

Banner Elk Orphans Home Buildings To Be Dedicated July 22nd

Banner Elk, July 14—Invitations have gone out for dedication exercises which will be held at Grandfather Home for Children Tuesday, July 22, at 3:30 o'clock. Several hundred people are expected to attend.

The exercises, which will be held on the lawn of the home, will include a short historical statement by Dr. Roswell C. Long of Greenwood, S. C., member of the board of trustees; a dedicatory address by Rev. T. M. Johnston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Rogersville, Tenn.; and two songs by Norman Cordon, noted Metropolitan Opera star. Others taking part in the exercises will include Rev. T. B. Southall, pastor of the Banner Elk Presbyterian church; Dr. Robert King, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Johnson City, Tenn.; and Rev. Walter K. Keys, pastor of the Blowing Rock Presbyterian church.

The program will be presided over by Edgar H. Tufts, president of the Edgar Tufts Memorial Association, which controls Grandfather Home for Children. Open house and tea for all guests and friends of the home will follow the dedication exercises.

1,476 PLANES MADE IN U. S. DURING JUNE

Washington—The office of production management announced last week that military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,476 airplanes during June.

Comparable final figures for May showed 1,334 deliveries, officials said, although when they were announced last month they were given as 1,339.

The OPM did not disclose the types of planes nor the number going to Great Britain or to the United States army or navy.

There's nothing too big or too little to be carried on people's heads in Rio. You will see a black porter surmounted by a big trunk with two or three suitcases piled on top of it, joining easily in back-chat with the crowd, and at the other extreme, someone who, rather than carry a letter by hand, has put it on his head with a stone to hold it down.—Reader's Digest

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CHURCH REGARDING ALCOHOL

Lesson for July 20: I Corinthians 5: 9-13; Titus 2:1-8; Golden Text: Matthew 5:13

In this lesson Paul makes it plain that he is writing concerning faithless persons within the church. Among evil-doers within there is the drunkard and the inference is that the church should purge itself of such and set a right example unto those without. "Put away the wicked man from among yourselves," the apostle writes. Yet how often churches tolerate drinking on the part of some members if only they are good contributors or prominent citizens whom they hesitate to offend.

In the second part of the lesson Paul gives his advice to several age groups. Aged men are urged to be temperate, aged women to be reverent, young women to be sober-minded, and young men to be sober minded, showing themselves as examples of good works.

Drinking is on the increase in this country, according to a press release of May 31. It showed that Americans had consumed 360,105,194 gallons of alcoholic drinks during the first quarter of 1941. This was an increase of more than seven million gallons and an increase of more than $6,000,000 in money spent.

Manifestly somebody should be concerned about this steady increase of drinking in our country. Having formerly considered the responsibility of the individual and of the home toward the use of alcoholic beverages, let us think today of the responsibility of the church. Who would respect the church if it did not take a firm stand against the liquor traffic? As we believe the church should make no compromise with this or any other evil, let us be more sincere, more active through the church in our opposition to this entrenched evil.

LOOK TO THE FUTURE

What is this thing of which we speak?

Values of life that we see
The life that is, the life that was,
The life that is to be

It matters not what life has been;
The present is here to do
To make the future a brighter place
For others to begin anew.

To err is human—to forgive Divine!

So spake that orator of old,
But we poor mortals here below
Have forgotten the truth he told.

We look for bad, and not for good,
In lives of men we know,
But look not at our own mistakes
So prevalent here below.

The lowly Nazarine did often speak
Of how our lives should be
To help the downtrodden rise again
When He walked by the sea of Galilee.

We must look forward—never backward.

Into a greater life ahead,
And try to help some weary soul
Along dark paths he treads.

Mistakes made should make us stronger

For the tasks that lie ahead,
And fit us better for service here
And by His spirit we must be led.

We must look to the future—not the past.

Ask God to be our guide,
Profit by mistakes that we have made,
And in His laws abide.

God always listens when we confess
Our sins to Him each day,
And lifts us up to greater heights
The strengthen us along the way.

The past is gone—the future looms
To make of it whatever we may,
And with God's help we try again
To live it better day by day.

CASH FARM INCOME RISES

Raleigh, July 13—North Carolina's cash farm income, including government payments, was $40,421,000 in the first four months of this year or 13 per cent above the corresponding period last year, W. T. Wesson, N. C. department of agricultural statistician, reported today. His figures were based on a report by the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

CALLS ON U. S. TO QUIT BOOZE

Atlantic City, N. J., July 12.—The International Christian Endeavor Society convention called today for a return of prohibition "if the people of the country are to live together in sobriety and happiness."

In a resolution, the 6,000 delegates recalled that 30 years ago in a similar convention here the society coined the slogan, "A Saloonless Nation by 1920."

They added: "Through the unceasing efforts of Christian men and women across the country, national prohibition was achieved in 1918. As Endeavorers meet again in Atlantic City it is to find the traffic in alcoholic beverages has been revived as a major menace to public morals and civic goodness."

"We believe that the liquor traffic must be restricted and prohibited if the people of this country are to live together in sobriety and happiness."

The society urged passage of pending congressional measures restricting sale of alcoholic beverages

TELLS HOW TO MAKE GOOD HAY CROPS

A hay crop should yield at least a ton per acre and three tons per acre are possible in North Carolina, says E. C. Blair, extension service agronomist at N. C. State College. Here are some of the rules for good production set out by the specialist:

All hay crops respond to a fertile soil. They take large quantities of plant food from the soil. The non-legumes get all their food from this source. Legumes, if inoculated, can draw about two-thirds of the needed nitrogen from the air, the other third necessarily coming from the soil.

For these reasons, hay crops should be grown in rotations to which legumes are turned under and should be well fertilized.

The presence of plenty of usable near military camps and proposed the "utmost activity on the part of Christian Endeavorers everywhere leading toward local option, immediate sharp restriction and eventual elimination of liquor advertisements and rigid control of liquor sales."

plant food and lime in the soil not only results in bigger yields but also in hay of higher feed value. Such hay contains more protein, vitamins and mineral matter than the same kind of hay grown under conditions of soil poverty. Animals fed on this hay grows faster, develop better bones, and are healthier than those fed on hay low in these materials.

Stable manure is a valuable supplement for fertilizers in all parts of the state and should be used alone at the rate of five tons per acre in most sections.

Lime also is valuable in that it will increase the yield and mineral content of hay, if the soil needs it. While certain crops, such as alfalfa and red clover, refuse to grow satisfactorily on most soils without an application of lime, others will grow without it.

ALWAYS EGGS

Whether dried, liquid or frozen eggs are used in baked goods, the unqualified term "eggs" is usually used on the label.

HIGH ITALIAN LOSSES LISTED BY BRITISH

London, July 13.—Italian losses in prisoners and other casualties in land operations numbered about 582,000 by the end of June, the ministry of information reported today. Of these 206,000 were native troops.

In the Libyan campaign the British took 120,000 Italian prisoners and 15,000 natives. Casualties numbered about 15,000 including 5,000 natives.

In East Africa 96,000 Italians and 54,000 natives were captured. Casualties were estimated at 25,000 Italians and 132,000 natives of whom the majority were deserters.

The ministry estimated Italy had 100,000 casualties in the Albanian campaign and that 25,000 others were taken by the Greeks before the German invasion began.

UNIFORMS IN JAPAN

Schoolboys in Japan wear either army or navy uniforms, with school buttons, but army and navy uniforms are seldom seen on the streets.
