Should this be found. If trouble overtakes us, it will be known, surely and quickly—if we get through all right disregard the contents herein. Don't want to cause any sensation over nothing. Pounding pretty hard now. 1124215 U. S. N. October 15, 1936 Midnight.

At Sea North Atlantic Ocean

11:45 P. M., October 16, 1936 The weather is getting worse every minute, rain squalls and high seas deluge the ship from stem to stern. The night is full of misgiving—restlessness prevails the air. Why I am writing this I know not myself—I have a premonition of evil, of something dreadful that is about to happen—had it all this trip but tonight it's awful, seizing me so strong that I cannot rest, cannot sleep. We trust in God and may He have mercy upon my soul. 1124215 U. S. N. Somewhere off the Va.-N. C. coast—approx. location—U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Sebago. Time 11:55 P. M., Oct. 16, 1936 Weather heavy. We'll probably pull out, as we have done so in previous events but the weird sensation of tonight surpasses all else. 1124215 U. S. N.

Critics Praise Work Of Miss Anna Rutz

Following are just a few comments made by critics about Miss Anna Rutz, who will give the intimate story of the Passion Play, illustrated with 100 slides, in the auditorium of the Edenton High School on Wednesday night, November 19, at 8 o'clock: "Miss Rutz lecture was a thrilling performance. She made me feel the ennobling emotion which has twice distinguished her part in the greatest of all dramas. Not a word escaped me."—Irving Bachellor. "Miss Anna Rutz is endowed with the qualifications for her part. She is giving to Americans who cannot attend the great Passion Play at Oberammergau, a beautiful substitute. In her Bavarian costume and speaking fluent English she tells of life behind the scenes, of the village and of the Play. A delightful entertainment."—Prestonia Mann Martin. "Miss Rutz held the audience by the charm of her presentation of the life of the village folk of Oberammergau, and their consecration to the Passion Play. The pictures of the Play are vivid and beautiful."—Jessie B. Rittenhouse. Miss Rutz has twice played the part of the Virgin Mary in the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany, and her appearance in Edenton is expected to draw a large crowd from the entire section. Rev. George Blount, pastor of the Edenton Methodist Church, who is responsible for Miss Rutz coming to Edenton, has had assurance from points as far as Hertford and Elizabeth City that folks from those towns would avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the lectures. It is expected that the school's auditorium will be filled to capacity when she lectures here.

Pulp Mill Again Being Discussed

Information reaching Edenton on Tuesday to the effect that the much-talked about $2,000,000 pulp mill had abandoned the idea of locating at either Williamston or Windsor, was reason for revival of hopes that it might locate near Edenton. The information was given to D. B. Liles by one who is supposed to be well informed and Mr. Liles immediately scouted around to see what might be done to induce the mill to locate in this territory. He was of the opinion that a meeting of business men should be called to discuss the matter, but upon consulting Mayor E. W. Spires he was informed that some correspondence had been made by John A. Holmes, which, however, was very vague as to the possibilities of locating here. In the meantime a letter has been written to the concern, the Kirkheyer Container Company, of Declair, New Jersey, in an effort to ascertain if the company really entertains any desire to locate in this immediate section. Heretofore the name of the pulp mill had been more or less of a secret, apparently very few knowing the name of the concern, but according to Mr. Liles' information J. W. Kirkheyer is president; H. M. Kirkheyer, secretary and treasurer; E. L. Walker, director; J. H. Allen, timber expert; and L. J. Meriner, chief engineer. The general contractor for the firm is said to be James Stewart & Co., 230 Park Avenue, New York City. There are those in Edenton who are of the opinion that every effort should be exhausted to try to secure the pulp mill, which is said to employ about 400 people with a weekly payroll of around $20,000. On the other hand, however, there are those who for various reasons give little credence to the possibility of the plant locating here.
