Mrs. John Conway's Experience Gives Local Angle to Benefits Of Red Cross 126.00, to bring the total to $2,-

Mrs. John Conway, former resident of this city, who has lived in Lenoir, since the death of her husband, Lieutenant John Conway, a few weeks ago, has addresed the following letter to the Caldwell County Red Cross Chapter, bring-ing local color to the value of the Red Cross on the home front. Mrs. Conway says: "My Dear friends:

"I want the people to know just what the Red Cross is doing for our soldiers and what the Red Cross does for relatives of our ar-

"During the recent tragedy of my husband's death, the late First Lt. John Conway, I was brought to realize just what the Red Cross can mean to one in trouble, and so far from home.

"After his injury my husband was taken from Princeton, N. J. to a station hospital at Fort Dix, N. J.

I arrived at the Fort at 10 p. m. Saturday night, with no idea of where to find accommodations so late. But the Red Cross had been notified of my arrival and called me to say they had a room for me. However, at my husband's wish, I spent the night at the hospital

"Next morning I was shown to the Red Cross unit adjoining the hospital. The ladies there were more than merely Red Cross workers, they had the kind and personal sympathetic touch that made me feel I was not among strangers

"The rooms were very attrac-tive. They supply you with everything to make you comfortable and are with you constantly. Our meals, coffee, etc., were brought to our room.

"I was called to my husband's side at 5 p. m. for the end. When I left his room, the Red Cross field worker was waiting for me and went back with me to my room, helped me pack, brought coffee, and did— oh, so many things for my father, and especially for my young son.

"They told us not to worry about train reservations, that they would attend to that. They call-ed New York for Pullman space and were refused, but told us not to worry, that we would get them, they were being requested through the army. In less than 30 minutes we had our reservations. "We were driven in a Red Cross car by an officer from the Fort and accompanied by a Red Cross lady 22 miles to Trenton, N. J., to board our train. They stayed with us until our train pulled out. "Had it not been for the many, many kindnesses shown us by the Red Cross and the army officials, it would have been so much harder.

"I knew the Red Cross was a wonderful organization, but had never known before just how unlimited and how personal their services are. "Sincerely, "MRS. JOHN CONWAY."

Captured German U-Boat Crew at Oral $2,200 OF QUOTA IN N THIRD DAY OF RED CROSS EFFORT

Local Organization Expects To Maintain Watauga's Record Of Exceeding Quota; Will Make Supreme Effort To Raise $5,-000 By End of March.

As the third day of the Red Cross War Fund campaign came to a close, Clyde R. Greene, the county chairman of the drive, revealed that very incomplete figures indicated that Watauga county had already raised a little more than $2,200 of her quota of $3,600 with only a "scratching of the surface."

Mr. Greene states that with very incomplete returns from the initial canvasses, Boone and the county had already contributed $1,031.25, reports from Blowing Rock, while not detailed, indicate a subscription there of $1,-257.25.

Mr. Greene points out that last year Watauga had a quota of $1,500 and raised $2,500, and says that the county will again greatly exceed its quota, as it has always done. The officials in charge of the campaign expect to make a desperate effort to raise $5,000 by the close of the campaign at the end of the month.

Following is the list of the early contributors, so far as they could be ascertained for this is-

Due to the shortage of help in the Democrat office it was impossible for us to revise our mailing list completely for this issue, and some who have not renewed will receive their paper today. However the work of putting the list in strictly current condition is be-ing done as rapidly as possible, and if you want to continue to get the county paper, look at your la-bel now or at the date on the card recently sent you, and see if your subscription has expired. Those who don't want to miss an issue should renew immediately, for the time is growing short. Out-of-state subscribers must now send $2.00 per year, rather than the $1.50 as previously and other price changes are in prospect. Many hundreds of subscribers have renewed in the last few days and we thank them for their unprecedented response.
