RED CROSS ENDS ITS FLOOD RELIEF ACTIVITIES HERE

Last Saturday Was Last Day Emergency Office in Operation in Boone; a Complete Report of the Activities of Emergency Organization

Miss Miriam Hoper, case worker for the American Red Cross, reports that on October 5, the Red Cross closed its office in Boone. The fol-lowing is a report of the activities of the emergency Red Cross work in Watauga county: in Watauga county:

220 families were registered with the office. Of these everyone was contacted and the case closed in a satisfactory manner.

Five families were transferred to other counties, after determining that they did not live in Watauga.

Three families surfered no losses.

At the time a call was made in the home and it was determined by the worker that the family did not actually lose anything due to the flood. Twenty-four families stated they could recover without Red Cross assistance. After the Red Cross policies were explained to the families they felt that they did not need any assistance. ssistance.

113 families received emergency 113 families received emergency help. When a call was made on each family it was found that their losses had been minor and that the help they had already received would take care of them. Emergency assistance included not only food and clothing but often pieces of furniture and material for small repairs to houses.

Sixty-five families received awards to meet their needs. This included all cases which were passed by the committee and an award was set up for the remainder of the family's needs.

ily's needs.

Assistance was granted on approximately the following basis:

Families receiving hew homes, 13.

(In most cases this was only material with men of the family doing the labor).

Families receiving repairs on their homes, 17.

Families receiving homes, 13.

Families receiving household fur

Families receiving household furnishings, 45.

Families receiving material for outbuildings 17. (This number includes those who received only outbuildings and not those who got outbuildings along with new homes).

There were also a lew families who received grants for livestock, tools and various other classifications of relief.

The total amount of money expended in Watauga county was approximately $12,400. Of this amount around $800 was spent on the emergency commitments; $11,586.55 was set up on an award basis and has all been disbursed except $653.50 which has been set up on a deferred payment plan to cover the remaining hospital bills, maintenance and occupational training.

Famous 'Tweetsie' Gains Temporary Salvation in War

Raleigh, Oct. 4.—War now raging may mean at least temporary salvation for "Tweetsie," rather famous train that operates on the only narrow gauge railroad east of the Mississippi.

The August floods damaged the line of the East Tennessee and West ern North Carolina railway to the extent of about $50,000, so the company asked the insterstate commerce commission for permission to abandon the line between Cranberry and Boone.

Boone.

Now it develops, conservation department officials said last week, that the 60-odd miles of lines between Johnson City, Tenn., and Boone form the only railroad outlet to a section rich in iron and other ores needed in wartime. Therefore, there is a possibility the I. C. C. will refuse to let the road be abandoned, and that tourists still may see and ride on "Tweetsie."

REGISTRATION OF MEN OF MILITARY AGE OCTOBER 16

Local Draft Board is Named and Elections Group Prepares to Register All Men in County From 21 to 35 for Possible Military Training

Vance C. Howell, J. E. Clav and T. L. Mast were named by the governor last week as Watauga's selective draft board, who will administer the conscription law in this county. Dr. Robert R. King was named examining physician and W. R. Lovill attorney. On Monday the Watauga county board of elections held their organization meeting, named R. T. Greer chairman, and set about to arrange the machinery for registering all male citizens of the county between the ages of 21 and 35, in the first peacetime mobilization of the nation's manpower in the history of the coun-gram and increased demands for its day-to-day services of diseaster relief, first aid and life saving, the American Red Cross on November 11 will launch its greatest membership appeal since World War days, it was announced here by Chairman Norman H. Davis.

The appeal for membership support to finance operations in the coming year will be carried to the Registers to Meet.

The American Red Cross on November the date set aside by presidential proclamation to register the young men of the country for military srvice, and the military registration is to be conducted by the regular election officials throughout the land. Registrations will start at 7 a. m. and continue until 9 p. m. or longer if more men are ready to register when nine o'clock comes.

was announced here by Chairman Worman H. Davis.

The appeal for membership support to finance operations in the coming year will be carried to the nation by more than 500,000 volunteers, Chairman Davis said. It was pointed out that requests of the military and naval forces for Red Cross nurses, welfare services for enlisted men and the registration of medical technologists and volunteer blood donors were more than doubling the organization's domestic obligations.

In a statement urging the support of "every patriotic American," the Red Cross chairman expressed confidence the largest membership since the World War would be attained when the drive ends November 30. He explained the country had enthusiastically endorsed the Red Cross by raising and oversubscribing the $20,000,000 war relief drive of last May.

"While the generous respose for war-stricken peoples has enabled the Red Cross to ship tons of medicines, foodstuffs and clothing to the war zones, it becomes necessary at others connected with the military others connected with the military others connected with the military of the registrars, draft board and others connected with the military required to register.

The registrars, draft board and others connected with the military registration are serving absolutely without pay, and men or women of the county, who could assist next Wednesday in filling out the registration forms are asked to lend their assistance as a patriotic gesture. All those who would serve in this way should get in touch with the regular election registrar in his or her precinct. precinct.

Registrations will be conducted at the usual voting places with the fol-lowing exceptions:

In Cove Creek township, Mabel school auditorium will be used.

In Beaver Dam, registration will take place at Bethel school.

Students who attend Appalachian College but who reside outside Watauga county, will register at the col-lege, while local collegians will reg-ister at their voting places.

It is estimated that between 2,000 be affected by the draft legislation.

Other Draft Rules
Roby T. Greer, chairman of the board of elections, has received these clarifying statements regarding the selective service draft:

1. Any person above the age of 21, whether male or female, whether resident of the precinct or not, may be assigned as a registrar to
