WATAUGA DEMOCRAT

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY REVERS PRINTING COMPANY

R. C. SIVERS, JR., PUBLISHER

An Independent Weekly Newspaper stabilized in 2008 and published for 45 years by the late Robert C. Rivers, Sr.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES Watauga County: One year, $2.00; Six months, $1.50; four months, $1.90; Outside Watau nty: One year, $2.50; Six months, $1.75; four months, $1.25.

NUCE TO SUBSCRIPTERS on requesting change of address, it is important to mention the OLD, well as the NEW address. INTICE TO SUBSCRIP Entered at the postoffice at Boone, N. C., as second class shall matter, under the set of Congress of March 3, 1679.

BOONE, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1956

A Cup May Cost Less

That the price of coffee is supposed to drop a mite in the next few days is at least a solid rumor, and brings more than passing interest to those who linger over the steaming Java, and who have found during the days of continuing inflation that the cost of the dark brew represents a considerable sum in the weekly grocery bill.

Some time ago the National Geographic ciety told us that Americans co 60 per cent of the world export of coffee, and interestingly enough, it was also pointed out that our coffee drinking habits are rarely imitated in any other countries. It would appear that coffee sipping cardes its own wealth of custom and tradition. The Frenchman still hies every morning to a sidewalk cafe for his cup of cafe au lait-coffee mixed with hot milk. In Arabia, where the coffee plant was first cultivated, the beans are roasted, pulverized and boiled for each brew. No business deal is complete without coffee. It is served before any bargaining begins -generally without milk or sugar, though sometimes with cardamon seeds. An Arab takes a sip of water before his coffee, but considers an agua chaser a breach of name and coffee and in between est raw coffee berries. Algerians, who originated a sweetened cold coffee mixture, mazagran, thus fathered iced coffee. In south-ern France, mazagran is diluted with selz-

a have in the state of the

In Ethiopia, where coffee grew wild Galla tribesmen make rations of ground coffee which is high in protein and fat. One ball of this mixture, about the size of a billiard ball, sustains a warrior for a

Strangely enough, coffee was first re-garded as a food, later as a wine and medgarded as a food, fater as a write the past 700 years as a beverage. Originally the drink incited trouble, coffee was banned and apeak-easies sprang up. By the 18th century, a Turk, when he married, had to promise to keep his wife in coffee. Failure to do Anyway, whether one likes the brew bilin' hot or icy cold, it's part and parcel of human existence, and whatever the price, there's no chance of it's losing its standing as the universal beverage.

etiquet. Uganda natives concoct a drink of ba-full day's marching.

so was grounds for divorce.

Self-Help Program

Farm communities in the Asheville, N C. area have revitalized themselves through an organized development program that is attracting international attention.

The seven-year self-improvement effort of more than 100 communities in the 16county area around Asheville is described in a December Reader's Digest and "When the Whole Town Pulls Togeth by John Strohm. The article was condensed from the Farm Journal.

"These communities have rediscovered a grass-roots weapon as old as barn-raisings and box suppers," says the writer. "Their secret is the organized community, mobilizing the collective energies of every

Throttle, Bottle Deadly

"A loaded gun is no more dangerous than a half-loaded driver," Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, says. "For one thing, the driver isn't recognized as a lethel weapon."

Mr. Deraborn, appealing to civic organizations and enforcement officials to "Back the Attack" against traffic accidents, pointed out that drinking drivers and drinking pedestrians are more prevalent during the Christmas holidays than at any other time of the year.

Because of the emergency traffic situation, with its rising toll, Mr. Dearborn m, woman and child to raise the neighborhood by its bootstraps."

The record shows that as a result of the drive to improve, these farmers raised their income from 621/2 million dollars to 82 million dollars at a time when national farm income was steadily going down. Broiler income has jumped from $485,-000 to $5,800,000. Dairy income has increased more than two million dollars, and beef-cattle marketing has risen from 43,000 to 100,000 in four years.

Better health, higher civic spirit, better farming practices, improved youth programs, and more personal happiness are all cited as products of the redevelopment program.

killed in traffic accidents last Christmas, according to a study made by the National Safety Council.

Drinking drivers were involved in 55 per cent of the fatal mishaps, although normally they are involved in around 20 per cent, the study showed. Speed was a factor in 85 per cent, compared with an annual average of 35 per cent.

