Band Parents Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Band Parents at the Band Room Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Fur Fashion Notes

It would seem that the difference between fur and fabric has been reduced to its narrowest point in the newest fall and winter fur designs. In fact, we find that furs do almost everything fabric can and often do it much better.

Waistlines are lowered and armholes have been dropped. You will find such points as fine pleating, shirring and fur-on-fur combinations in an endless series of exciting silhouettes.

Stoles, for several years now, have been the favorite of Americans. However, they are fast becoming replaced with little carved jackets—shaped something like a half-moon. Not much bigger than boleros, many feature self or contrasting fur insets.

Chinchilla, lavish mink, and Russian broadtail are the most popular furs with women who can afford them. Small leopard is another favorite for more casual items.

Mrs. Davis Is Club Hostess

The Literature and Education department of the Worthwhile Woman's Club met at 7:30 p. m. November 12 at the home of Mrs. Robert Davis on Edgewood Drive.

Mrs. F. M. McCracken, chairman presided. The club collect was repeated in unison. Mrs. Ralph Greene led the devotional. Sympathy was expressed to Mrs. John Horton, whose mother died recently.

The following were appointed to judge the Christmas decorations on doors: Mrs. Wayne R. Richardson, Mrs. D. L. Wilcox, and Mrs. Mae Miller. The department voted to give $5 as a prize for the best decorated door.

Mrs. Wiley Smith had charge of the program and presented Mrs. Walter Jones, a member, who formerly spent three years in Brazil as a missionary.

Mrs. Jones talked on "Religion—World Needs and Answer." She began by giving each a capsule question to take on a "pilgrimage" to the hall and den to find answers on charts about Mohammedism, Animism, Hinduism, Communism, and Buddhism.

These questions and answers were later read by members and interspersed with informative explanations by Mrs. Jones.

She discussed problems growing out of world revolution, Communism, racial tension and rapidly growing population in parts of the world. Reminded the group of the dire need of food, shelter, clothing, mental need of literature and medical care in different parts of the world including Hong Kong, Indonesia, Nigeria, localities in Africa and Brazil.

She cited individual cases of varied needs and how these needs were met through the introduction and acceptance of Christ. The most vital need being the message of Christ first and the other needs will follow. Her intelligent and appealing talk was beneficial to all. She ended with reading a poem, Flood This Darkness With Light.

The hostesses, Mrs. J. V. Caudill, Mrs. Homer Brown, Mrs. Ralph Greer, and Mrs. Gordon Taylor served pumpkin pie with whipped cream and hot apple cider to twenty-two members and one guest, Mrs. J. T. Googe, who is going to join the club.

Parties Held For Miss Agle

Miss Mollie Agle, whose marriage to Bobby Rains Taylor of Salisbury and Goldsboro will take place the day after Thanksgiving, was honored last week at a series of pretty parties in Boone.

On Wednesday evening Misses Patricia Dowling, Betty Swift, and Janet Wilcox, attendants in the coming wedding, entertained with Mrs. Horace Dowling and Mrs. John H. Thomas at the Dowling home in Cherry Park. Guests were school mates from Appalachian State Teachers College. The honoree wore a dress of bright blue wool and received a corsage of white carnations.

Delicious refreshments of a parfait, candies, nuts, bridal cake, and hot tea were served, and the bride-elect received a shower of gifts for her trousseau.

Surprise Shower
Mesdames W. C. Robbins, Charles Robbins, and Mack Garland were hostesses Thursday evening at the home of the former on Deerfield Road. About twenty guests were present to enjoy an evening of spirited conversation and games, at the end of which Miss Agle was given a surprise shower of gifts.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed party table where Mrs. Garland poured bridal punch. A color scheme of pink and white was followed in the flower arrangements of white asters and chrysanthemums, and pale pink tapers that were lighted at the party table. The honoree received a dainty corsage of white button chrysanthemums.

Sit-Down Tea
Pantry supplies were spotlighted Saturday at a sit-down tea given by Mesdames Paul A. Coffey and Kenneth Linney at the Coffey home on East King Street. Upon arrival Miss Agle received a corsage made up of coppersalt and pepper shakers and measuring spoons, and was greeted by about fifteen guests who made up the party.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. R. E. Agle, poured tea at a table that was appointed in the colors chosen by Miss Agle for her attendants' gowns; against the background of a fall green organza table cloth an arrangement of burnt orange chrysanthemums was flanked by pale yellow candles that burned in low holders. Dainty pastries, fruit cake, cookies, and fruit kabobs were served.

When the guests returned to the living room the two hostesses brought in a large laundry basket piled high with pantry supplies and cooking aids, which were gifts from the guests and hostesses, insuring the newlyweds-to-be of a well-stocked larder for many weeks to come.

"He's expected to put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head and both feet on the ground.
