Methodists Seek Funds For Elk Shoals Camp

North Wilkesboro — A campaign to raise $28,000 for Elk Shoals Methodist Camp has been approved by the Bi-District Camp Committee, representing the North Wilkesboro and Winston-Salem Methodist Districts.
 Elk Shoals Methodist Camp is located in Ashe County, about five miles from West Jefferson.
 The money is to be used for the next stage of development of the campsite and details of the capital fund drive will be presented during the respective District Conference in December, according to Dr. Taylor Dodson of Winston-Salem, chairman of the Bi-District Camp Committee.

The fund drive will be known as the "Certificate of Investment Campaign" and will constitute the only such drive anticipated in the total development of the site, according to Dr. Dodson.

The Bi-District Camp Committee, during a November 14 session here, also approved a revision of Stage Two of the Master Plan for the camp.

Included in this revision of the development plans is the construction of a staff lodge which will provide dining facilities for up to 40 persons as well as quarters for the camp director and temporary quarters for a resident caretaker.

Also included in the revision is the construction of one winter cabin which will provide quarters for the kitchen staff during the summer camping season. The winter cabin will be further used, along with the staff lodge, for local and sub-district retreats throughout the year.
