Snow Closes Area Schools Tuesday

Weather forecasters missed the boat when they failed to see Tuesday's snow on the map. By eight o'clock some four or five inches of snow had fallen throughout the area, and schools in Watauga were closed. Reports indicated that Ashe and Avery county schools also failed to open. Before mid-morning the snow had abated. Temperatures were about 28 degrees at daybreak.—Staff photo.

APPLICATION SENT FAA Local Airport Planned Through Federal Help

Site May Be Procured In Bamboo Area

A formal application for a $50,000 grant was submitted to the Federal Aeronautical Association (FAA) last week by the six-member Watauga County Airport Authority Commission, according to Dr. Philip Fail, chairman. The funds, which would necessarily be matched by county funds, would give local officials the "go ahead" sign for the construction of a 4400 foot airport strip in the county.

Dr. Fail, a Blowing Rock physician, stated yesterday (Tuesday) that the Commission has been studying the feasibility of such plans for more than a year. A site has been tentatively agreed on and, according to a Boone official, is in the general area between the golf course and the Bamboo section.

The next step, according to the chairman, is the selection of an engineer for the job.

According to present plans, the airfield would at first be a grassed area. "Later we would hope to have a paved landing area, hangers, and other facilities," Dr. Fail said.

A request for an FAA grant had to be submitted before the February 15 deadline, Dr. Fail explained. "We had to go on the assumption that the towns of Boone and Blowing Rock as well as the county will agree to match the federal grant," he said.

No definite proposal has been made to this date as to the means by which Watauga citizens would match the $50,000 sum. Dr. Fail stated that it will probably be sometime in June before the Commission knows (Continued on page three)

CYNTHIA KAY STROUPE . . . "MISS SOUTHERN SKI QUEEN"

Ohio Beauty Is Winner Of "Miss Southern Ski Queen" Contest

Cynthia Kay Stroupe, 20, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, won the first annual Miss Southern Ski Queen contest at Blowing Rock Ski Lodge Saturday, taking the crown over nine other contestants.

Miss Stroupe, a junior at Queens College, Charlotte and the Charlotte Motor Speedway's current Miss Auto World, was crowned by Bill Thalheimer, ski lodge president.

More than a thousand weekend skiers and other visitors were present for the ceremonies.

The contestants modeled the traditional ski clothing, and took turns at skiing on the slippery slope. Since all but Miss Stroupe negotiated the slope without falling, it was noted that judging was on appearance and poise.

The first runnerup in the contest was Geneva Myers of Salisbury, a sophomore at Appalachian State Teachers College. The second runnerup was Julia Martin of Shelby, a junior at Appalachian.

National Bank Site In City Approved

The Comptroller of the currency has notified Joe Williams of Boone, one of the organizers of the First National Bank of Boone, that a site has been approved for the new banking institution.

The bank will be located, Mr. Williams says, in the old Boone Trail Cafe building west of the Savings & Loan Association and opposite the postoffice.

Mr. Williams says that the work of remodeling the building will be started as soon as a contract can be let to the local contractor submitting the low bid.

Mr. Sam Dixon, Executive Officer of the bank, is now interviewing those interested in working in the bank, such as assistant cashier, tellers and bookkeepers. He is presently living at the Laurel Motel, but has secured a house, where he and his family will establish residence next week.

Mr. Williams says that the following organizers of the bank are now accepting applications for stock subscriptions: Mack D. Brown, Gordon Taylor, Jerry Coe, G. R. Andrews, Phil Vance, Tom Winkler, and S. C. Eggers.

Burley Meeting Is Important To County Growers

A special tobacco growers educational meeting will be held at the County Courthouse in Boone on Thursday afternoon, February 28, at 1:30. Dr. D. M. Gossett, Agronomy Extension Specialist (Tobacco), and F. A. Todd, Tobacco Disease Specialist, will assist with the meeting.

Since burley tobacco sales amount to more than a million dollars per year to Watauga farmers this crop is very important.

Subjects for discussion will include tobacco diseases, insects, plant production, fertilization, harvesting, curing, grading, and marketing.

All tobacco growers are urged to attend.

THREE MEETINGS ARE HELD 'Things Look Favorable' For Establishing Shoe Factory

Although members of Watauga Industries Inc. and Blue Ridge Shoe Company met on three different occasions last week to discuss various matters pertaining to the possible construction of a shoe plant in Watauga County, no definite conclusions were reached.

In commenting to the Democrat Monday, Glenn Andrews stated that "things look favorable," but said that nothing had been confirmed.

Reportedly the company officials are deliberating over one of two possible building sites in or near Boone. A source has said that one location is on the Blowing Rock road (highway 321) and that the other area is in the Winkler's Creek section.

Officials from the shoe company and the North Wilkesboro Employment Security Commission interviewed some 1600 persons January 30 at the Courthouse in Boone. Those interviewed were either employed outside the county or were unemployed at that time.

Most of the applicants were men, although 40 percent were women.

The interviewing was termed by one Boone official as the county's most successful labor survey in history.

Blue Ridge Shoe Company manufactures loafers and other types of shoes.

Herman Wilcox, in a Chamber of Commerce weekly news release printed elsewhere in this edition of the Democrat, points out that the new plant will employ 270 men and 89 women with an estimated weekly payroll of $15,000. The total program, the report says, would be an investment of $700,000.

Andrews added Monday that as further details are known, such will be made available to the Watauga Democrat for publication.

Flu Epidemic Here Seen As Unlikely

No epidemic of influenza is foreseen by county health officials in Alleghany, Ashe, Avery and Watauga, according to Dr. Mary Michal, district health director.

"However," says Dr. Michal, "there has been a reported increase in the number of influenza cases in the district—possibly some Asiatic flu. The situation is being very carefully watched through continuing surveys, and physicians report that young adults are being affected."

Some areas of the state and nation have been severely hit by "the flu bug" this year. However, since the epidemic of 1957, most persons have taken various precautions against the disease, including shots of polyvalent influenza vaccine.

"Since many groups, such as special schools and industries were vaccinated this autumn, we do not expect asiatic influenza to make 'in roads' in these groups," the health director commented. The vaccine, Dr. Michal says, is about 70 percent effective and includes three strains besides asiatic influenza.

Dr. Michal says she does not expect influenza to reach serious proportions here.
