

Forestry Administrator To Talk At Roan Mountain

A top forestry administrator will talk on the meaning of forests to the people at Roan Mountain Rhododendron Festival this week. The speaker will be Edward P. Cliff, assistant chief of the U. S. Forest Service. He will speak June 18 at the annual festival, held atop Roan Mountain near Bakersville. The festival sponsor is the Bakersville Lions Club.

Cliff will talk on multiple use of forests. He is in charge of National Forest Administration for the 180 million acres of federally-owned lands in the nation.

North Carolina's four national forests are managed for multiple use. The forests are Pisgah and Nantahala in the mountains, Uwharrie in the Piedmont and Croatan on the coast.

Timber from these forests is managed on a sustained yield basis and is of economic value to the wood-using industry of the state.

Job Seekers May See ESC

High school and college graduates have a new way to apply for jobs with State Government. Troy L. Perry, manager of the local Employment Security Commission office, said job seekers can now apply for State jobs by signing up with the ESC.

He explained that the ESC office gets a weekly list of vacant jobs in the various State agencies. Persons interested in State jobs can find out at the ESC office if they are qualified for any of the jobs on the list. Qualified persons can have their applications referred to the agency where the vacancy exists, the manager said.

Those who want to apply for State jobs not on the weekly list also are encouraged to sign at the ESC office. These applications will be channeled to the appropriate sources, Mr. Perry said.

The new program, set up by ESC in cooperation with the State Personnel Department, is designed to give more information to more people about job opportunities with State government, he said. He added that applicants will benefit through a wider choice of jobs and the State will gain by the greater number of qualified applicants procured through the program.

Area Blood Meeting Held

The sub-regional meeting of the Piedmont-Carolinas Blood Region was held Thursday afternoon of last week in the Boone Methodist Church. Dr. Avery McMurray, past chairman of the regional blood committee, presided, and Mrs. L. H. Owsley of Boone, vice chairman of the committee and local blood program chairman, welcomed the visitors to Boone.

Sub-Regional, Group II, is made up of Alexander, Caldwell, Catawba, Iredell, Watauga, Lincoln, Rutherford, Cleveland and Gaston counties, and Kings Mountain.

Thirty-five persons attended, representing each of these places. There were county blood program chairmen, chapter chairmen, volunteers, and from the blood center Dr. Inez Elrod, director, C. Y. Whitehead, assistant director, and William Blag, area director of recruitment and education.

Mrs. Marion Ritzert, Red Cross Field representative for this area, was coordinator for the meeting.

After the business meeting and prior to the program, Miss Elizabeth Bridge, chairman of the Bloodmobile Canteen Volunteers, served refreshments. She was assisted by Mrs. Herman Wilcox, Mrs. C. C. Farthing, and Mrs. Jessie Payne.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Edna Perry, executive secretary of Gaston county. She moderated a panel, "The Role of the Venipuncture Nurse in the ## Blood Program. Panel members were Mrs. L. T. Gibbs, Rutherfordton; Miss Genta Lukevics, Boone; Mrs. Avery McMurray, Shelby; and Mrs. Carl D. Randall, Shelby.

Following the panel discussion a question and answer discussion took place with both panel and audience participating.

The next Group II Sub-Regional will be held in Gastonia in December.

Dairy Foods Cooking Aid

The average American homemaker must decide over 1,000 times each year what to serve at family meals. They are constantly seeking ideas to please their families at the dining table.

American women are marrying at a much younger age these days also, and this means that there are millions of new homemakers who have had practically no experience in planning and preparing meals. These young brides quickly learn, of course, that love lingers longer in a well nourished husband.

A long time ago, the Sunday picnic was a special affair. Today it's estimated that over 18 million people are eating outdoors every day of the summer. They are having picnics in their own backyards, on beaches or in many other places.

With dairy foods featured, especially during the summer months, it is a good time to use dairy foods while cooking outside. The American Dairy Association suggests that you try an outdoor waffle brunch for added excitement during your summer meals.

Outdoor Waffle Brunch
½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
¼ cup honey
Rind of 1 orange
Dash of ground cloves
1 package frozen waffles
Dairy sour cream
Sections of fresh orange

Combine butter, honey, orange rind and cloves. Spread on both sides of frozen waffles. Toast on grill over hot coals until brown.

Top with dairy sour cream and garnish with orange sections. Serve with fruit cup, butter grilled rolls, sausages, and cafe au lait (½ hot milk, ½ strong coffee.)