The most common driver action contributing to fatal accidents was driving on the wrong side of the road or in the center of the road. Failure to observe a signal or stop sign was second. Mechantallure ure blowo

sible for only four of the fatal accidents

Seventy-five per cent of the accidents happened during dark hours, between 5

p. m. and 7 p. m. One-third of the pedestrian victims were crossing between intersections, stepping from behind a parked car or walking on

Tongue-Twisters Trip Top Talkers him, some listeners were reminded of the an-TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS in newspapers nouncer who sang the virtues of "Hand's Hind

Cream.'

Stretch's Sketches

TOUCH MENDING CHORE

By Paul Berdanier

have long since established themselves as leading mirth-provokers, many of Khayyam in his immortal Rubyaiat (the spelling is pure guesswork), "The moving finger writes, and having writ moves on, nor all your plety nor wit shall lure it back to cancel half a line, nor all your tears wash out a word of it." Still, a newspaper has one advantage over most other operations in the matter of making mistakes. It can always print a correction in the quota of ludicrous slips of the tongue in the form of misplaced letters, transposed syllables, as well as just plain mental lapses. The Saturday Evening Post once printed some of them, and I placed it in the Useless Information file.

"Hark! I hear a white horse coming," "We presented the newted nose analyst," "It's smipe-poking time," and "The urge is needent" are just run-of-the-mike miscues.

Fred Uttall offered an extraordinary prospect on one occasion. "I am here," he stated stoutly, "to introduce Buppert's Rear!" Hearing

From Early Democrat Files

Sixty Years Ago

December 3, 1896. Miss Mary Cole Boyden is visiting friends in emption Board by the resignation of Attorne John H. Bingham, which was promptly filled by the appointment of Mr. J. D. Councill. . . . The three gentlemen now composing the board are Mesars John Lewis, J. D. Councill, with Dr. H.

By "STRETCH" ROLLINS

Sterling North, literary critic, bade his audi-ence farewell with "This is Sterling Night,"saying

A sportscaster watched a long fly soar into left field. "The fielder is backing up," he re-ported, "back, way back-he hits his head against the wall, picks it up and pags it home." He ne-glected to say whether the outfielder's head reached the plate on the fly or first bounce.

Another announcer put a colleague on the air with "And now we bring you the dope from the

At a Red Cross luncheon broadcast from Wash ington several years ago, an article reported the master of ceremonies illustrated the unself-ishness of General George C. Marshall, then Secretary of State, by telling how the general, between an exhausting trip to China and an impending one to Europe, had taken time to address the meeting, although he had long been looking forward to "a week end in the country with Mrs. Eisenhower."

But it remained for veteran announcer Andre Baruch to tangle a line worse than any novice fisherman. He opened a program with "Good ladies, evening and gentlemen of the sudio good north and pleasant reading."

ball parks, Doug Arthur!"

KING STREET

By ROB RIVERS

ON THE POSTOFFICE . . A GAY SANTA

The lights along the streets are prettier this year than usual, and supply a colorful note to the holiday shopping season. . . Atop the postoffice is a handsome addition to the festive color Atop the postoffice is a handsome addition to the festive color scheme—a big Santa-Claus, on which beams a floodlight under which acting postmaster Lyle Cook says he plans to have some wording in line with early Christmas mailing. . The Santa, expertly cut from a piece of plywood, and gaily painted by Cecil Farthing, postoffice employee, rests against the south side of the cupola, and the Postmaster, Mr. Farthing and others are to be congratulated upon the added bit of color. . . Inci-dantally this rost-checked Santa feaning against the little tower, permission in the south a bid or painted by the south state of the cupola and the south south a state of the south south south a state of the south south south south a state of the south so reminds us that one time we had a movement promoted to place a four-faced clock in the cupols to strike the hour and let all and sundry know the time. . . As we recall it, permission was secured from the post office department for the installation of a timepiece at community expense, but money being short in most pants pockets along the street, at the time, the thing was dropped

THE GYP GAME . . MAYBE REARED UGLY HEAD And there were still recollections of the guy who me to town and swindled all and sundry on a super clock deal. This likely had to do with our going out of business on our postoffice proposal. . . . The fellow had sold stock in the time-piece which was to be in-stalled on the bank building, and besides pointing to stalled on the bank building, and besides pointing to the hours with mammoth hands, was to have baro-metric readings, a temperature scale, and other nice-ties not usually associated with the courthouse-town type of clock. Money was a bit tight, but the fellows chipped in right and left with their fifty-dollar con-tributions, and the prescribed sum was raised without dificulty. The agent vanished, the money went with him, and the grand clock down on the corner failed to materialize

TIME HEALS ... IT'S STILL A GOOD NOTION And since time has healed the wounds caused by the clever crook a long time ago, we still think it's a fine idea, if the government is yet willing, to place a clock in the postoffice cupole. The thing actually looks like it was built for something other than a base for a set of directional pointers, and if th Post Office Department would add its blessing again, we'd still like to subscribe to the public clock fund. . . . Such an instrument, we know, would add nothing to the progress and development of the community, but we think it would be kind of nice.

