

Washington News

Washington, D. C.—The efforts Governor Nelson Rockefeller has been making are a bit hopeless, in the eyes of some political observers. Eagerly snuffing his party's nomination and refusing to accept a transformation that has overtaken his prospects, Rockefeller's campaign has a touch of sadness to it.

He sought to distract attention from his recent marriage by leading the civil rights fight at the gubernatorial convention. He made some progress among the liberals, of course, but he already had them to start with.

Then he took off on a long trip to Europe, visited all the "musts" including the Pope. But through it all, no one seemed to get very excited and it didn't see to be adding up to anything, except an obvious political bid. The New York Governor's popularity has climbed a bit, reacting from the low it reached some months back.

That is not solely because Rockefeller has public relations problems, but because of the constantly growing strength of Senator Barry Goldwater. Estimates vary as to how many delegate votes Goldwater has in the bag, but he is now far ahead.

Some tabulations give him 500, others 440; Goldwater does not say. But it would seem he is assured of about 500 on the opening ballot; this isn't too far short of nomination, and it does not take into account many state delegations leaning Goldwater's way—in which there is certain Goldwater strength!

In these circumstances, it is hard to see how Rockefeller, or Scranton or Romney, can get in to the act. The effort which seemed about to be kicked off for Governor Romney has not materialized. Perhaps the time is not right. Perhaps also neither Scranton nor Romney see the opportunity looming as brightly as it appeared earlier.

The Kennedy Administration knew full well that the proposal to sell U. S. wheat to Russia would kick up a ruckus. It is not that it is anything particularly different—we already sell Russia non-strategic goods—but it is the emotional quotient in question.

However, there is also a U. S. problem. We have wheat stored, coming out of our ears. It costs the taxpayer three million dollars a day. We also have a dollar problem, a balance of international payment problem.

Why not sell wheat and relieve ourselves both at home and in the payment's field? What is the difference in watching Canada sell wheat, or other nations sell it, and selling it ourselves?

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, quick to react, blasted the proposal, and think there is quite a difference. Retiring Chancellor Konrad Adenauer blasted the idea in West Germany. Senator Barry Goldwater didn't like it.

in Russia, that a wheat sale would change absolutely nothing in that country.

Nevertheless, the issue is both an emotional and dangerous one. Lenin predicted the capitalist nations would compete with each other for Soviet trade—the greedy capitalists, Lenin termed them—and help meet Russia's desires, and needs.

One reason President John F. Kennedy recently went West is that the White House realizes it must do better in the region in the 1964 election. Senator Goldwater's strategy of writing off

New York and similar eastern liberal melting pots is not as far-fetched as it may sound. If Goldwater carried the states Nixon carried in the West, and won most of the South, he would be the next President.

TRADE AT HOME

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our great appreciation to the staff of the Watauga Hospital, to Reins-Sturdivant Funeral Home, and to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for the food, flowers, cards and many kind deeds during the illness and death of our dear husband and father. May God bless you all.—The Samuel I. Worley family.

Alcohol and driving are a bad combination but no worse than jurors and law enforcement officials who do not throw the book at offenders.

WHEAT TO RUSSIA

President Kennedy has announced agreement of the private sale of millions of bushels of American wheat to Russia and other Soviet bloc countries.

He made it clear that the grain was for use only in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe—not in Cuba.
