

Fifteen Foreign Students Tour Watauga Before Start College

Fifteen foreign students, from nine countries, were in Watauga county over the week-end, visiting various points of interest and in homes of rural people, before beginning a year's study at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

The students, all in this country to study certain phases of public health, will be enrolled in the School of Public Health at the university this fall. They were touring North Carolina under the direction of Mrs. Charles Dolan, professor of Public Health Nursing. Other faculty members aiding Mrs. Dolan were Miss Frances MacKinnon, professor of Nutrition; Miss Louise Cantrell, professor of Public Health Nursing; and Miss Elizabeth Guillot, professor of Medical Social Work.

Countries represented were Indonesia, Thailand, Chile, Brazil, Turkey, Egypt, Paraguay, India, and the Philippines.

The visit to Boone and Watauga was part of an orientation program, to acquaint the visitors with North Carolina, its people, its health problems and advantages, our language, etc.

Those coming were Dr. Chal Kartari, Indonesia, Dr. Sakol Meekanwal, Thailand, and Dr. Pirote Ningsanonda, Thailand, who will study public health administration;

Miss Sylvia Luz Menendez-Cataldo, Chile, Miss Lia Santibanez-Rojas, Chile, Mrs. Chu-On Rodpotong, Thailand, and Miss Kathleen Hackett, India, all to study public health nursing;

Miss Dolly Mendes, Brazil, Dr. Tahsin Oz, Turkey, and Dr. Bireshwar Prasad Jamuar, India, studying public health education;

Dr. Eva Herlinger, Brazil, to study maternal and child health; Boesono Boedidarmo, Indonesia, Hassan Hassan Mitwally, Egypt, and Anibal Edgar Perez-Inchausti, Paraguay, to study sanitary engineering;

Miss Delfina Bautista, of the Philippines, to study public health nutrition.

While in the county they stayed at the Southern Rural Church Institute at Valle Crucis. They visited, among other places the kraut factory, the Cove Creek cahnery, the health center, several of the schools, the county and home agents' offices, and several rural homes. They also saw the Valle Crucis orchard.

Richard Chase entertained them and introduced to them folk games and dances familiar in this area.

Dr. Mary B. H. Michal, district health officer, was the official hostess to the group while they were here, and they were served a picnic lunch on the Horn in the West picnic grounds Friday. Saturday they attended a square dance at the Valle Crucis Mission.

They also visited various points of interest in counties adjoining Watauga, before going back to Chapel Hill.

All fifteen students are in America on fellowships offered by either the World Health Organization, the International Cooperation Administration or the American Association of University Women.

Booster Club Footballs To Be Given Away

The Appalachian High Booster Club wishes to announce that this Friday, Sept. 12 at the high school homecoming football game, they will throw souvenir footballs to the fans in the bleachers.

This project is sponsored by Booster Club in hoping to build interest in football and the App football team in this area. The footballs will read on them, "compliments of the Booster Club—Appalachian High School."

Come out to see the game and maybe you will be one of the lucky persons to take a souvenir football home.

The game will be played on the ASTC field at 7:00 between Appalachian High School and Beaver Creek High School. This will be the homecoming game for the high school.

Rev. Mr. Gibson Takes Work At Baptist Church

Rev. John Gibson of Murphy has arrived here and taken up his new work as associate minister of the Boone Baptist Church.

Rev. Mr. Gibson will work with the Baptist Student Union, Sunday School and have charge of the church offices.

Rev. and Mrs. Gibson and sons, Lamar, two and a half, and Charles, two and a half months have established residence at 601 Queen Street.

Mr. Gibson was reared in Murphy, and received his elementary education there. He attended Young-Harris Junior College, spent two years in the army, and graduated from Appalachian State Teachers College, cum laude, in 1956. He taught school at Hiwassee Dam and had been pastor of Friendship Church near Murphy. Mrs. Gibson, the former Miss Nell Willis, also of Murphy, is an Appalachian graduate and a teacher.

James Greene Now At Parkway

Mr. James Greene has replaced Mr. Dwight Isenhour as principal of Parkway School. Mr. Isenhour resigned this position to accept another in Taylorsville.

Mr. Greene is a local Watauga County man with B. S. and M. A. degrees. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Greene of Boone. Mr. Greene taught in the Winston-Salem city system and was principal of the Valle Crucis School for the past several years. He is the president of the local N. C. E. A. unit.

Except for the principal the school personnel remains the same this year. Mrs. Edgar Cooke is giving private music lessons to those desiring them.

There are 510 students enrolled in the school thus far. The school is happy to have a new bus.

STEEPLE gets "new look."—Raymond Jones and crew of men, Ed Hayes, Bill Jones, and J. B. Greene, re-covered the steeple of Poplar Grove Baptist Church last week with a bright copper roofing. This is one of the projects started several years ago by the members in improving their church building. They have repainted the church, inside and out, installed a new heating system, and are getting ready to re-roof the building and enlarge and improve the parking lot. Several thousand dollars have been pledged to the improvement plan, according to a spokesman of the church.—Staff photo by Joe Minor.

Dust Poisoning Danger Seen By Tuckwiler

By L. E. TUCKWILLER
A report has reached us from reliable sources that a shipment of cabbage originating in North Carolina, and trucked into another state, has been found to contain too much insecticide residue and that sale has been stopped on this truck load.

We should use extreme care of our Watauga cabbage does not reach the market with too much insecticide dust on them. The so-called "Miller Bill" spells out in definite terms the amount of poison dust that can be on cabbage (and other food crops) when they go to market. Our latest information states that this is seven parts per million for toxophene, and one part per million for parathion.

The label on each package states quite clearly just how and when these materials should be used. These directions should be followed, especially the ones that specify that the last date or day before harvest the material should be used. Failure to follow directions might cause a grower to lose his crop because of insecticide residue.

Extension leaflet No. 31 entitled, "1958 Vegetable Insect Control" is available to farmers who want it from the County Agent's Office.

Our vegetable crops are too valuable to take chances on having them condemned because of too much insecticide dust.
