SHOES—SELECTION AND FITTING—The doctors who have given time and thought to the study of feet give a word of warning to the ones who don't now have ailing and mal-shaped feet, especially to younger women and girls.
A recent fashion magazine says that as a reliable guide to the proportions of the individual foot, many stores rely on a foot measure because no two feet are identical. Indeed, even the right and left foot show variations in each individual. Not only width and length are measured, but much more important, the length from heel to ball joint. Both feet are measured to take into account the slight difference in length between right and left foot. The well-trained shoe man knows how to judge from these measurements, the size and type of shoe for best appearance and comfort. He knows that the widest part of the shoe must come at the ball joint.
Shoes should fit snugly at the heel. Shoes should allow sufficient freedom of movement of toes to avoid compressing the feet. Short fitting and narrow fitting cause pressure and result in callouses, corns and bunions. Guard against this!
With feet varying so widely in different individuals, standardization of lasts is neither possible nor desirable.
Shoe buying is one of the consumer's important items of spending because health attitudes and happiness are involved.

50th Wedding Date Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Maston Trivette of Rominger, N. C., celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at the home of their oldest son, George Trivette, of Vilas, February third.
Mr. George Trivette was 49 years old that day.
Mr. and Mrs. Trivette were married February 2, 1907. To them were born eight children, six boys and two girls, seven of whom are living. They have twenty-five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.
Necklines are coming in for a lot of attention. A good many necklines, on dresses and suits are opened up and filled with pearls, gold chains or crystal beads.
Spring and summer dresses sport touches of chiffon for all kinds of fanciful effects.
Shoes are more pointed than ever. Purses are small and neat-looking. The ever-popular big satchel is made quite sleek-looking.
Pink, as always for spring, is an important color. This may be because there is a shade of pink that is becoming to everybody.
The jacket dress is a good investment for the budget-minded lady.
TURKEY RATES IN OUR DIET ANY TIME—Turkey meat, once strictly a holiday dish, is now an all-season food. Turkey is good and it's good for us. It is both glamorous and delicious. It is highest in protein of all meats, and along with young roast chicken, lowest in fats. It is also very rich in niacin and riboflavin, two of the important B vitamins which are so vital to human health and well-being. These facts were recently established by new and important meat studies by Cornell University.
TO ACCOMPANY MOST ANY MEAT DISH—It's a good idea to have a supply of cranberries for relish, jelly or whatever you like. Now is the time to tuck away a good supply for use during those months when fresh cranberries are not available. And, of course, the freezer is the perfect place to store them. The U. S. Department of Agriculture states that frozen whole cranberries, stored in the freezer for a year, made sauce with all the flavor, color and jelly strength of sauce from fresh berries.
WHY NOT TRY THIS?—If you like to grease cake pans and then dust them with flour before adding the cake batter, here's a quick trick: If you are baking chocolate of Devil's Food Cake for dinner, substitute cocoa for flour when dusting the pans to prevent any white streaks on the rich, brown crust.
Spring suits have a new look. The jackets are short—just as they were during the fall and winter. They end at the waistline or come as low as the hip line.
The short-jacket suits usually feature a soft easy fitting skirt. The longer jackets are belted. This new interest in belts has brought on a new crop of novel belts well worth mentioning—the gold chain necklace-belt and the wrap-around belt. Try adding one of these to your old suit to give it a pick-up.

Art Exhibit Is Set At Lees-McRae

The Alison B. Stirling Library of Lees-McRae College will exhibit thirty paintings of New England artists during the last weeks of February. The paintings are part of a travel exhibit offered by the North Carolina State Art Circuit out of Winston-Salem. Arthur T. Lougee, art director of the Ford Motor Company, assisted in making the prints available.

Garden Club Meets Tonight

The home and garden department of the Worthwhile Woman's Club will meet Thursday, February 14, at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. W. C. Greer on Howard Street. All members are requested to attend.

Hodges Gap Club Gathers

The Hodges Gap Home Demonstration Club will have a "bake" sale on February 23 at the Joines Furniture Store from 8:30 a. m. till all baked foods are sold.
This will give the homemakers an opportunity to demonstrate their talents at baking, the public to taste the home made bread, cakes, pies, cookies, brownies, and cup cakes.
The Club wishes to thank Mr. Joines for permitting them to use his store for the sale, the money raised from this project will be used for Community Service, to redeem the pledge to the Watauga County United Fund, to aid in small furnishings for the new Health Center as well as local needs as they arise.
As the members of the Hodges Gap Club come from a widely scattered area, it is the purpose of this club to aid and support all County Services rather than acting as a community project but are always prepared to assist in any local emergency as well.
So remember this date and come early for your home baked foods!

Health Clinics

The Well-Baby Clinic will be held at the Health Department in Boone, Wednesday, February 20, at 1:00 p. m. Dr. Hadley Wilson will be the attending physician. The purpose of this clinic is to help the preschool children, not nursed the care of a private physician, keep under medical supervision. This clinic is held the 3rd Wednesday afternoon in each month throughout the year.
Weather permitting, The Crippled Children's Clinic will be held Friday, February 22, from 8:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, at the Health Department in Boone. Dr. J. S. Gaul, Jr., are the attending physicians. It is possible that the clinic may be cancelled at the last moment if the road conditions are bad.
The Agriculture Department announced that more than 60 percent of the government-owned farm surplus disposed of since 1953 had brought cash.
