

Jim Jones Is Horn Official

JIM JONES

Jim Jones has been named promotional director for the outdoor drama, "Horn in the West," Herman W. Wilcox, executive vice president of Southern Appalachian Historical Association, announced this week.

The appointment is to a newly created position established to promote and publicize the famous outdoor drama which is presented nightly except Mondays during July and August.

Mr. Jones, a professor at Appalachian State Teachers College, has been active in promotion and publicity work for the past seven years. He worked in athletic publicity in High Point for two years and has been director of Athletic publicity at Appalachian for the past four years. He served as publicity director for District 26 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics during the past academic year. District 26 is composed of the NAIA member colleges in the two Carolinas.

A native of Bolton in southeastern North Carolina, Mr. Jones received the B. A. degree from Elon College and the M. A. degree from East Carolina College. He has done further graduate work at Appalachian and the University of North Carolina.

In reference to the new summer position, Mr. Jones stated, "I have long admired the play and the members of the cast of 'Horn in the West,' and welcome the opportunity to be of assistance in the promotion of such an outstanding production. All indications are that this year's drama will be one of the finest in the ten year history of the drama, and it will be a pleasure to help bring the story of the early frontiersmen to the many thousands of tourists who will visit this area during the summer."

Mr. Jones is already working on promotional plans with the show director, David French, and will join the company in a full time capacity on June 1.

In commenting on the appointment, Mr. Wilcox stated, "The Southern Appalachian Historical Association, sponsors of 'Horn in the West,' feel very fortunate in having Mr. Jones connected with the 'Horn.'" other offensive vegetable or animal matter be removed from said lot and should any owner or any person in possession refuse or fail to abate said nuisance, the Chief of Police or Sanitary Inspector shall proceed to remove same, and the cost thereof shall be charged against such lots, and shall become a lien upon said lot, and if not paid within thirty days shall be collected in the manner provided for the collection of delinquent taxes.

Sec. 3.—Weeds, time for cutting, any owner or any person in possession of any vacant lot in the Town of Boone shall cut or shrub down within 4 inches of the ground all weeds, grass or other noxious growth from said lots, at least twice each year, the first not later than June 15th, and the second time not later than August 15th of each and every year. And each day after said date, respectively, shall be and constitute a separate offense and said delinquent, shall upon conviction, pay a fine of $1.00 for each day any said weeds, grass or other noxious growth shall remain uncut. And if for any cause the said weeds or other noxious growth are not cut down upon said lot or lots on or before the 15th day of June and August as aforesaid, the Town of Boone may cause the same to be cut down, and the cost of cutting may be charged against each of said lots from which the said weeds or other noxious growth are removed, and against the owners thereof, and charged to them and collected as other town taxes.

"We think it is our duty to enforce this ordinance," Mayor Cottrell said, "and we intend to do so. In situations that seem to justify such action, we will send in a town clean up team, and add the cost of cleaning up to the owner's property taxes."

Garden clubs and women's clubs have responded to the clean up appeal, and according to Mrs.

Reolds have all appointed their own club committees to aid in the big clean up campaign.

The Chamber of Commerce is tentatively considering an entry in the All-American City contest, according to president H. W. Wilcox, and he is asking that citizens express their views in the matter. "It would take a lot of hard work and a little cost," he said, "but the rewards of a winning entry would be many."

TRADE AT HOME

In Fashion Now

Summer days will soon be here and, although the weather has been most unpredictable, the fact remains that the hot days are bound to come and women will then welcome the cool cottons. And such lovely sheer cottons are in the shops this season. Cottons for house wear, cottons for sports, and luxury cottons for special occasions.

Cotton chiffons come in charming prints, floral, polka dot and other lovely designs. Skirts are full or easy.

The little crepe dress is still a favorite but the bias flare toward the hem is more popular this season than the sheath skirt in this type garment. Crepes are in color but the black crepe is still a must with many women.

POLICE AID THEFT VICTIM

San Antonio—Max Castillo, 10, worked hard all day shining shoes and he fought with all his might against two older boys who stole the 75 cents he earned.

Juvenile officers took up a collection at police headquarters and gave Max 35 cents to take home.

Max's mother is blind and his father is partly crippled.
