

Sunday School Lesson

HOW CHRISTIANS SHOULD BEHAVE
 International Sunday School Lesson For December 8, 1946
 Golden Text: "Let us walk becomingly, as in the day."—Romans 13:13.

Lesson Text: I Co. 11:20-27; Romans 13:13-14; Ephesians 5:18-22.
 Our reference from Corinthians shows how the spirit of a pagan world can make its way into the innermost shrine of Christian worship and defile it. The Corinthians to whom Paul was writing considered themselves Christians but were so completely self-centered, so satisfied in their own comfortable existence, that they were completely unmoved by the needs and feelings of those not so fortunately circumstanced. They had lost sight, also, of the spiritual meaning of the most are, of course, other ways to unworthily partake of the Lord's Supper. In a spirit of quiet reverence, each one should realize that he, or she, is participating in an act of worship through symbols named by Jesus himself. We should not interpret Paul's word "unworthily," in reference to the Lord's Supper, to mean that we must be sinless to take the bread and cup. If we are to interpret it thus, no one of us could consider ourselves worthy. Each should partake of the Lord's Supper as believers desiring to more deeply appreciate his sacrifice for us and to commune more sincerely with him.

 In the two verses we have from Paul's letter to the Christians in Rome, we are told how Christians should deport themselves at all times. Moffatt's translation gives this selection thus: "Let us live decorously as in the open light of day—no revelry or bouts of drinking, no debauchery of sensuality, no quarrelling or jealousy. No, put on the character of the Lord Jesus Christ, and never think how to gratify the cravings of the flesh."
 Paul speaks of conduct as a walk some thirty-three times in his letters. Of his advice to "put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ," F. B. Meyer has this to say: "How constantly we are rushing into life with all its demands, half-dressed!" When we are proud, we have left out Christ's humility; when we are morally weak, we have forgotten to put on Christ as our strength; when we fall in some temptation, we have failed to put on Christ as the complement to all demands; when there is lack in us of the sweetness, reasonableness, and loveliness of Jesus, it is because we have forgotten to put on his meek, quiet spirit. Let us 'put on the Lord Jesus Christ,' and every part of his vesture."
 It is not necessary to turn this discussion into a preaching against the drinking of alcohol or intemperance in any form. If anyone who calls himself a Christian follows the admonitions of Paul outlined above, he will have the strength necessary to forego the temptations to gluttony, drunkenness and accompanying evils.
 To accomplish his, Paul advises "Be filled with Spirit." By this, he means to live so simply and purely that you can at any time speak to God in prayer and the strength received from such communion will assure one of overcoming temptations. Someone has said that the Christian should "be so busy doing the work of God that he just hasn't enough time left to be doing the work of the Devil."

 In asking the question, "Where Do You Live?" Roy L. Smith declared: "Some men live in the dining room of their lives the whole year through. What they eat and drink are the biggest issues of life for them. Their whole education is in their tongue."
 "Other men spend their whole existence in the basements of their lives keeping company with dark and foul things that are never brought up to the light to day—consorting with passions and appetites of which their best friends know nothing."
 "But those who have found life most satisfying, most rewarding, are those who live in the library, and the study. Life, like the Father's house, is full of 'many rooms,' and every man who seeks the beautiful, the pure, and the holy may find the room where these things are."
 Where do you live?

Jews Celebrate the Festival of Lights
 To the Orthodox Jews, the Christmas period was the "Festival of Lights," called Hanukkah or Chanukah. Jewish history relates that in 165 B. C. a large force of Maccabees met and vanquished an army of Syrians.
 Judas Maccabees entered Jerusalem with his army and found it a place of desolation. He began the work of purification and on the 25th day of Kislev it was finished and a sacred light was lit.
 In their destruction of the temple the sacred oil was practically exhausted, but they did find a jar which they judged would burn one day it lasted eight days, therefore each year the Jews decree that the eight days previous to December 25 be celebrated.

STRIKES
 About 120,000,000 man-days of work were lost in the year after V-J Day as the result of 4,830 work stoppages, affecting nearly 5,000,000 workers, according to the Department of Labor. The lost man-days were about 1.6 per cent of the total working time in all industries. Forty-two disputes, involving 10,000 or more workers, accounted for about fifty per cent of all workers involved in the twelve-months period surveyed.

Peace, Good-Will
 The time draws near the birth of Christ:
 The moon is hid; the night is still;
 The Christmas bells from hill to hill
 Answer each other in the mist.
 Four voices of four hamlets round,
 From far and near, on mead and moor,
 Swell out and fall, as if a door
 Were set between me and the sound.
 Each voice four changes on the wind,
 That now dilate, and now decrease,
 Peace and good-will, good-will and peace,
 Peace and good-will, to all mankind.
 Tennyson.
