In the third quarter O. M. Hampton broke loose on a 43 yard run to take the ball to the 4 yard line. Then Jim Hayes took the ball over for the third App TD. The conversion was made good by John Buchanan. O. M. Hampton had a great deal to do with making this TD possible.

In the fourth quarter, Jim Hartley, who was over the goal line, took a pass from Bill Miller to score the final TD. The extra point was made by Jim Hartley on the same type of play. The final score read Apps 27, Granite Falls 7.

Lenoir Rhyne Bears Down Apps 28-6

The Lenoir Rhyne Bears spotted the Appalachian Mountaineers a 6-0 first quarter lead, but came back to win 28-6 in a North State headliner Saturday night. The game was played in Hickory before 10,000 fans.

The Mountaineers scored first on a 5-yard pass from quarterback Tommy Wilson to halfback Ansel Glendenning. The pass play climaxed a 55-yard Appalachian drive late in the first quarter. The drive started when Tommy Wilson intercepted a Bear pass on the Appalachian 25 and returned it to the App 45.

The Bears took the ensuing App kickoff and marched 64 yards for the score that knotted the game at 6-6. Fullback Lee Farmer led the drive that ended with tailback Bill Ackard running the last 9 yards for the score.

Appalachian had the ball for one series of downs and the Bears were back knocking on paydirt again. This drive carried 67 yards, with LR slowly grinding out the yardage. Fullback Tommy Simmons, in the game for Farmer, scored from the 4-yard line. The halftime score was 12-6 in favor of Lenoir Rhyne.

The Bears took control of the game in the third quarter by driving the length of the field for another score. The Appalachian offense, after losing fullbacks Bill Harvey and Claude Savage on injuries in the second quarter, was finished for the evening. The Bears score another insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter, making the final score 28-6. Leading runner for the night was Appalachian's Ansel Glendenning. He gained 92 yards rushing and 12 yards passing, for a total of 104 yards for the night. Glendenning went into the contest as

Apps Attempt Grid Comeback In Tilt With Indians Saturday

The Appalachian Mountaineers will be attempting to return to the winning trail Saturday afternoon when they take on the Indians of Catawba College. The game is slated for 2:00 o'clock on the College-Field and will climax a week end of homecoming activity.

Catawba has won two games while losing one. The Indians defeated Davidson in their opener and Newberry in the second contest, only to lose to East Carolina in the third game. Appalachian holds victories over East Tennessee and Elon and has lost to Western Carolina and Lenoir Rhyne.

The Catawba line will present a real challenge to the Mountaineer forward wall. Guard Bill Browne and tackle John McGraw are both outstanding linemen. The Indian backfield will have one of the conference's hardest runners in fullback Ray Oxendine, 210-pound sophomore from Pembroke. Halfback Larry Gildersleeve is also considered an outstanding runner. Appalachian enters the contest hampered by injuries. Co-captain and end Cal Burleson will be missing his fourth straight game this week and end Bob Morrison will be missing his second. Both are sidelined with knee injuries. Fullbacks Bill Harvey and Claude Savage were injured in last week's loss to Lenoir Rhyne, and Savage is expected to be out for the rest of the season. Harvey is a doubtful starter against Catawba.

App hopes will ride on the shoulders of junior halfback Ansel Glendenning. Glendenning leads the conference in rushing with a 95.8-yard game average. Homecoming fans may see a freshman receiving the starting nod for the first time this season. With both Harvey and Savage sidelined, Coach Bob Broome may have Oval Jaynes running fullback on the first unit. Jaynes is a 190-pound freshman from Morganton.

Saturday's game marks the 25th time Appalachian and Catawba have met on the gridiron. Catawba has defeated the Apps 12 times while the Mountaineers have won 10. Two games have ended in ties. Catawba is the only school in the North State conference that holds the edge in won-lost games over the Apps.

Milk Program Aids Dairymen

The special milk program, authorized in 1954, meant $4 million for Tar Heel dairymen during the 1957-58 school year.

The dairymen furnished schools with 7.5 million gallons of milk. This was 120 million half-pint containers.

R. B. Redfern, dairy specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, calls this North Carolina participation in the School Lunch Program a "splendid job of cooperation for all concerned with the welfare of the state."

"The dairy producers did an outstanding job getting the milk produced at the proper time," Redfern said; "and the dairy processors made sure the milk was available at all schools."
