

Special Course For Farm Vets Being Arranged

The announcement of a special enrollment for PL 550 veterans whose delimiting date occurs prior to October 1, 1954, was made by Mr. A. L. Teachey, Supervisor Veterans Farmer Training Program, Raleigh, on June 16.

PL 550 veterans whose delimiting date occurs prior to October 1, 1954 and who did not have an opportunity to enroll in March or April may be enrolled on August 1, 1954 provided they have at that time a satisfactory training situation and can meet all training requirements.

The delimiting date refers to those veterans who were discharged before August 20, 1952. This means that any veteran who is not enrolled in school before that date loses all of his benefits for schooling. This announcement was sent to the agriculture teachers in each county, and as far as I know it applies particularly to those who are eligible and want to enter the farm training program. It may be applicable to all PL 550 veterans.

All training papers must be prepared and approved and sent to Mr. Teachey not later than July 25, 1954. Those who are interested should contact the agriculture teacher at Cove Creek or at Boone.

QUESTION: Can tea be grown successfully in North Carolina?
ANSWER: The tea plant can be grown in North Carolina but the state is certainly on the edge of its survival range. It will probably survive, but not grow very well. In general one might say that where camellias grow, tea can grow also. The prospects of marketing North Carolina grown tea would seem to be slim. Attempting to grow tea in an area where it is not ideally suited, and then trying to market it in competition with cheaply produced Oriental teas would not be practical.

QUESTION: What is a pre-emergence treatment in regard to treating corn with a chemical weed killer?
ANSWER: A pre-emergence treatment is a spray applied to the soil after the corn is planted and before it emerges. This treatment may be considered as "insurance" that weeds will not over-grow seedling corn, particularly in bottomland during a wet season. At recommended rates, the chemical 2,4-D will not control established perennial grasses such as Johnson grass, Bermuda grass and quackgrass. While present in the soil 2,4-D will destroy most germinating seeds, including crabgrass.

Scott To Speak At Grange Meet

Former Governor Scott, U. S. Senate nominee, will be one of the principal speakers when the Yadkin Valley Conservation and Flood Control Association and the Wilkes County P. O. on a Grange hold their annual Fourth of July picnic Saturday July 3, near the village of Ferguson on the T. W. Ferguson farm.

State Grange Master Harry B. Caldwell is also expected to speak, and Representative Hugh Alexander has been invited, together with other prominent people.

A number of Watauga counties are expected to attend. Fifteen counties are to be represented.

Commercial slaughter of cattle, calves, sheep, lambs and hogs in North Carolina during April, 1954 amounted to 20,316,000 pounds liveweight, 13 per cent below the March figure.

AWARDED EXPERT INFANTRYMEN'S BADGE

Fort Benning, Ga.—Pfc. Donald Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ward of Sugar Grove, N. C. has been awarded the Expert Infantryman's Badge.

To win this coveted badge, which is a musket on a blue background, Ward was required to pass 14 tests on basic Infantry subjects including map reading, control of rifle fire of a squad, military courtesy, scouting and patrolling, and a subject new to Infantrymen, adjustment of artillery fire.

Pfc. Ward is a member of Company "K" 30th Infantry Regiment.

ELECTRIC CURRENT

It is expected that power-hungry United States homes and factories will burn twice as much electricity in 1965 as they do now, according to Walter L. Cister, utilities official, who said studies show the nation's power industry must "plan to add from 7,000,000 to 12,000,000 kilowatts of new generating capacity each year between now and 1965."

DISH TOWELING ADDS COLOR—Dish towels can be delightful and colorful additions to the kitchen. Toweling can be used with striking effect for curtains, tablecloths, place mats, aprons, as well as for drying dishes. When you buy dish towels, look for quality in the material—it will give you maximum service and satisfaction. Read the label, examine the material before you buy—fiber content, colorfastness, and other washing instructions should be found on the label. Before investing in a large supply of one particular color of towel, purchase one or two and test them in your washer.

Choose a firm, rough textured fabric that is not too thin. Kitchen "crash" is the term used to describe toweling that has a hard texture to reduce linting. The hard texture of crash also makes towels more absorbent.
