Spargo Cove Creek Fire Chief

Wes Spargo, a retired professional fireman who worked in Washington, D.C., for 25 years, has been appointed chief of the ngwly, organized Cove Creek Volunteer Fire Department, Jerry Adams, Boone insurance agent and a leader in the drive to provide fire protection of the provide fire protection.

drive to provide fire protection for this Western Watauga com-munity said, "We feel very fortunate in having him as chief. He is qualified and is certainly a very valuable man, He can vide the best training possible for the volunteers."

Spargo will be backed up by Assistant Chief Myrle Pierce, Captain Dennis Trivette, and Lieutenant Arlis Tester and a 23-man fire-fighting crew.

Adams said that the department had been officially organized and plans now call for inside a four-mile radius from the station house location.

The fire house will be located on Highway 321 across from the Cove Creek Supermarket, Land for the fire house was purchased by the Mountaineer Ruritan Club which, according to Adams, will deed the pro-perty to the fire department.

Equipment has not yet been purchased but Adams said that the department is still inves-tigating sources and added that used equipment may be brought the early operation. He went on to say that a Cove Creek citizen has donated his barn to house the equipment until a suitable station can be erected. No deadline had been set for operation of the department to begin, but three committees have been set up to handle finances, equipment, and building, "We're still hoping to work ward a fire tax district," he said. Also, the department's

Nobody can win this wai for you

October has been designated Industry Litter Prevention Month in North Carolina. The North Carolina malt beverage industry, in support of this program, is sponsoring a state-wide series of dinner meetings to promote community action against the problem of litter. Throughout the year the beer industry, among many others, sponsors a wide variety of litter prevention activities designed to encourage community-action programs.

But all the efforts of these publicspirited citizens are useless if you forget. The war against litter cannot be won for you; you've got to win it for yourself-and for all of us. Remember . . . products don't make litter, people do.

For further information on how you can help in the war on litter, write North Carolina Malt Beverage Control Institute, Box 2858, Raleigh, N.C. 27602.
