One of the best and most elaborate meetings ever held by the Great Council was reported by the local men.

The Cokesbury training school which has been in progress at the Methodist Church since Sunday night will come to a close tonight (Thursday). The school has been conducted by Mrs. H. M. William A. Everett for a heavy note transaction with the defunct Citizens National Bank. Trial of the suit brought by B. C. Hare against D. R. Hare and John C. and R. P. Badham and W. S. Privott, as trustee, took up the rest of the day and resulted in a jury verdict for the complainant. The latter complained that title to a 12 acre farm tract was being denied him because of a prior obligation securing a loan of $1,500 owing the Virginia Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank in which he was not involved. The Badhams figured through the purchase of a $900 note.

On Wednesday trial was heard of the suit of Zeke Zachery vs. Charles N. Griffin. Zachery, an Indian, formerly a tenant on one of the Griffin farms, claimed an improper adjustment of yearly settlements had been made by his landlord, which Mr. Griffin made vigorous denial of. "A great deal depends on the choices graduates make," Mr. Erwin said, "and these choices must be made quickly. They must adjust themselves to conditions with no as-

Midnight Ghost Show At Taylor Theatre

Du-Relli's Spiritualistic Seance to Be Presented Thursday Night

A stage attraction of unusual merit that will interest the people of this section is the "Ghost Show" which is being brought to the Taylor Theatre in Edenton for a 11:00 o'clock P. M. performance Thursday night only, May 23rd.

The management has rented the theatre for this attraction to the "Du-Relli's Spiritualistic Seance and Ghost Show," to start immediately at the close of the Thursday night show.

This weird seance includes messages from the dead, spirit hands, floating tables over the audience, earthward bound and many other uncanny mysteries of "spirit rendezvous." No children under 14 will be admitted, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian, an announcement said.

This stage attraction will be at the Taylor Theatre one night only, at 11 o'clock P. M., and judging from press reports on the show from other cities, the capacity of the local theatre will be taxed to hold the overflowing attendance, as the public will be treated to two hours and fifteen minutes of thrills and spine-chilling entertainment that will long be remembered.

A doctor and trained nurse will be in attendance to care for those who should become ill or hysterical brought on by the attraction that baffles science, the announcement stated. Adv.

urance of returns. And above all to make a success of life the student must be possessed with the spirit of service."

He closed his very interesting remarks by saying he would like to swap places with the graduates, urging them to have in their hearts the fine spirit of service on which this nation was built, and bidding them Godspeed upon entering a new era.

The diplomas were presented to the seniors by John A. Holmes, who in a few well-chosen words urged them as they enter a different sphere of life to ponder over the question "Who am I?" And not to take the "holier than thou" attitude. He likewise urged the graduates to make the proper adjustment to the world and rather say "I am just an ordinary human being."

Those receiving diplomas were: Annie Laurie Beasley, Doris Manning Bond, John Cherry Briggs, Julia Gertrude Byrum, Josie Ruth Collins, Clara Ellen Copeland, Ruth Thomas Elliott, Virginia Mae Goodwin, Emma Irene Harrell, William Alexander Harrell, Esther Mae Hollowell, Frank Marion Holmes, Ward Hoskins, Mary Elizabeth Jordan, Maude Estelle Miller, John Paul Morgan, Maybelle Parks, Frances Marjorie Powell, Richard Solomon Rogerson, Jr., Frances Elizabeth Saunders, Eleanor Collins Small, Clara Meade Smith, Charlie Winslow Swanner, Sainthe Miller White, Louis George Wilkins.

His name will be engraved on the cup, which now has the names of seven students preceding him.
