

Cotton Measurements Are About Completed

Measuring of cotton acreage rental to the government is now about completed in Chowan county. The various committees however, desire to do a little more checking up to see that all phases of the agreement have been complied with. When the committee measures the cotton and is satisfied that the acreage is destroyed, compliance sheets will be furnished and a second check for cotton sent to farmers.

The compliance sheet is signed by the canvassing committee, the cotton grower and the county committee.

The county committee composes Julien Wood, R. P. Badham and R. C. Holland.

The canvassing committees are as follows:

Yeopim Township; J. C. Brabble, W. J. Goodwin and T. B. Wood. Edenton Township; J. B. Webb, W. D. Moran, H. T. Hobbs, W. A. Harrell and P. C. Ashley, the latter two having charge of tobacco acreage.

Middle Township; L. W. Belch, W. H. Winborne and J. C. Haste.

Upper Township; A. D. Ward and E. G. Blanchard.

Ahoskie Warehouse After Local Tobacco

The Brick and Basnight tobacco warehouse in Ahoskie is making a strong bid for Chowan County tobacco this year. John S. Bernard is the sales manager and is reputed to be the best in the State. He knows tobacco and guarantees to do his utmost to secure the highest possible price for all tobacco on the floor of the warehouse.

The Brick and Basnight warehouse already numbers some Chowan farmers among their customers and as a guarantee of fair dealing and efforts to secure the best prices for tobacco, the management refers any prospective customers to Mr. T. C. Byrum of Edenton, who has had dealings with the Ahoskie concern. Everything possible will be done to satisfy Chowan farmers in the selling of their crop.

Doctor Gobble To Give Lectures In Edenton

Edenton church school secretary, will be at the local Methodist church September 23-28 to give lectures on the latest methods on church work.

Dr. Gobble is an able leader and Rev. W. F. Walters, the pastor, urges as many as possibly can to hear his lectures.

Many Good Pictures Scheduled At Taylor

Many first class pictures are being booked for fall showing at the Taylor Theatre here. For today and Friday one of Paramount's most attractive pictures, "Many Happy Returns" will be shown. With Guy Lombardo waving his magic baton of the Royal Canadians, they bring patrons "the sweetest music this side of heaven." George Burns and Gracie Allen also play in the picture. It's a scream!

On Saturday will be presented that finished westerner that Edentonians so much like, Buck Jones, in "The Fighting Cole." The added attractions are "Pirate Treasure" and a comedy.

Monday and Tuesday brings a return to the screen of Margaret Sullivan of "Only Yesterday" fame. She comes in "Little Man What Now?" Advance reports give this picture great approval.

On Wednesday James Cagney and Joan Blondell come to the screen in "He Was Her Man." This picture has been given four stars and is one of Warner Bros. best to date. The Taylor gives Wednesday nighters quite a treat when they see this picture.

Many attractive pictures are being bought for fall showing. The list will be seen in these columns from time to time.

COMPANY TO SELL BEER

One of the Chowan County beerers the Bush Brothers, of Edenton, has been granted a license to sell beer.

Charlie Phaup Is In Williamston This Year

The Farmers Warehouse in Williamston is now in a better position than ever before to successfully solve the problem of selling tobacco to the very best advantage of the grower.

With Messrs. W. R. Ingram and L. H. Barnhill at the helm, assisted by Charlie Phaup, there should be plenty of activity at the Farmers Warehouse this season.

Prices have been good and whatever they are, farmers can rest assured that Barnhill, Ingram and Phaup will get the highest dollar for tobacco. They have devoted years to the study and handling of tobacco and have gained the reputation that tobacco entrusted to them will bring top market prices.

C. H. Phaup was last year associated with the Ahoskie tobacco market. He has many friends in Chowan and Bertie counties, and invites them to come to the Farmers Warehouse at Williamston, where he is now located.

FRIEND OF GREAT MEN DIES

With the death, in almost obscurity, of Andre Sebastian Ruffalovich, Edinburgh, Scotland, recently lost one of its most distinctive personalities. He was 70 years old, a member of the Roman Catholic community, and numbered among his friends many of the greatest figures in letters, the drama and society. Born in Paris of Russian parents and educated at Oxford, he made entertainment his hobby. Until the time of his death he maintained what was a survival of the saloon of Victorian days. Among his friends were Robert Louis Stevenson, Swinburne, Robert Browning, Walter Pater and many other literary lights, while Charles Wyndham and Beerbohm of the British stage, and John Drew of the American theatre were only a few of the dramatic stars to visit him. Men and women of high society were also his friends and guests.

Constant spraying this summer has assured B. G. Leatherman and Julie Sain of an abundant crop of quality apples this season, reports the county agent of Lincoln County.
