

Parkway Spur To Linville Falls Is Seen

Crowder Construction Company of Charlotte, was the apparent low bidder with an offering of $800,000 Tuesday for construction of a Blue Ridge Parkway spur to Linville Falls.

Seven bids for the project were opened in the office of Charles Kinney, division engineer of Bureau of Public Roads, in Roanoke, Virginia.

Expected to take almost two years, the construction includes a large bridge, 2 smaller bridges and a footbridge, and 1 1/2 miles of roadway. It will lead to the falls and to a campground southwest of Blowing Rock.

The parkway announced Tuesday that Karl T. Gilbert, its chief ranger since October 1956, will leave for another post the middle of July. He has accepted the position of assistant superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, New Mexico.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their prayers, the kind expressions of sympathy and the beautiful flowers. May God bless each of you.—The family of Walter L. Ward

Antique Fair At Blowing Rock

Antiques fanciers are looking forward to the 7th Annual Antiques Fair which will open in the Library Hall in Blowing Rock July 17 and run for 3 days through the 19th from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

The fair is again under the auspices of the Boone Woman's Club. They have tickets and will be glad to hand any interested person tickets free for the asking. A percentage of the gate receipts will go to the club to use in their local work. Mrs. John Houck is chairman.

The managers, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Russell, report that every inch of space has been taken and applications on file which cannot be accommodated.

Exhibits will be of a finer quality this year than before. They will be brought from Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, Florida, Michigan, Washington, D. C., Alabama, Maryland, Georgia and from points in North Carolina.

IN THE HIGHLANDS.—Sally Griffith of Charlotte adds to the natural beauty and color of the Grandfather Mountain Highland Games, which are set for July 8 and 9. Attracting participants and visitors from throughout North America, the Gathering of Clans and Highland Games are held annually on the slopes of the highest mountain in the Blue Ridge range. Many spectators and all contestants wear kilts.

Grandfather Highland Games Are Set For Saturday, Sunday

Linville—The skirl of bagpipes, tossing of the caber, highland dancing, hundreds of spectators and contestants wearing kilts, the marching of kiltie bands—all will bring Scotland to the Southern Highlands July 8 and 9 at the Grandfather Mountain Highland Games.

One of the most colorful events in the nation, the Highland Games and Gathering of Scottish Clans are held on MacRae Meadows, high on the slopes of Grandfather Mountain where thistles and heather actually grow. Tartan flags of the various clans fly around the track and in the meadow where the clans gather and the various activities take place.

Emphasis is on the Highland Games on Saturday with field and track events, highland wrestling, highland dance competition, pipe contests and the caber toss. Medals are awarded winners of all competition. On Sunday emphasis is on the Gathering of Scottish Clans, and a worship service, introduction of the guest of honor, and exhibitions by winners of various competition the day before. The Carnegie Tech Kiltie band will perform both days.

Guest of honor this year will be Kenneth Trist Urquhart of that ilk, the Younger, Urquhart, who is from New Orleans, is one of three Americans who hold the title of world chief of their clans.

Sponsored by various societies of clans in America, the Grandfather Mountain Highland Games are now in their sixth year.

Judging piping contests will be Pipe Major Robert Ramsay of Holyoke, Mass.; judging dancing will be Miss Sally Southerland of Charlotte; judging field and track events will be Charlie Justice of Hendersonville.

A RECORD

Waynesville, N. C.—Retiring after 50 years with the Southern Railway, Herbert Gibson, Sr. never lost a day of work due to illness.