ODDS AND ENDS ... RANDOM THOUGHTS

Herb Shriner's December 1 telecast winds up with wishing all the viewers a happy Thanksgiving Day, ten days after the turkey had been carved and the football games played. . . . Most of the programs we see during the summer, that is the dramatic presentations, had been seen year after year, reminding of the old saw about the country newspaper publisher who ran last week's forms again when the printer blew the town over the week-end. . . . But he couldn't hope to get by with it now. ... Only television can survive the like. . . . The gooey stickers they put on one's automobile are next to impossible to remove, and there are a lot of folks who don't want to use their private automobile for a billboard. It's sort of like telerating a circus poster on the front door. . . . The glitter of the stores-the baby dolls, coaster wagons, bikes, and the happy-faced children making the rounds of the shopping section. . . . Paul Ragan, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ragan, of Rutherwood, crying for lack of snow and giving his parents a hard time, because they "won't move, to Boone so Til have someting to make a snow man wif."

So This Is New York By NORTH CALLAHAN

About half a block ip front of me on 42nd Street, I could see that a crowd had gathered on the sidewalk. Pedestrians who wanted to pass had to walk out in the the crowd were trying to push their way inward. Wondering what the excitement was. I hurried my steps and as I came closer saw some smoke arising from the midst of the human congestion. It was at least a good fire. I thought, the reporter's instinct being fed by this never-failing fascination. Edg-ing and elbowing my way in, not too rudely I trusted, I came upon the cause of the crowd: it was a new hamburger stand with a beaming colored cook inside the window blithely cooking the mest morsels and realizing that he was the center of the excited attention

Progress has been made in rais ing the pay of teachers but a look at the local situation, in which the highest salaries in the United States are paid to educators, indi-cates that there is still something to be desired: for example, a bus boy at the El Morocco nightclub gets $50 a week for carrying dish-es back and forth to the kitchen; while a teacher in the New York City schools starts at $72 a week.

New York has 75 foreign-langu-age newspapers besides several which strive to do a job in Eng-lish. This is vividity brought out in a new book entitled "New Hori-sons. USA" which Psin American World Atrways has just brought out and which is designed to in-crease the $600,000,000 which for-ering visitors spend instally in this country. For Instance, the book describes Maine them thowders, Baton Rouge, La. creole food, Mexican food in Texas, and Southern cornbread as well as Middle Western vegetables. Hotel accommodations, local history, restaurants, shops, schools etc, are hand-tended meaning. And in the words of Omar uaid a year-round "Back U le Au Traffic Accidents" campaign is being launched this December and will continue throughout 1957.

The purpose of the campaign is, first, to encourage public officials to step up the attack and, second, to stimulate citizens to back the attack on traffic accidents.

The throttle and the bottle were the big reasons why a record 609 persons were

> Unsportsmanlike Conduct (Elkin Tribune.)

istudied.

a roadway.

There are so-called "sportsmen" who. when going forth to hunt quail and other game, have been responsible for the numerous "posted" areas in rural sections. Fortunately, these are a minority, but their unsportsmanlike activity has been responsible for damaged fences, gates left open, shooting toward a dwelling, leaving litter scattered about and other unthinking treatment of another's property which has penalized the true sportsman as farmers, in self-defense, have put up "No Trespass" signs on their property. Wildlife Clubs and other sportmen's groups have been fighting the irresponsible hunter for quite some time.

Now comes the Christmas season, and a new type of unsportsmanlike conduct may be expected from otherwise considerste individuals who sally forth to the rural areas to search for a Christmas aree and other evergreens with which to decorate their homes in this season of "Good will toward men.

Each year there are many instances of unthinking people invading private property and chopping down evergreen trees, and cutting holly, ignoring the fact they may be damaging and defacing another person's property. There have even been instances of trespassing citizens cutting evergreen trees practically in the front yard of a rural home of which the owner happened to be away from at the moment.

