KINFOLKS . . . The premature "campaign" begun here in recent weeks to elect I. B. Lake Governor three years from now has two chief points of embarrassment to State Democratic Chairman Bert Bennett of Winston-Salem:

1. The anti-Sanford efforts at this time serve to disunite even further the factions of the party.

2. One of the children back of the Lake project is William Dunn III, a close relative by marriage to Bert Bennett, son of a Raleigh laundryman, and a Campbell College lad of 21.

missioner Charles Gold fell and broke his elbow—while picking dewberries at his home near Rutherfordton. Addendum: he carried no accident insurance.

THE RIGHT . . . They are saying here that Eighth District Congressman Alvin Paul Kitchin is not interested in a long career in the U. S. House of Representatives.

What Kitchin really wants, Democratic Party leaders believe, is to be Governor of North Carolina. He is now serving his third term in Congress, having defeated Liberal Democrat Charles B. Deane of Rockingham in 1956.

Next time, Kitchin will have to take on Rep. Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton for a seat in a newly gerrymandered district. If he should win out over Good Republican Jonas, Kitchin will have earned the right to make a bid for Governor representing the conservative element of the Democratic Party. So goes the speculation. The battle between Kitchin and Jonas shapes up as one of the best coming up anywhere in the United States in 1962. If Kitchin wins, he will bear watching two years later.

MAC'S ARE COMING . . . When we poked fun at the press and others here recently for misspelling "McLean", we caused a lot of research and head-shaking—and some little amount of worry—for which we are sorry.

Hector MacLean, son of former Gov. Angus W. McLean, was appointed State Senator to succeed Cutlar Moore, resigned, of Robeson County. The papers all spelled it "MacLean". We said there was probably a mistake since the name of one of our greatest Governors was spelled "McLean" . . . in all history books and elsewhere.

ONLY DIFFERENCE? . . . When it became plan during legislative redistricting that Democratic Kitchin would oppose Republican Charles Jones, one ultra liberal here remarked that the only difference between the two is that Kitchin has a mustache.

POETRY . . . This little Smith College sophomore was in Raleigh visiting relatives last week, dated a State College junior.

After the usual movies and hamburgers, he rode her around over the State College campus pointing out numerous buildings of interest. Very, very literary, she was deeply impressed when he pointed out the Poetry Building. It was so big and important looking.

When, a few moments later, they drove by another Poetry Building, she exclaimed: "Oh, this is wonderful!"

The State College student turned to his date and said: "Oh, you must be solid gone on chickens."

NATURE . . . Two of the cutest news items of the nation came from North Carolina last week . . . and were carried in press and radio all over the country.

—North Carolina's Big State Watermelon Festival would be delayed several days. Reason—the watermelons were late in ripening.

FOR SECOND PLACE . . . The three most likely candidates for Lt. Gov. in 1964 are: Tom White of Kinston; John Jordan of Raleigh; and Lunsford Crew of Roanoke Rapids.

About Your Home

Not many tools are needed in flower arrangement. A collection of good holders will save time and effort but one could make out without them, if necessary. Try, in place of a holder, evergreen clippings, the Japanese method of a forked stick wedged across the mouth of the container, or making the arrangement in sections in your hand and tying each bunch with twintems, florist's thread or a rubber band.

However, for the surest way to achieve an attractive flower arrangement, have on hand a sharp knife, wire cutters, floral clay, assorted holders and a good pair of garden shears.

Training in the skill of the effective use of garden shears teaches one how to prune with care for the elimination of every unnecessary detail. When choosing a branch, select one which includes as many as possible of the characteristic features of the plant. Then when you arrange a group of branches, they will suggest the character of the tree or shrub itself.

It is not easy to make cut flowers look natural. Just sticking them into a vase as they come from the garden will not accomplish it. A dozen roses, all the same length, all the same stage of bloom, crammed into a vase, cannot possibly look natural. It takes thoughtful use of the shears to cut the stems to varying lengths and remove the unnecessary foliage to give them their own elegance.

Daffodils are too often arranged like so many pins in a pincushion. Clever use of the shears can make an arrangement of daffodils look like daffodils. When these flowers grow in a field you look down on them, so why not keep the arrangement low? If this type arrangement is not effective where you choose to use it, try an oriental arrangement with three or five blooms cut at different levels and grouped with a few of their own leaves.

A book on flower arranging will be a big help. Try to find one that is well illustrated if you are just beginning, because some of the terms in the more advanced books will be hard to understand without a drawing.

DISTANT . . . They are saying that the reason State Sen. Ed Clark of Elizabethtown has not received a Sanford appointment is the Governor's determination to back him against Congressman Alton Lennon in the Seventh District next year.

Well, there is no love lost between Terry Sanford and Alton Asa Linnon. That's for sure—as they say—and they may find ways of beating Alton Lennon. But we doubt that it will be with Edward Breeden Clark. Incidentally, he is a distant relative of former Rep. Bayard Clark. Also, his wife is the
