

Housing Groups Support Fire Prevention Week October 6-12

State Directors Arrange For Celebrations In Various States

Washington, D. C.—Combining efforts to educate the general public in the advantages offered to home owners by the National Housing Act with a general support to the fire prevention program, the nationwide organization of the Federal Housing Administration is engaged in helping to organize celebrations of National Fire Prevention Week, to be held October 6-12.

A report from Associate Director Muller of Maryland is typical of activity being generated in every state in the Union. Mr. Muller has obtained the full cooperation of the Baltimore Fire Department, and the chief of the fire department there has agreed to make radio talks during Fire Prevention Week on the elimination of fire hazards. Firemen in Baltimore will also assist in the distribution of literature pertaining to fire hazard reduction. Field representatives throughout the whole state of Maryland have been instructed to obtain similar cooperation wherever possible.

From Kansas City, Mo., comes the report that literature explaining the relation of the Federal Housing Administration's program to fire hazard reduction will be distributed in public schools, so that pupils may carry the message into their homes.

Cooperation has been given the Housing Administration by many industrial agencies, radio stations, chambers of commerce and fire prevention organizations.

The National Fire Waste Council, the National Fire Protection Association, the International Association of Electrical Inspectors, the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, the Anthracite Institute, the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, and many manufacturers have written to the Housing Administration commending its activity in the cause of fire hazard reduction.

I. Lee Parker Attends International Meeting

I. Lee Parker, district manager of the North Carolina Employment Service, with headquarters in Edenton, left Thursday for Raleigh preparatory to attending the International Association of Public Employment Service of the United States and Canada, to be held in Asheville. He was accompanied by Mrs. Parker and will remain away from the local office about a week.

Officials of the Employment Services of the United States and Canada will gather in Asheville to discuss the problems of unemployment, other related problems and unemployment compensation as they affect the Employment Services. Over two hundred and fifty Employment Service officials from Washington, each of the forty-eight States and Canada, will register at the convention headquarters Thursday and Friday. This convention will be followed by the National Conference of Directors of State Employment Services on October through the 9th.

The combination of these two meetings is the first complete assembly of the Employment Services of the United States and Canada that has been held.

The first two days will be devoted to discussions covering Social Security and the Wagner Social Security Act. On the following two days, discussions will center around the progress and plans of the Employment Service as a permanent institution in an industrial society. The remaining discussions will be concerned with the Employment Service as the placement agency in the new Works Program.

During Mr. Parker's absence the local office will be in charge of F. I. White. Mrs. H. C. Wozelka will also be on her vacation during the week, and Mrs. Randolph Holloman of the Murfreesboro office will take over Mrs. Wozelka's duties.

Miss Lillie Wood spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood, near Woodville.
