Much Activity at Local USES Office

Beach Keller, supervising interviewer of the local USES office, states that the month of November was one of the heaviest months of the year. There were 1,695 contacts made with 880 of these being veterans. 99 percent of these have been routed for additional service to local jobs, civil service and other government agencies. A large percent of the returning veterans are taking advantage of the various trade schools, colleges, and on the job training. There are 10 approved establishments for veterans' training in Boone. More of these establishments are greatly needed in order to take care of returning servicemen. Any employer who is in need of workers is urged to contact the local USES office, where workers are registered in most every trade and skill.
