Dime Society Enjoys Vanishing Parties

The Dime Society of the Baptist Church is at present putting on a series of vanishing parties, which are proving quite a success both socially and financially. The plan is as follows: The leader invites eight friends to her home, where they are entertained either with music, knitting, crocheting or games played. Light refreshments are served and each guest gives a dime to the hostess, and promises to entertain eight other guests. These 64 entertain four others and this number is in turn boosted to 256, who entertain two each, making a total collection of $84.

These entertainments have been going on for the past few weeks, and will probably continue through the holidays. Many members of the Society have already finished up their parties and turned in their funds.