Of course it's fun to go in search of a Christmas tree, but reason should prevail and the rights of others considered. And with as many places available where trees may be purchased for a nominal sum, there's no excuse for it in the first place.

Trespass notices are not always effec-tive. But a shotgun loaded with rock salt might be helpful in helping solve the rural dwellers' problem.

Ashe co

Many of the colored people are taking leave of our county and going to Jellico, the haven of peace and plenty for the colored race.

There is a general rush for the fourth class postoffice by the Republicans. It seems strange us that men are so anxious for an office that only pays a few dollars per year, but such is life in politics. Mesars T. F. Coffey and G. W. Councill have purchased a heavy steam sawmill which will be delivered here this week, and located in the fine forest of Rev. J. G. Pulliam on Howard's Creek. Mr. J. R. Hagaman, an experienced sawyer, will run the mill.

Mr. A. F. Davis died at his home near Todd Monday afternoon.

The United States has discovered a vast gold The United States has discovered a vast gold belt in Alaska that is 500 miles long and from 50 to 100 miles wide. . . It had been generally supposed that Alaska was not fit for anything when it was purchased by the United States.

The building of a railroad from Cranberry Linville has been postponed, neither will the Cranberry Works reopen as reported. President Cleveland has purchased a house in Princeton, N. J., and will make his future ome there. Mark Hanna will go into the McKinley cabinet.

Thirty-Nine Years Ago

December 6, 1917.

Mrs. N. E. Salmons of Noute 1 is now at the home of her son, Dr. E. G. Salmons of Boone, and will remain here during the winter. Mr. Wm. Carender, an aged, well-known and respected citizen of Matney, was found dead in his bed inst Saturday morning. The old gentleman had been in his usual good health and had eaten a hearty supper the hight before. Interment was made on Sunday mear the old home. Atern

Another variancy occurred in the d.ocal Ex-

B. Perry examining physician.

That one I don't believe.

Appalachian Training School Items: Capt. Lovill has presented to the Museum two valuable old relics, a powder horn which his great grandfather John D. Reeves carried in the Revolutionary War, he being in the 10th Continental Line; the other, a large well-preserved Indian

Rev. Mr. Powell, with his wife and little children, arrived in the village yesterday even ing. The parsonage not being in readiness they stopped at the Blackburn Hotel, but will move on as their household effects arrive and a little more work can be done on the building Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Bingham a baby boy.

Fifteen Years Ago

December 4, 1941.

Funeral services for William Bingham, w known farmer of Vilas, were conducted last Fri-day afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Hemion's Chapel Methodist Church. The pastor, Rev. M. A. Osborne, was in charge of the rites, and interment was in the nearby cemetery. . . Mr. Birigham died almost suddenly Wednesday after-

Duke University will meet Oregon State Col-lege in the Rose Bowl football game New Year's day.

The last general assembly enacted a law which

The last general assembly enacted a law which provided that trucks owned and operated by farmers may be licensed for one-hall the regis-tration fee when the trucks are used for trans-porting farm products and farm supplies. A. Loven, representative of the Metro Publi-city Service, who is said to have swindled a number of local merchants recently on a give-away advertising plan, has been apprehended and is now being held in Roxboro for trial there on similar charges. It is expected that he will be returned to Boohe for trial in the near future. near future ily set forth. The only thing which seems lacking is that some of the outstanding small towns are not covered.

A local publisher reports that "ancient cavemen chiselled their literary efforts with a couple of stones. Elizabethan poets wrote their sonnets with quill pens. The typewriter is the standard tool of modern suthors. But Noel Loomis of Wisconsin does it the easy way: he writes his books on a Model 15 Linotype machine right in his own basement." Apparently this writ-er finds it easier to concentrate on the Lino and turn out some 3,100,000 words a day in this manner, usually western stories. But to please the publishers, he has this copy typed before it is sent in.

Ambussadress Clure Boothe who recently got the "Luce treatment" is said to have been in ill health for some time. One day she st ped at an Italian hotel and was my that she merely told the clerk to get her name off her lug gage, then she retired to her room. Next morning she found she was registered as "Mins Guaranteed Cowhide."

A local minister remarks that if anyone wants to see happy faces, he should not expect to find from on Broadway. "There are too miny people there who are chaining hap-press," he continued. It is true that you have to have a contain (Cottinued in page 4, and Social) the ten page 1, and 1