 400 feet on Boone and the immediate section.
