

Honor Day At Appalachian

At the annual honor day held at Appalachian High School on Friday, May 25, many awards were given along with the recognition of outstanding students in various activities sponsored this year. The following students received special recognition: Mrs. Beaty recognized Jimmy Holshouser, Cecil Greene and Patsy McGuire for helping with the school publicity.

Phil McGuire and Talmo Craven, leading Christmas carolers, were recognized by Mr. Beaty.

Outstanding in 4-H boys work were Milton Moretz, Clyde Austin, and Douglas Clawson. Mr. Eingham was their sponsor.

In Mr. Ross' dramatics work were Coaker Triplett, Dixon Qualls, Hugh Hartley, Betty Burkett, Bobby Miller, and Laura Holshouser.

Bobby Ray was recognized as being the most courteous boy while Mary Frank Gragg was voted the most courteous girl.

The safe bus drivers awards for the second year were earned by Mr. Alex South, Cecil Greene, and Jack Hardie. One year awards went to Mr. Ernest White, and Clay Beshears.

Outstanding in National Honor Society work were Leonard Greer, Clyde Austin, Douglas Clawson.

Bill Crawford had the distinction of being the only senior to win the four year perfect attendance award.

Betty Ruth Hodges was the district spelling contest winner. Hugh Hartley and Charles Taylor were complimented for their fine work in school maintenance.

The senior awards were: Danforth Foundation Award—Leonard Greer and Ramona Hardie. Emily Post Courtesy Award—Faye Cook.

Readers' Digest Subscription—Joann Aldridge; Best Citizens—John Moretz and Sara Jane Lewis.

Marjorie South was recognized as having recently had a poem in the National High School Poetry Association Journal.

John Moretz presented a radio to the Junior Class from the Seniors.
