ABOUT YOUR HOME

Larger Homes Often Have 2 Powder Rooms

The fashionable name to call the old downstairs lavatory these days is "powder room". This room, attractively decorated, can be an important addition to any home. Color, wallpaper and light will do wonders for even the smallest and darkest lavatories.

Larger homes often boast two powder rooms—one for women and one for men. In such cases it is effective to decorate accordingly.

Wallpaper may well be the keynote of design and color. If the room is small, the paper pattern should not be very large. If the ceiling seems too high because of the smallness of the room, remember that a too-high ceiling can be brought down by covering it with a dark color. A low-ceiling can be raised with a light color.

Draperies, rugs and towels make pleasing strong accents of color when wallpaper is used.

If the room is large enough, a dressing table is useful as well as attractive. Anything may be used, from a table covered with a calico petticoat to the most elaborate silken affairs.

A long mirror on the door is good when possible and will give an added sense of size to a small room. Triple mirrors over the basin or on the dressing table are desirable.

Mountaineer Garden Club Meets Friday

Mrs. Stanley Harris entertained the Mountaineer Garden Club at her home in the Harris Apartments Friday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Dare Strother was elected president at the meeting. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. A. Mullins, vice president, Mrs. Homer Brown, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Roy Ruffy, president, presided at the business session. Because of the many items of business to be disposed of, there was no formal program. A review of the activities of the past year, and plans for the coming year made up the larger part of the agenda.

Children's Home Society Has Helped More Babies Than Ever

Greensboro—The Children's Home Society of North Carolina, Inc., reported today that it helped more babies and children during 1965 than any other year in its 63-year history.

L. P. McLendon, Jr., president of the statewide adoption service agency, said help was given to 856 babies and children. This was 72 more than received aid in 1964, he said.

"The Society's staff accomplished this under great pressure, with many hours of work, and in response to such heart-breaking appeals for help that it seemed impossible to say, 'No.'" McLendon said.

"Some couples seeking to adopt waited longer than we wanted, and that final adoption paper was delayed in some instances," he continued. "I can assure you that every baby or child accepted into care received our usual high-quality service."

At the same time, McLendon warned that imbalance between appeals for help and resources with which to meet the appeals may spell difficulties in the months ahead. When demand exceeds the agency's ability, he pointed out, it will be necessary to turn applicants away.

McLendon said the Executive and Finance Committees recently adopted a total budget of $340,000 for the present year.

The Children's Home Society receives support from United Fund campaigns in many communities, through Carolinas United and the Greensboro United Fund. In addition to the Greensboro headquarters and nursery, there are district offices in Charlotte, Asheville, Greenville, and Wilmington.

Health And Beauty

Advantages Of Healthy Complexion Are Many

It is true that make-up can make up for a lot in a complexion. But the mask of beauty is always better worn over a healthy, glowing complexion.

One of the most important steps, is the matter of cleaning. The complexion is skin, an elastic membrane, resting on a cushion of fat. The outside layer of skin is made up of dead cells which are constantly being cast off. The growth of new skin proceeds from below the skin, outward.

The skin is supplied from underlying tissues, through small arteries. A stimulating facial helps to give clarity to the skin by increasing circulation.

Oily skins are best cleansed with cold cream or soap and water. A double rinsing is a good idea. After cream-cleansing, the oily skin can be freshened with a mild astringent.

Dry skins should be cleansed with an emollient cream, followed by a skin-freshener.

Enough rest and a balanced diet are as important as anything you can do to achieve a lovely complexion. In fact, these are called the cornerstones of beauty.

Exercise in the fresh air, when possible, is important to the tone of your skin from head to foot.

Bad complexion problems should always have the attention of a doctor. Your body may be lacking in important vitamins.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Feb. Meet

Mrs. Roy Ruffy, vice-president, was in charge of the Feb. meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Watauga Unit No. 130, Friday at 7 p. m.

Prayer was led by the chaplain, Mrs. Troy Norris. "America" was sung and the preamble to the constitution repeated by the group.

Plans were made to celebrate the Legion's 47th birthday at the next regular meeting March 11, at 6:30 p. m., with a covered dish supper.

This being "Americanism" month, Mrs. Ruffy gave an interesting program on the life of Abraham Lincoln from his birth until his assassination, also a poem, "Our Flag." The business meeting adjourned with an Americanism prayer by the chaplain.

After the business meeting the Legion members joined the Auxiliary members for Valentine refreshments. A beautiful Valentine cake was cut and served by Mrs. Ralph Greer, with candy and coffee. Love songs, patriotic songs and hymns were sung by the group with Mrs. Ralph West, pianist.

University Women To Have Panel Topic

The Boone branch of the AAUW has as its topic of study for 1966, "Education: An Anecdote To Poverty." The February meeting will consider this through a panel discussion.

Members will consider motivations for new ideas to be accepted; how democratic procedures are put to work with chances for free exchange of ideas; and how co-operation is accomplished for acceptable social change.

The panel will comprise Mrs. Fred M. Gragg, director of Guidance at Watauga High School; Dr. Brook Johnson of the psychology department, ASTC; and Mrs. Hugh Wire, who has lived and worked in impoverished areas for years. Mrs. Wire has a B. D. degree from Yale Divinity School.

The discussion will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Feb. 16, Room 103, in the basement of the ASTC library.

Fashion News

Dior at his January opening showed hemlines just above the knee but some waistlines were down about the hips.

A ridiculous fashion is that of peek-a-boo holes and slits showing skin in different parts of the body. They may be located around the midriff or on the hip.
